MR. JOHN M. HAMILTON, whose removal from the County Court judgeship at Port Arthur, to the incumbency of the same position at Milton, has already been chronicled, was once well known in Toronto society. He married a daughter of the late Chief Justice Draper, an estimable lady, than whom nobody is more valued by a large circle of intimate friends. Mr. Hamilton was one of a syndicate who brought out the iron yacht Rivet, 40 years ago, from the Clyde, and as a yachtsman he had few superiors in his day. After living some years at Toronto, Mr. Hamilton moved to his native city, Kingston, where he practised law, till he received the appointment of county attorney for Algoma. From Sault Ste. Marie he went to Port Arthur. He is a nephew of Sir David Macpherson, and, like his uncle, is a man of fine stature and an imposing presence. Their Toronto friends will, no doubt, see much of them, now that they will be only 30 miles from the city.—Toronto World.

A TRIAL will cost you nothing. Leave or send your address to Storey & Freeman's hardware, Milton, and they will send you for trial next washing day one of those Knoll Washers that competed with over 800 other machines and took first prize and gold medal at the World's Fair, Chicago.

STILL THEY COME.—The following story from the Belleville Ontario shows that the fakirs are not all dead yet: "Some sharks are fishing for suckers among the farmers of this district, and judging by reports they already have a very nice string. The bait this time is stoves and the game is worked something after this fashion. A couple of agents from a Toronto stove firm will go to a farmer and try to sell him a kitchen range for $60. The farmer doesn't want it. But the agent has a mighty fine thing; he will take the farmer's old stove and allow him $12 for it, and the agents will board at his place for two weeks and allow him $10 a week for themselves and horse; now that's $32 of the price of the stove. The farmer thinks he'll take it. Then the wily agents persuade him to sign a note for the full price of the range, $60. This is all they want and they never take the stove or wait to board at $10 a week. Occasionally they vary this programme by going to a farmer of good standing and offering to give him a range in exchange for his services at $2 a day, these services to consist in simply driving about the country with them, taking them to the best men to deal with. But they get his note, not just to hold as security for the stove. The note goes in, and after a time he finds that he cannot even collect wages for the time he has wasted, as the agents are no good."

CHEAP FURNITURE.—Parlor Suites $22.50, Lounges $4.50, Gents' Easy Chairs $4.50; Oak, Plush Rockers $2, $3, $5 and $2.85; Oak Sideboards $14, Elm Sideboards $5.65, Ext. Tables $4.50, Oak Ext.
