The Canadian Champion,

The only Reform Journal in Halton.

MILTON, MARCH 7, 1872.

THE SESSION.

The first session of the Second Parliament of this Province having ended, the country can now calmly judge the result of the works of our Legislators, and that judgment cannot fail to be favorable to Mr. Blake and his colleagues, if a carrying out of past pledges, a careful attention to the wants of the country, and a scrupulous regard to purity in administring public affairs entitle a government to consideration. It is needless to refer to the overthrow of the late Coalition, against which the people had so unmistakably pronounced at the last elections; though thoroughly beaten in almost the first attempts to carry the House, the Patent Combination clung to office with great tenacity, and only at the last moment, gave place to Mr. Blake's administration. Though only a short time in office, the new Government has won golden opinions even from opponents. There has been a marked absence of that trickery and chicanery which the dissolute example of Sir John A. Macdonald has led his followers in Ontario to mistake for statesmanship; there has been a frank avowal of principles, and an earnest desire to fulfil all promises made while the members of the Government were in Opposition, struggling against a venal majority for the rights of the people. While considerable portion of the public time has been in a manner wasted by the factious course which Mr. Cameron, Mr. Lauder and a few others thought fit to pursue, the Reformers of Ontario have just reason to be proud of the work done during the session which has just closed; it has marked a new era in the history of our Province, not only as respects the formation of an incorrupt administration, but also with regard to the practical work of Legislation. If in a few instances local influences have led to the defeat of some Reformers who sat in the last House, the great majority of new members have replaced men who were accustomed to vote blindly at the bidding of John Sandfield Macdonald, and no impartial observer will hesitate to acknowledge the superiority of the present members over their predecessors.

A reference to the speech of the Lieutenant-Governor, which will be found in another column, will indicate some of the chief measures which have been passed, independently of the many private acts and bills relating to improvements in the administration of justice. It will be observed that the just principles contained in these acts were strenuously contended for by the Reform party and as vigorously opposed by the followers of John Sandfield; but sweeping majorities have declared that the Assembly of Ontario shall no longer be an appendage of a corrupt administration at Ottawa; that the representatives of the people shall have full control of the public money; that Dual representation shall be abolished; that the great Province of Ontario will let it be known to the world that the true British spirit still animates her sons, and that she abhors the murderers of a loyal subject of the Queen, though caressed by a truckling Governor and assisted by rebellious fanatics. The Government have also successfully inaugurated a liberal policy with regard to railways and immigration, which cannot fail to add vastly to the wealth and prosperity of the country.

The utter demoralization of the Opposition and the great triumphs of which every Reformer may feel proud, as having helped to achieve them, should encourage us to complete the victory by teaching the Government at Ottawa the lesson which John Sandfield has so painfully learned at Toronto. This can be done by an earnest and united effort of Reformers, if not in the present House of Commons, at least at the polls when the people are required to send new representatives at the next election. Let all who prefer purity and economy to corruption and extravagance, work together harmoniously and there will speedily be an end of the Macdonald-Cartier administration with all its demoralizing influences and its powers for evil.

AGRICULTURAL.—The Directors of the County Agricultural Society met at Milton on Tuesday. It was decided to hold the Spring Exhibition on the 30th of April, in case that that day was not already taken up by any other society. The date of the Fall Show was not fixed.

GUERRILLA WARFARE.

The leading articles in our Georgetown contemporary for the last few months, without being too brilliant, have been intensely Toryish; but they have been free from that style of gross personality in which, during the first election in this County of a member for the Commons, that paper indulged. Under the present management, a great improvement has taken place, and we were therefore the more pained to observe in last week's issue, treating of the Reform Meeting lately held in this town, the Herald has seen fit to abandon his usual manner and publish one of those diatribes which we regret to see in any newspaper claiming to be respectable, and especially in one published in our county. The internal evidence is strong that it is not the production of the responsible editor; but, as it has been adopted as his own, and treated as one of the leading articles in his paper, we must presume the bushranger style of political warfare meets with his approval. We trust that upon reflection, he will see the folly, if not the wickedness, of countenancing, even against Grits, an article of which the allegations are untrue, the conclusions illogical, the language coarse, and the general method of treating the subject impertinent. This manner of attacking political opponents is neither justified by the facts of the case, nor is it consonent with the amenities of civilized life. Such gratuitously false statements respecting the Convention, while they reflect little credit even on the writer's "smartness," will not add one whit to the strength of the Conservative party in this County; but they seriously detract from the respectability and future usefulnes of the paper which tolerates their insertion. While we fail to see the application of the Scripture quotation which our contemporary introduces, we would remind him of the passage which speaks of the sow returning to her wallowing in the mire, and would earnestly advise him to exclude in future all articles which remind us of what the Herald once was, lest the allusion become applicable to himself.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF THE QUEEN.

Intense excitement was occasioned by an attempt at the assassination of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, on Tuesday last. From telegraphic reports we learn that a young man named O'Conner (grandson of Fergus O'Conner, the former chartist leader) having scaled the wall surrounding the courtyard at Buckingham Palace, attacked Lady Churchill, who was in the Royal Carriage, but discovering his mistake, turned upon the Queen. He was disarmed and arrested as he was presenting a pistol at the Queen's head, demanding her signature to an indemnity to the Fenians, and threatening death in case of refusal. It appears that the pistol was unloaded, and the paper found on the prisoner's person proves him, in our opinion, to be deranged.—The announcement of the attempt on Her Majesty's life created very great excitement in London and throughout the British Empire generally. On the examination before the Police Magistrate, it was elicited that O'Conner's father was an Irishman, but he himself was born in England, and his mother's family are English Protestants. This is not the first time that Queen Victoria has escaped the assassin's pistol, as in 1842, John Francis fired at her, but without effect; his sentence of death was commuted by Her Majesty to transportation for life. In the same year one Bean presented a pistol at the Queen, but a by-stander struck down his arm. The would-be assassin was sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment, and an act was passed inflicting the punishment of whipping for such offence. We are not aware of any late assault on the Queen, than that of Lieutenant Pate, who struck Her Majesty with a cane about twenty years ago.

CREDIT VALLEY RAILWAY.

We clip the following upon the Credit Valley from the Brantford Courier, from which it is evident that the people of Galt are fully alive to the benefits of the railway.

"Yesterday we had the pleasure of visiting the Town of Galt, and we made enquiries from some of the leading men, as to the feeling of the people upon this railway. Each expressed their desire in favor of the railway being built. We also asked their opinion in reference to the extension of the same road from that town to Woodstock through Ayr, Wolverton, Drumbo, and Innerkip. To this, one and all seemed to be unanimous in their opinion—that the extension would be very beneficial to Galt, as well as Woodstock, also that Galt would be largely benefitted through the custom it would receive from Ayr, and Blenheim via the railway, which they do not now get. One gentleman said he believed the immense traffic, both freight and passenger from Ayr alone, would pay for the extension, he also believed that by the extension to Woodstock, all the through Western Passenger traffic from Toronto to all parts West would go over "The Credit Valley R. R.," as it, through the extension to Woodstock would make the most direct. West. North and Southern connections made by any railway in Canada There is no doubt but all it wants now to build the road is the unanimous working of its projectors. We believe the Incorporated Charter is in the hands of George Laidlaw, C. G. Campbell, F. Shanley, T. Burns, H. P. Dwight, T. S. McMurray, Robt. Hay, H. R. Hime, and W. H. Beatty, Esq's., and from our knowledge of the gentlemen it leaves little doubt in our mind as to the successful building of the road."

PARLIAMENTARY.

On Wednesday Mr. Blake moved the reception of the report of the Committee of the Whole on the Bill to make further provision in aid of railways.

The motion produced a lively debate, the Opposition moving a series of resolutions which were all defeated. The bill was read a third time and passed, amid some applause. A capital speech in support of the motion was made by Hon. E. B. Wood.

A discussion then took place on the subject of the Agricultural Form,

On Thursday the House confirmed the orders in Council granting aid to the different Railway Companies, after a series of debates.

On Saturday the Speaker took the chair at a quarter to twelve o'clock.

At twelve o'clock the Lieutenant-Governor entered the chamber and ascended the Throne.

The Royal assent was given to a number of bills, which had been passed by the House.

After the Speaker had presented the Supply Bill, His Excellency read the following speech from the Throne.

"I thank you for the diligence with which you have laboured for the public good.

I have cheerfully assented to the various important measures which you have passed.

I rejoice to observe that your independence has been further secured against the influence as well of the Local Executive as of other powers; that you have resumed the exercise of your constitutional privilege and obvious duty in determining the appropriation of the public moneys; and that you have asserted the right to speak and act in reference to the unpunished murder of a fellow-countryman.

I notice with pleasure the hearty approval which you have given to my proposals for the distribution of the existing Railway Fund.

In providing for further aid to these enterprises you have recognized the duty of guarding with most jealous care the honour and good faith of the Province; and I am persuaded that what you have done will greatly advance our material interests.

I hope that the steps you have taken as to immigration will result in the introduction among us of a number of those hardy labourers whom we need so much, and who are best suited to subdue our unsettled lands; and there can be no doubt that the remissions you have authorized in respect of settlers in the Common School and Free Grant lands will tend to promote their contentment and prosperity.

I believe that, under the Act of this Session, the charges for drainage operations will be less onerous, the work better done, and the tax more cheerfully paid, than under the previous legislation; and I am glad to see this further application of the principle of local management, so much in harmony with the spirit of our institutions.

I thank you for the prudent liberality with which you have provided for the wants of the public service; and I shall take care that the moneys you have granted are properly applied.

I congratulate you on the great prosperity which we now enjoy, and I am sure you will join with me in the prayer that our present mercies may endure, and that we may be permitted when we meet again to renew the expression of our thankfulness to Him from whom those mercies flow."

The Honourable Mr. Gow then said—

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly—It is His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor's will and pleasure, that this Legislative Assembly be prorogued until Friday the twelfth day of April next, to be then holden; and this Provincial Legislative Assembly is accordingly prorogued until Friday, the twelfth day of April next.

A battery of three field guns was stationed not far from the House, and fired salutes during his Excellency's progress to and from the House. The Lieut-Governor was accompanied by a detachment of dragoons, and was received by a company of the Queen's Own.

Thus ended the first session of the second Parliament of Ontario.

Credit Valley Railway.

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE;
Toronto, 23rd Feb. 1872.

HENRY MUMA, Esq., Drumbo.

DEAR SIR:—Your favor of the 13th was duly read and its important contents carefully considered as a clear, concise, and able statement of your case. I submitted it to the consideration of your members, Messrs Oliver and Perry, and others, including the Mayor of Woodstock, and all of whom, more or less, acknowledged the correctness of your estimates, so far as I could judge.

Mr. Perry thought the amount of bonus a little light but conceded to the probable traffic.

I could have replied on receipt but felt that the whole scheme hinged on the legalization of the Halton by-law, which has, thanks to Mr. Perry and others, been effected.

The Credit Valley Company will endeavor to complete their financial arrangements to Galt and put the road under contract this season, and will then be prepared to consider the extension to Woodstock. Meantime it will be the interest of those concerned to agitate and explain the advantage to be derived from the extension to Woodstock which might be put under contract next season.

You should direct the attention of your neighbors to the prices obtained at Toronto for all produce, but especially the minor produce of a farm.

Yours truly,
(Signed), G. LAIDLAW.

[EDITORS NOTE.]

The above letter, bearing on the estimated cost of the Credit Valley Scheme, has been handed us for publication, and it is with pleasure we give it the benefit of our circulation. Our columns are open at all times to the advancement of any scheme which will benefit the country at large, and we are glad to know that in the completion of this scheme, the neighboring villages of Drumbo and Ayr, and the town of Woodstock, will be benefitted to so large a degree. The Credit Valley Railway from Toronto, with its extension to Woodstock, is a scheme that must speedily enlist the attention of everyone along the proposed route Of its success, when properly brought before the people, we have not the slightest doubt. H. Muma, Esq., is connected with the C. S. R. R., and it is not too much for us to say that no more worthy gentleman could have a hand in every scheme of this description, and that much may be expected from his energy and enterprise, which, we may say, is widely known. Did he not see there was advantages to be gained in this important scheme, he would never agitate it. But Mr. Muma is not the only man who thoroughly understands the advantages that would accrue to the people of those sections should this scheme be carried through. Every farmer along the route understands it, and is doing his utmost towards its success. Under the circumstances it gives us great pleasure to publish the letter above.—Brantford Courier.

Hop Circular.

Thursday Evening Feb. 29th, 1872

Nothing has occurred in the Hop trade this week to warrant any material change in the views expressed in our last. The small arrivals, together with a continued steady demand from brewers, tend to keep prices very firm; and with the stock of 1871's reduced to less than 2,000 bales, and a very large proportion of these unsaleable at any price, buyers have met with no little trouble in executing their orders. Dealers in the interior of this State, who do a large direct trade with brewers, also experience much difficulty in finding Hops to suit; which evidently shows a scarcity of the article in the country as well as here.

We hear considerable complaint from brewers who have been using the so called "Choice Bavarians." Beer produced from these Hops has in several instances turned out very unsatisfactorily, and some of the Hops, in consequence, have been returned upon the market. This is just what might have been reasonably expected, and fully verifies the opinion set forth in the Circulars early in season. Our remarks refer particularly to mixed or bogus Bavarians. The genuine article has given perfect satisfaction; so, also, have the few English Hops which have been used. The use of foreign Hops in this country is comparatively a new thing. With most of our brewers it has been an untried experiment until this season. A prejudice against the use of Bavarian Hops already exists, from the cause above mentioned, which will be difficult to remove, and those brewers who have allowed themselves to be inveigled into the use of them, where it has resulted in the spoiling of their beer, will not be apt to try the experiment a second time. Again we say to our friends on the other side; Send us good Hops, or none.

EMMET WELLS,
No, 64 Pearl St., N. Y.

On the subject of the assassination of Lord Mayo and possible trouble in India, the London Times, quoted by the New York World, makes the following remarkable statement:—"If we look," says the Times, "at the disturbances reported from India during the last few years, and especially during the administration of the late Viceroy, we shall find them directly owing to upright and impartial rule. It is not misgovernment, but good government which brings us into trouble."

Notices of Socials, Tea-Meetings, etc., under this heading, will be charged 25 cents each insertion.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

ASSIZES.—The Spring Assizes will be held on the 23rd of April.

ORANGE SOIREE.—An Orange Soiree was held at Hornby West last evening. We have not yet received a report of the proceedings.

ORDER your clothing from McLeod, Anderson & Co., Georgetown.—Stock enormous—styles unrivalled—workmanship warranted.

CURLING MATCH.—A curling match was played here on Friday, between the Flamboro' and Milton clubs, which resulted in favor of the former by one point. The play was excellent on both sides.

We beg to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. McLeod Anderson & Co., Georgetown. They are in the field early with new Spring goods. Cheapness, enormous stock and one price are the characteristics of this house.

As will be seen in the report of the County Council proceeding, the Credit Valley Railway by-law was read a third time and passed. Mr. William Laidlaw was appointed a Director of the Company to represent this County at the Railway Board.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—A meeting of the Milton Total Abstinence Society, will be held in the Temperance Hall, on Wednesday evening next, commencing at 7:30 p.m. A very interesting meeting may be expected. The public in general are cordially invited to attend.

THE Royal Assent was on Saturday given to the "Act to amend the Act passed in the thirty-fourth year of Her present Majesty's reign, chaptered thirty-eight and intituled, 'An Act to incorporate the Credit Valley Railway Company,' and to extend the powers conferred upon the said Company."

PERSONAL.—Mr. C. E. Keeling, late of the CHAMPION, has formed a partnership with Mr. J. Murison Dunn, as publishers of the Guelph Daily and Weekly Advertiser, under the name of Dunn & Keeling. Mr. Keeling's many friends in this community will, we are sure, wish him a successful career as a publisher, and we trust the Advertiser under the management of this enterprising and able firm will take a good position among Canadian journals.

THEATRICAL.—The Amateur Dramatic Club made a second appearance on Friday evening last. The Hall was not as well filled as on the first occasion, but those present appeared to enjoy themselves, if the repeated bursts of applause was evidence of enjoyment. The drama of the "Charcoal Burner" was repeated with excellent effect, and the laughable extravaganza of the "Happy Man," was highly appreciated

COAL OIL.

To Editor Champion.

DEAR SIR:—I beg to call your attention to the fact that most, if not all of the coal oil sold in Milton is adulterated with water. Having purchased oil from three different parties I found it contained one-third water, and the wick froze fast every night to the bottom of the lamp and on emptying the contents of the lamp into the fire it would not burn. With such high prices for oil people should get it pure; and as the oil is all inspected at the refinery, the question is who puts the water in.

PETROLEUM.

IT is said that owing to the recent great rise in the price of iron, blacksmiths are finding out that they cannot stand it to do work at the old prices. A convention of blacksmiths in the County of Huron was lately held at Clinton, and advanced rates for all the various kinds of work were agreed upon, which are published in the local papers.

WHY are Lazarus Morris & Co's Spectacles like Brigham Young on trial for murder?

NOTICE.—Any person sending the answer to above to the Agents, Drs. P. & A. P. Robertson, within the next thirty days, will receive an order from L. M. & Co., for a pair of their superior new pattern Eye Glasses.

WE advise the public to call at P. M. McKay's if they want goods cheap. He thinks of changing his business, and he has now commenced to clear out his very large stock without any regard to cost. Now is your time for bargains.

I strongly recommend the use of Fellows Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites to all who suffer in any way from disease or Weakness of the Lungs, Bronchial Tubes, or from general debility.

J. W. SCOTT, M. D., Gagetown, N. B.

BARGAINS, BARGAINS.—P. M. McKay anticipates a change in his business very shortly and in order to get his very large stock reduced he will sell his ready-made clothing, boots and shoes at cost price. Now is your time for bargains. There is some of that dollar tea left yet.
