SKY WRITING

BETTY WAGNER

With deep regret, we write of the accident which proved fatal to our Aeronautical inspector, Mr. Cecil F. DeLasaux, or "De" as he was fondly called. He was testing his new racing plane which he designed and muilt himself, with the idea of entering it in the National Air Races, when the accident happened. He took off from Joliet Airport Monday night, and gained a thousand foot altitude, and then, Airport officials claim, the motor started missing. He nosed his plane down anr lost 500 feet and then the motor quit entirely, sending the ship spinning to the ground. De Lasaux had many thousands of hours of flying time to his credit, being a Catain in the Army Air Corps and a world war flyer. He flew commercially up until 1929 when he became a Federal Inspector, his base being Chicago. During the last few years his hobby had been building this midget racing plane, which could maintain a top speed of 250 miles. He was a fine man and will always be loved and remembered by all who knew him. . . .

The mechanics at Curtiss certainly deserve a hand. If after all they have gone through the last two Sundays and can still smile on girls and dogs, they merit something pretty fine. First it was the girls' Air Show, wich kept them dunning from one end of the field to the other, propping ships, swinging them around, fetching cushions. It even went so far as to have one girl ask a mechanic if he would please hang on to her purse a minute while she went up and dropped a bomb. It's funny how women will get themselves rigged up in some of the darndest outfits to fly in, but will still hang on to a purse and never know what to do with it. I know, I do it myself. Last, Sunday, the dogs required two thirds of the hangar, necessitating the moving of the great number of ships that were hangared in this space, and then pushing them all back again Sunday evening. Yes sir, I still think they deserve something . . . "Ham" Kunath boasts two of the best training planes in this part of the country. His Challenger Fledglings which are hangared at Sky Harbor have a reputation of never having killed anybody so far. By taking one look at them you could readily see why this is true. Their bigness gives you a good feeling of safety. "Ham" probably has more Fledgling time to his credit than anybody else in this part of the country. . . .

DID YOU KNOW?

That there were 908,185 passengers travelling by air during the year 1935?

On January 1, 1936, there were 14,805 licensed pilots in the United States, 410 of them being women.

There are 35 different models of American flying craft awaiting to be purchased by the private owner, and you can pay for it on the installment plan, the same as an automobile.

You have probably heard probably heard this story some place before, but it is still well worth printing:

It all happened down at Randolph Field in Texas, an Army training field. It seemed as though the instructor was having difficulty with soloing a young student, the student refusing to go solo. Finally the instructor decided he would have to try something and planned that on the next day he would take the green fellow up and carry another stick with him, tossing it out of the cockpit when the student happened to be noticing. The cause of all this commotion happened to be eavesdropping when they were making their plans, and he also decided to have some fun.

The next day both the instructor an dstudent got into the plane, while a smiling crowd gathered about to watch. At the critical moment, the instructor yelled up to the head in the front cockpit and pointed to the stick which he heaved overboard. The student nonchalantly reached down and a moment later he too tossed a stick overboard. The instructor gulped a couple of times and then took to his parachute, the student laughing all the time. He too had carried along an extra stick.

H. P. Legion Take It on Chin from Highwood Indians

The Highwood Indians invaded Sunset Park last Sunday afternoon to defeat the Highland Park Legionnaires by a score of 14 to 8. Tom Duffy, who has thus far been almost unbeatable in sandlot ball this year, was knocked from the box in the sixth inning after which "Buddy" Bock took over the duties of the mound for the Legion nine.

A walk followed by five hits in the second inning gave the Redskins a sufficient lead which they were able to maintain throughout the afternoon. Another barrage of hits in the third was good for three more runs and from this time on the game was a walk away.

Bernardi, the Highwood pitcher, also allowed a quantity of hits numbering 16 in all, whereas he was able to fan only six men.

If he had not received outstanding support from his team mates, there is little doubt but what his outfit would have been on the losing end of the score.

As a whole the game proved a good chance for those on each team gifted in the art of slugging, to increase their batting averages. Pacini, Legion outfielder, smashed his way into the limelight by blasting out a triple, three singles, and also securing a walk out of five trips to the plate. Inman, another Legion fly chaser, was second in such honors with three hits in five attempts.

Legionnaires .....010 100 420— 8
Indians .....063 010 211—14

The Legion will journey to the city next Sunday to play a team sponsored by the Palmer House House while the Braun Brothers Oilers compete with a team from Chicago on the Sunset Park diamond.
