Canadian Champion.

The Official Paper of the County

MILTON, JANUARY 13, 1881.

Sir Charles Tupper did not enjoy his Montreal meeting. His speech consisted principally of abuse against Mr. Blake, and all the applause it elicited was frequent hissing. When he said that Mr. Blake wanted the Syndicate question brought to the polls, the audience cried in chorus, "So do we," and cheered lustily. An old gentleman in the audience told Sir Charles that he was no statesman, and insisted upon it when Sir Charles undertook to argue with him. Altogether, the meeting was a sickener to the Tories, who could not pass a motion endorsing the Government, and would not allow any other motion to be put.

The evil effects of the mismanagement of North-western affairs is apparent in the large decrease in immigration to that region, including Manitoba. The nine months from January to October, to all intents and purposes, so far as taking up lands is concerned, represents the whole year. The total number of acres taken up in 1879 was 1,096,817 acres, and in the nine months of 1880 only 682,227 acres. The homestead fees decreased in the same period from $34,706 to $17,540. The homesteads acreage taken up decreased from 555,296 to 280,640 acres, and the pre-emptions from 270,158 to 140,790 acres. Thus we see that while immigration to the United States showed an enormous increase in 1880, our Canada Northwest, the great grain producing region, shows a decrease of about 100 per cent. This decrease is a new problem for the knights to explain.

The Manitoulin Exp sitor complains of the disreputable mail arrangements for the Island, the mails being frequently left out all night in open sleighs, at the Indian villages, money letters and all. The mails are generally received from two to three weeks late. The mail carriers complain that their allowance won't pay expenses, and frequently will not leave one post office for the next, unless the inhabitants subscribe money to help them along. The Post Office Inspector is severely censured for this state of affairs. We know something about that. The mail arrangements in Halton are a disgrace to such a thickly populated section, and all petitions for rectification are quietly ignored by the Inspector, who has not thought it worth while to visit the County for several years; or if he did, he saw very little of it. Numerous trustworthy and useful officials were lopped off by the Government, and the useless ones kept.

The Government are now in a rather awkward predicament, in the Syndicate swindle. They have assured the people that the notorious bargain now being discussed is the best that could be made, but to-day the new Syndicate offer to construct the railway on much more favorable terms for the country.

It is understood that the new Syndicate will offer to build the railway for $22,000,000, and 20,000,000 acres of land, and do away with all the objectionable features in the present contract. Offers are constantly arriving by telegraph from capitalists throughout the country, to invest money with the new Syndicate. The ability of the new Syndicate to fulfil the contract cannot be questioned, and they are ready to put up $2,000,000 as a guarantee of good faith. It shows that Sir John is not a fit person to entrust such contracts to, as he accomplished nothing in return for the thousands of dollars of the people's money he squandered on his excursion to England, but when he came back, grabbed up the first and worst offer that could have been made. It looks suspicious that now when a new and reliable Syndicate proposes a scheme that will save the country millions of dollars and the injurious results of all the objectionable provisions in the first contract, Sir John should still try to force the opposition into ratifying the notorious contract. It looks as though the first Syndicate had offered those immaculate ministers a bonus if they would succeed in getting the contract accepted. The attempts to force the objectionable contract on the people when a much better one is pending, cannot be too severely censured. It shows the Knights to be worse than indifferent about the welfare of the people.

A $825,000 BONUS.

If the Syndicate swindle is carried out the share the people of Halton will have to pay, whether they like it or not, will be $825,000. We do not believe the people of this county would pay such a bonus for several new local railways that would directly benefit them, yet a few of them appear content to let the $825,000 bonus be taken from them without uttering a remonstrance.

The revenue books show that during the year 1880 $3,561,300 were received for revenue stamps from the match manufacturers of the United States. This would make the number of matches consumed 35,613,000,000, or about 700 matches per year to every man, woman, and child in the Union.

THE NEW SYNDICATE.

REPRESENTATIVE CAPITALISTS TO TAKE HOLD OF IT.

VERY FAVORABLE OFFER TO BE MADE.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—An evening paper to-day gives some important information respecting the new syndicate. The general terms are agreed upon. By the close of this week the final arrangements will have been made, and early in next week a well-matured proposition will be submitted to the Government at Ottawa. The new combination embraces the representative capitalists and business men of the country, among them being the following: Toronto—Sir William Howland, H. H. Cook, M. P. P., A. M. Smith, Kenneth Chisholm, Jas. Metcalf, the McMaster brothers, Mr. Cox (president of the Midland railway) and John Leys. Kingston—John Carruthers. Montreal Thos. Workman, ex-M. P., Mr. Cromp (of Messrs. Cromp, Torrence & Co.), Mr. McCoy, Mr. H. Mackay, Mr. J. C. Bryduges. Quebec—Mr. Ross. Buckingham—Mr. James McLaren. Ottawa—Mr. Allan Gilmour. Fredericton, N. B.—Mr. Alex. Gibson. Hamilton—Mr John Stuart, Mr. A. T. Wood, Mr. John Proctor, Mr. Wm. Hendrie. London—Col. Walker. Their offer in the matter of subsidy alone is more favorable than the one now under the consideration of Parliament by twenty millions of dollars, and the privileges, exemptions and monopolies make a difference in the two offers of at least twenty millions more.

A LAND OF DIAMONDS.

LAND WHICH SELLS FOR $48,000 FOR THIRTY ONE SQUARE FEET.

South African Correspondence Hartford Times.

Perhaps a brief description of this land of gems may interest your readers. This place is about seven hundred miles inland from Cape Town, and about five hundred from Port Elizabeth. To reach Kimberly from Cape Town one has to travel through a country called the great Karroo, a barren, rocky tract, with scarce any signs of life in it. It is about three hundred miles through it. A more desolate region can scarcely be found. I do not think I saw ten acres for a distance of two hundred miles that could possibly be plowed; and, judging from appearances, I think a rat, to travel through the Karroo, would need a knapsack on his back, well laden with provisions, to sustain life on his journey, unless he was of near kin to Dr. Tanner. Kimberly, like its surroundings, is a barren waste, very unpleasant for a family home. Most of the country here is worthless for farming purposes. Water is scarce; wood is very scarce. It is brought here by ox-teams from a distance of a hundred miles, and is sold on the market at auction for from $25 to $30 per load, according to size and quality. None of it would be merchantable in your city. Old dead wood dug up by the roots and brought to market, roots and all, sells for from $25 to $30 per load; and a load of livewood (unsplit), containing one and a half cords, sells for $40 to $50 per load. Potatoes grew to about the size of English walnuts; beets, carrots, onions, cucumbers and lettuce are luxuries nearly unknown here. The dust and dirt is fearful. I cannot describe it and do justice to the subject. It fills your eyes, nose and ears, and mats your hair and whiskers; and as for clothes, the natives, who wear none, have the advantage, as the water is hard and missable, full of dirt, and sells for sixty cents a barrel for washing purposes, and as for drinking, something stronger is the common beverage here. But the diamonds! It is truly a land of diamonds. Already over $125,000,000 worth have been discovered. In the late war one of the chiefs (Saccahuni) offered a quart measure full of diamonds for a cannon. Claims of thirty-one square feet have sold for $48,000 per claim! The mines are all worked by large companies. The largest is a French company. The manager informed me that their expenses were $70,000 per month. They take out of their claims 400 loads of diamondiferous earth per day, worth, on the average, $4 40 per load. There are several large companies in the same mine. A mile and a half from here is another mine called old De Beers' mine. Three miles further there is another one called Du Tait's Pan, and one mile from that is another, called Buipantein. All these are extensively worked by large companies. Bulpantein mine was originally a farm, on which was built a brick house, and on the discovery of diamonds the house was found to contain the precious gems in the plaster used to lay the brick, and in the plastered walls, while the children played with what they called "the shiny stones." There has recently been a diamond mine discovered eight miles from here, called Oliphant's Fantein. Claims to the number of nine hundred have been surveyed and sold in that mine, and people here are wild with speculation. An acquaintance of mine bought claims in Jager's Fantein mine, forty miles from here, which cost him $710, and in a short time he was offered $38,600 for said claim. It seems that men are like bubbles the world over. Some go up and some explode financially, the exploding portion being by far the most numerous. The penalty for buying a diamond of a negro is five years' imprisonment at hard labor and a fine of $2,400 for the first offence, and ten years for the second. And yet the temptation is so great that out of a population of 16,000 there are over 600 now in prison for illicit diamond buying and diamond stealing. Some of these prisoners are worth from $40,000 to $200,000. Surely the way of the transgressor is hard.

WESTERN FARMERS ALL GETTING RICH.

From the Journal of Commerce.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—I asked the President of one of our most flourishing country banks the other evening at the Palmer House: "How did the farmers meet their January interest?" "Promptly and without a single default. To tell the truth," he added, "most of the interest on our farm loans had been anticipated."

"Are you making any new loans for Eastern parties?" "None at all." "Why?" "Farmers are borrowing very little money. The good crops and the demand now for all farm products have enabled farmers to pay off their debts very fast."

"How much money have you placed in a single year on Western farms?" "As high as $500,000." "Do your Eastern correspondent still send you money to loan upon farms?" "Yes." "What do you with it?" "Send it back, as I have no place to put it." NORTHWEST.

A DEFICIT OF OVER $2,000,000.

The public accounts for the year ending June 30th 1880, show the following figures:

Expenditure on account of Consolidated fund	$24,850,634
Revenue	23,307,406
Deficit	$1,543,228

This, with over $500,000 due to shipbuilders in drawbacks on account of N. P. duties paid by them and to be refunded, makes the deficit over $2,000,000. And yet we imported most of the manufactures consumed in the country.

A SIOUX SCANDAL.

YOUNG SPOTTED TAIL ELOPING WITH THE WIFE OF STRANGER HORSE.

(From the Omaha Herald.)

A scandal among the highest circles of the Sioux nation has just been agitating aboriginal society at Rosebud Agency. The particulars are given the Herald by a gentleman who came from the place a day or two ago. Some days since young Spotted Tail, son of Spotted Tail, the renowned chief of all the Sioux, took advantage of the absence of Chief Stranger Horse on a hunting expedition, to persuade Stranger Horse's squaw to elope and live with him. They remained several days in young Spot's tepee without interruption. Stranger Horse returned from the hunt to find his fire gone out, his squaw—he had but one—departed, and his tepee desolate. Gathering his friends about him, he started out with his rifle, threatening the life of the chief who had brought shame into his household. The affair was reported to the agent, who summoned the faithless wife and her paramour to the agency, where they were confronted with the wronged husband.

Young Spotted Tail appeared to have passed through a long debauch, and the woman held her head in the presence of her husband. When the agent demanded of young Spot why he had committed this wrong, the culprit gave the same lamentable excuse that was offered by the first of the race of men: "She led me into it," said the wayward chief. After a full hearing of the case, in which the agent acted as a mediator, it was decided that the wounded honor of Stranger Horse should be healed with the gift of an American horse and a number of valuable articles, and that he should take back his wife and live with her again.

BURIED IN SNOW.

From the 23rd to the 25th of December, a snow storm raged in the Blue Ridge Mountains, Virginia. The village of Paris, near the summit, was buried up to the eaves of the houses, and several people frozen to death. They were completely shut in from the outside world. Passages were shoveled through the snow, a relief committee formed, with the schoolhouse for headquarters, and all the provisions and fuel in the village collected there to be carefully distributed by the committee, who made the inhabitants crowd into a few buildings near the school, and took charge of them. One family rebelled, but were forced into subjection. The barns were reserved for fuel. A messenger was selected to go to Berryville to organize a relief party, and started on horseback on the 4th inst. with a flask of whiskey and a package of provisions. He traveled all that day and night, and on the morning of the 6th was still on the way, nearly exhausted. By noon he had lost his senses, and was laughing, crying, and singing. That night he was found nearly insensible, lying on the snow near Berryville. On reviving he told his story, and a relief party was despatched. It is to be hoped they reached the village in time to save lives.

THE CANADA SCHOOL JOURNAL, FOR JANUARY, 1881.

The representative School Journal of the Dominion, begins the year with one of the best numbers yet issued. Its Editorials are "1881," a statement of the improvement in the Journal for the New Year. "Please State Salary Required," a trenchant plea on the payment question. "Political Educationists," a reply to the Mail's articles on Education. "High School Advertising;" "Co-Education, and a College for Ladies;" "Upper Canada College;" "Education;" "Newspaper Criticisms on Schools;" and a variety of other leading articles and Editorial Notes. Then a most interesting Essay contributed on "Free Schools," by Dr. Allison, Supt. Education, of Nova Scotia; on "Physical Training," by J. E. Bryant, M. A.; on "Teacher's Institutes," by A. Morton, and the usual large selection of Examination Papers, and a fuller account than ever of the Teachers' Associations. No teacher who wishes to keep posted can afford to be without the Canada School Journal.

MUSIC AT LOW RATES.

The criticisms of the JANUARY SCORE are of especial value, as they contain a lengthy review of Berlioz's Symphonie Fantastique, and "Liszt's Faust Symphonie," by Louis C. Elson, who also commences a series of historical papers upon the "German song." The paragraph column is also especially brilliant. Seven pieces of music are also found in this issue, the prices of any one being sufficient inducement for our readers to get this valuable number. We mention the list: "Mush, Mush;" "Quilting Party;" "Polly Wolly Doodle" popular college songs. "Sunday Vocal," by Holzel. "Fra Diavalo," Fantasia by Sydney Smith, "Blessed be the Lord," sacred selection, with the popular "Heel and Toe Polka." Send your name with 10 cents (stamps taken) to JNO. F. PERRY & CO., 13 West St. Boston.

MANHOOD

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
