Georgetown Little Theatre

Getting fed up with cable TV? Looking for something different? Then turn off the tube and experience Georgetown Little Theatre's 2015 Studio Shows presentation, 30 Neo Futurist Plays From: Too Much Light Makes The Baby Go Blind - 30 Plays in 60 Minutes on Sept. 17-19, 8 p.m. at the GLT Studio at 33 Stewarttown Rd. The show will also be presented on Sept. 24-26, 8 p.m., at Acton Town Hall, 19 Willow St. N., Acton.

Too Much Light is the signature production of Chicago's Neo Futurists, who have presented the play over 250 times per year, since 1988—the longest running theatre show in Chicago. Now, GLT is bringing this popular and edgy production to the fringe of Georgetown.

The Neo Futurists describe Too Much Light as a show that “hovers around a PG-13 movie you can't believe didn't get an “R” rating”. Not for children under age 14, please be advised that the language used can sometimes be explicit and potentially offensive to some (or attractive to others).

Audiences in Chicago love it! “Drama, comedy, truth, love, expression for its own sake, sadness. I know any night will probably have all of these things. I love the bravery that goes into it and the madness too”, says an audience member, on the Neo Futurists website.

The performance itself is 60 minutes, preceded by a short introduction to the show concept and followed by a “Meet the Cast” and audience talkback period.

Tickets are $10, available at the door, but also can be reserved by calling the GLT Studio at 905-877-3422.

So get out of your living room and experience some of the most edgy live theatre you'll see anywhere—right here, on the fringe of Georgetown.
