BREEZES from ... by ... JIM MOONEY the OPEN

That widespread prejudice against our birds of prey exists certainly does not need to be emphasized. My recent trip to Wisconsin's resort areas revealed to me how many vacationists are uninformed of the benefits mankind receives from our hawks and owls. Visiting a score of cabins occupied by tourists I found a rifle, generally of small caliber, part of the party's equipment. Asking what the individuals expected to shoot the prevailing answer was—hawks and crows.

To the sportsman, game breeder and gunner our hawks are considered "vermin" and are ruthlessly destroyed. In the far-off days of romance and chivalry the birds of prey, particularly falcons, were considered to be almost sacred. Falconry was the most important of all field sports.

However, times changed, people assumed that hawks were largely responsible for the decline in the numbers of game and song birds as well as a menace to game breeders and poultry raisers. Even game officials and sportsmen agreed that these birds should be exterminated.

Now that we have proven these birds are beneficial, protective legislation has been secured and more than thirty states protect most of the more useful hawks and owls.

I will grant that hawks are meat eaters, they devour small rodents, a few birds, insects and other forms of animal life, only that they themselves may exist. Now that biologists have proven these birds economically beneficial, man has yet sentenced them all to death.

If a farmer finds a hawk raiding his poultry yard he should naturally kill that individual bird, but by killing each hawk and owl that enters his region he is only harming himself because he does not realize the tremendous number of injurious rodents and insects these birds consume.

There are only six species of hawks that can be considered injurious. They are Coopers Hawk, Sharp-shinned Hawk, Golden Eagle, Duck Hawk and Pigeon Hawk. The Goshawk breeds in the north and seldom enters settled areas, the Pigeon Hawk, Golden Eagle and Duck Hawks are nowhere common and can be considered economically important.

If you are a crow shooter, stay with that sport of shooting crows and leave our birds of prey undisturbed as they are one of the most beneficial groups of birds we have.

I can refer you to two fine books that will give a more clear description of these birds and their habits —"The Hawks of North America", by May, and "The Birds of Eastern North America," by Chapman—should be in the library of every outdoors man.

Special Program June 12 at Park Ridge School

Friday, June 12, promises to be a gala day at the Park Ridge School for Girls, Park Ridge, Illinois, when the "Plantation Home Coming" will be presented. The festival will be held in the school auditorium at 3:45 p.m. and will be given by thirty or more of the girls of the school for the recreation fund of the school.

The afternoon's program will include tap dancing by the classes who have been receiving weekly lessons from Mildred Haessler of Highland Park, Illinois, a play written and directed by Florence Barros with Louise Hutchinson, a teacher on the school staff will be at the piano.

The Park Ridge School for Girls is a home for dependent girls who enter in from all sections of Illinois. They are admitted through the Juvenile Courts or by private arrangements. The girls live in separate cottages with a House-Mother in each cottage and they lead a happy, normal life, attending the school on the grounds, helping with the house-work and enjoying their leisure hours in the way of all happy, healthy girls. The school is supported by contributions of interested individuals and women's clubs.

The credit for the afternoon is given to Mrs. Francis W. Parker, chairman of the Social Service Department of the Highland Park Woman's club, who with Mrs. Haessler has made weekly visits to the school for many months and made possible this instruction in tap dancing.

Baton Weilders To Wield Mashies at the Bon-Air Club

The men who put the "swing" in music will try to transplant their skill to the golf course Monday when famed band leaders compete in a tournament at Bon-Air daily fee course, a mile north of Wheeling on Milwaukee avenue. Earl Hoffman, leader of the orchestra that plays nightly for dinners and dancing in the Bon-Air clubhouse, will be host to the baton wielders.

The "old lefthander," Joe Sanders of the Blackhawk, will lead a delegation of loop musicians to the Bon-Air event. Other loop band leaders invited include Phil Levant of the Bismarck, Guy Lombardo of the Palmer House and Horace Heidt of the Drake hotel. Sophie Tucker will assign Jack Fulton and Ted Shapiro of her Hotel Morrison crew to represent her in the Bon-Air tournament.

Frankie Masters and his Edgewater Beach hotel band will be among the north side musicians to shoot for the prizes Band Leader Hoffman will award.

Members of the revue at Bon-Air, including Carroll and Gorman, Jean Gordon and the Marfields, will take part in the tournament.

Flower Day Is Held Here Friday

Flower day is held every Friday in Highland Park and Ravinia. Most people have surplus products in their gardens which they could share with those less fortunate. Why not contribute your flowers, plants and fruit to be sent to Chicago's sick and poor. If you wish to contribute to Highland Park's share, leave them at the Northwestern station or call H.P. 2291 before 9:30 a.m. each Friday morning.

In Ravinia the flowers may be left at the Northwestern station each Friday morning by 8:30 o'clock.

Lake County Landmark Burns To the Ground

After searching for years for a suiable early American setting for their antiques and paintings, the Theodore Kirkhoffs, who recently moved into the 99-year-old Ott-Rockenbach homestead on Saunders road opposite the Vernon Country Club, saw both the setting and their prized possessions go up in flame and smoke Tuesday night.

The landmark, in which George Rockenbach, recently deceased Deerfield pioneer, lived throughout his life, had been owned for the past five or six years by J. J. Rink of Highland Park, who sold the property to Theodore Kirkhoff, of Chicago on May 1. Part of the remodeling, started by Mr. Rink and completed by Mr. Kirkhoff, included a fireplace, which is now blamed for the fire which not only destroyed the landmark, but also the antiques and paintings which Mr. Kirkhoff had collected.

The loss was yesterday estimated at $25,000, $15,000 of which comprized the building itself and $10,000 for contents. It was reported that the building was partly covered by insurance, but that the contents werea total loss.

For service with a smile, give the Moraine Grocery and Market a trial. 1060 North Green Bay road.
