PRESIDENT HAVING STRENUOUS VACATION

SUMMER IS BUSY SEASON

Many Problems Must be Taken Care of Regardless of Where He May Be, It is Explained

Despite the fact that President Coolidge has left Washington on what many writers claim to be a vacation trip, he will, nevertheless, have a most busy summer at Swampscott, at which point he can put in his customary ten to fourteen hours a day looking after the affairs of the nation. His departure from Washington simply meant a change of location of office, for the President will have but a slight opportunity to get what might really be termed a vacation.

Many Problems

Many problems, both national and international, will arise this summer. There will be numerous conferences, besides those being held, which will concern the matter of the funding of the debts owed us by European countries, and these are matters that the President must necessarily keep in touch with every hour of the day. Secretary Mellon, who this week conferred with the representative of the Italian Government concerning the funding of Italy's debt, has taken a house on the cool shores of Long Island, at which point this and other monetary conferences will be held. It is believed that at least four other countries will hold "parleys", as these conferences are called, with the Secretary of the Treasury concerning their country's indebtedness to the United States.

Strenuous Summer

Washington, instead of seing an unusually quiet year as was expected by many, will witness a strenuous summer, for the majority of cabinet officers will be in the city, and practically all of the assistants to them will spend practically the entire summer period in the Nation's capital.

There is no doubt but the President's declarations in regard to the foreign debts have penetrated the minds of the foreign politicians who realize that the citizens of their respective countries are alive to the fact that England's financial recovery was, in a great measure, due to her coming forward and making a satisfactory agreement with the United States regarding her debts. The funding of these European "bills payable" will assist, to quite an extent, in securing further tax reductions.

CAPTAIN EVANS TO RETIRE SOON, REPORT

Great Lakes Commandant Nearing Navy Age Limit is Reason Given

While it may be soon or possibly not effective for a few months, Captain Waldo Evans, commandant at Great Lakes Naval station for the past three years, is slated for retirement and therefore a change will be made in the position of commandant at this the second largest naval station in the United States, says the Waukegan Sun.

Report also has it that Captain Hines of the Navy, now stationed at Washington, is the likely successor to Captain Evans.

Captain Evans, it is stated, has reached the age where, as captain, it is necessary for him to retire at least by next fall. And that means that he will sever his connections not only with Great Lakes Station but will be on the retired list of the navy officers.

Captain Evans has been at Great Lakes for the past three years and succeeded Captain Scales as the one in charge. He has proved a popular commandant and news that he is to retire within at least a few months will come as a surprise to his many friends here and at Great Lakes.

Under the navy rules a captain must of necessity enter the retired list when he reaches a certain age. Captain Evans, it is said, will reach that age this coming fall.

Captain Hines, who, it is said, is slated to succeed Captain Evans, is one of the popular men in the Navy department and will prove a worthy successor to Captain Evans. Scales, Moffet and others who have been in charge of the station.

Preliminary plans are being made in Waukegan for the holding there August 25-27 of the annual state convention of supervisors, county commissioners, auditors, probate and county clerks. Delegates will be present from all parts of the state and the convention promises to be one of the biggest ever held there.

As a result of a recent thorough investigation by federal authorities the Waukegan post office is to get two additional employes—one carrier and one clerk.

GRANT PARK TO GET NOTABLE FOUNTAIN

Grant Park, in the region just south of the Art Institute is to be further beautified by the construction of a magnificent fountain to be placed in the park opposite the foot of Congress street. It will be the gift of Miss Kate Buckingham in memory of her brother, Clarence, who died in the year 1913. Clarence Buckingham was a trustee of the Art Institute from 1901 to 1913 and became greatly interested in the collection of Japanese prints. On his death he left one of the finest collections of these prints in America and they are now being shown from time to time in the Print room galleries of the Art Institute.

Thirty-five American schools now include courses in international diplomacy, exclusive of bill collecting.

Perhaps one reason why more people do not take off their hats to the red, white, and blue, is that their minds are concentrated on the long green.
