The Canadian Champion

MILTON, Aug. 23, 1906.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, has been unseated because of corrupt practices on the part of an agent in his election contest two years ago.

Speaker Cannon of the United States Congress, is being boomed as Republican candidate for the next Presidential election. He is old, but vigorous, and is a forcible speaker. If elected, he is not likely to favor tariff reform, as he is a Republican of the old school and a Dingley tariff man.

The exposures in connection with Chicago meat packers have led to investigations elsewhere. The heads of boards of health of London and other English cities say that many slaughter houses and packing factories of Great Britain are as bad as any in America, and in some respects, especially in the matter of diseased cattle, much worse. The practices of British jam makers are also attacked. It has been found that dirty jars are washed in filthy water. The London Times says that "not one Englishman in a hundred has ever tasted genuine dairy butter." Most of the butter used in England, it is said, is adulterated with foreign fat. A prominent firm of Liverpool importers has had to stand trial for selling adulterated butter brought from Holland and bearing the stamp of inspection by the government of the Netherlands.

In Canada the analysts of the Inland Revenue Department have been investigating the fruit preserves sold in the Dominion. One hundred and ninety samples were collected, and this is what the analyst says about them:

"With reference to the genuine samples in which Mr. McGill found none, or only traces of glucose, I have adhered to his findings. As regards the samples which he has classified as probably adulterated under the act with recommendation to leniency in some cases, I have been obliged to discriminate between those which showed some or a little glucose, which I have marked doubtful, and to look upon these samples, regarding which there is no declaration, and which contain much glucose or dextrine as adulterated."

	No. of samples
Unadulterated	53
Doubtful	17
Adulterated according to Act	67
Adulteration declared	60
Adulterated	15
Collected by mistake	8
Total	190

"Adulterated according to Act" means that "an inferior or cheaper substance has been substituted, wholly or in part, for the article," but this substance "is not injurious to health." In such cases the law requires that the article must be marked as a compound in conspicuous characters on the label, but in some cases the marking was far from "conspicuous." It was found that dyes were used in jams or jellies in order to pass off apple pulp for strawberry or raspberry jam. A great many samples contain glucose, used instead of sugar, and were embalmed with salicylic acid or benzoic acid.

Whatever may be done in other countries, our Government, having found that our people are being defrauded and more or less poisoned, should take steps to protect them and at the same time, to restore the good reputation of Canadian goods, which has been damaged by greed and fraud on the part of manufacturers.

Worse Than San Francisco Disaster.

That this is a year of terror for people living in the earthquake zone is once more brought prominently to notice by the circulation of and discussion by the press of a report that by a [illegible] Toronto Star.

A Brainy Crowd.

The Oakville Star says:—The great and brainy newspaper men of Halton will gather in Oakville on Friday next, August 24th. This is their annual summer outing, and they have a throbbing anxiety to see Oakville in her beauty and progress. Then, besides, the Oakville people want these gentlemen and their wives to see our town, of which we are so proud. Also the Oakville people desire to see these giants of the press, and we offer them an open door of welcome. The pressmen will come by radial car and have luncheon with Mrs John Forster. They will be given a drive around town and district to visit a couple of fruit farms. The members should be given a cordial welcome.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Better Than Three Doctors.

"Three years ago we had three doctors with our little boy and everything that they could do seemed in vain. At last when all hope seemed to be gone we began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a few hours he began to improve. To-day he is as healthy a child as parents could wish for."—MRS. B. J. JOHNSTON, Clinton, Miss. For sale by all druggists.

Haileybury Scorched.

The business part of the town of Haileybury, New Ontario, was nearly wiped out by fire on Tuesday. The loss is estimated at $150,000 and insurance totals $75,000. Six business buildings and 10 dwellings were destroyed. The fire broke out at 3.30 a.m. and there is strong suspicion of incendiarism. The town has a new gasolene fire engine, but it would not work until after half an hour's tinkering. The New Liskard fire brigade was summoned to help. They did the five miles in a tandem in 24 minutes and their work at the fire was very effective. The use of dynamite helped greatly to check the fire.

Remedy for Diarrhoea Never Known to Fail.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used this preparation in my family for the past five years and have recommended it to a number of people in York county and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I cannot say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. JEMISON, Spring Grove, York County, Pa. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

An Impertinence.

Hamilton Times.

With a Dominion Parliament, local Parliaments in every Province, municipal councils in every municipality, we have as little need of a union or combine of councillors and hired officers to seek to influence legislation as a contractor has for the revision of the plans of the architect and owner by his office boys and hod-carriers. The "Union of Canadian Municipalities," so-called, is an impertinence.

Life Insurance.

For twenty-five cents you can now insure yourself and family against any bad results from an attack of colic or diarrhoea during the summer months. That is the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that has never been known to fail. Buy to-day, it may save life. For sale by all druggists.

No Begging at Fair.

The police have determined to drive away the blind and invalid beggars who gather on Dufferin street near the Exhibition grounds during Fair time and ask alms of the passers-by. They come from all over the Province, and even the United States, to get into this exhibition, but they will be there this year as the police will move them on as they do the [illegible] Toronto Star.

Rain, But Too Late.

[illegible] Aug. 22.—Rain fell quite heavily here early this morning, breaking the severest drought in years in this district. While it did a great deal of good it is questionable whether it came in time to save the tobacco crop.

[illegible] and Mrs. Miller were committed for trial on the charge of murder at Toronto on Tuesday.

The Ontario Government's agricultural report shows good crops of fall wheat, rye, barley and peas.

Henry Anderson, actuated by revenge, shot his wife dead at Parry Sound, and killed himself with the same weapon.

The Salvation Army is making arrangements for the settlement of between 20,000 and 25,000 immigrants in the Dominion of Canada next year.

Carrie Nation was jailed at Denver, Sunday evening for leading a mob. A person who got out of view in which many people were hurt.

A number of men were arrested in New York charged with making counterfeit money to carry on a revolution in Venezuela.

A Government circular says it is impossible to meet the demands of Ontario farmers for help, as most of the immigrants are now going west.

Household science will be taught by the University of Toronto as one of its courses. This was decided on at the meeting of the governors last week.

Coal oil in large quantities has been struck on the farm of H. P. Nicholson, at the foot of Riding Mountains, near Dauphin, Man.

John Dillon, in addressing a Nationalists' meeting near Dublin, claimed for Ireland a measure of home rule on the lines adopted for the Transvaal.

L. T. Bland, M.P., Conservative member for North Bruce, died at his home in Kincardine Sunday morning, aged fifty-three.

Miss Mary McAulay, niece and housekeeper of Rev. Father McAulay, priest at New Ireland, N. B., was murdered during the priest's absence, and the authorities suspect a sailor named Collins, to whom the priest gave a home, and who is missing with a large sum of money.

One of the important questions which came before the meeting of International Sunday-School Association this month was the organization of adult Bible classes. It is estimated that there are already a hundred thousand of these classes, and they are a potent force in the development of church life. The adult who goes to Sunday-sunday is likely to be a devoted student of the Bible.

More Harvest Help Wanted Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

[illegible] in Eastern [illegible] a large number [illegible] assist in harvesting [illegible] what crop in Canada's [illegible] there is a great [illegible] for laborers.

[illegible] improved machinery, and [illegible] only one men will be required as [illegible] labourers to [illegible] and the movement [illegible] elevators.

[illegible] 20,000 labourers [illegible] to forward more [illegible] will be a low rate labourers' excursion from South-Western Ontario [illegible] September 4th, from the north-west [illegible] September 7th, and from the [illegible] and eastern section on September 8th.

[illegible] second class tickets are sold at $25 to Winnipeg, and on arrival [illegible] labourer is met by Government representatives of the farmers, and when he has contracted to work, he is furnished by the railway with a free ticket to the nearest station to the farmer he is to work with. On arrival at that station he deposits his certificate with the agent, and when he is ready to return after he has been working 30 days, the farmer he has been engaged with makes a verification to that effect on his certificate, and the agent issues ticket from that station back to the starting point at rate of $18.00.

It is expected a very large number will take advantage of these excursions to spend a few weeks in the West, and acquaint themselves with the conditions in that country. This is an opportunity to have an outing and make something besides expenses.

Anyone wanting further information write to C.P.R. Passenger Department, Toronto.

The C. P. R. Company has made an arrangement with the Imperial Government for a fast mail service between Liverpool, China and Japan. Special trains will be put on to carry the mails across the continent.

THE LATE DR. SNODGRASS.

Man Who Contributed Largely to Certain Important Elements in Canadian National Life.

The Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, who died the other day in Scotland at an advanced age, spent less than a third of his life in Canada, and yet contributed largely to certain important elements of Canadian national life, says The Toronto News. The Established Church of Scotland sent him to Prince Edward Island as a missionary, his high qualities at once asserted themselves, and soon he was a leader of the Old Kirk in British North America. A typical Lowland Scot, of heavy exterior, of somewhat ponderous methods of speech, and giving a first impression of being somewhat keenly alive to the main chance, he possessed a remarkably sound, half humorous judgment, great force, an iron will and withal a keenness of vision, an unselfish regard for the wider outlook, which served his adopted country well. About 1863 he left St. Andrew's Church in Montreal to become Principal of Queen's College. The little University College was a cherished possession of the Church, had flourished not long before, but was in difficulties, chiefly owing to a quarrel in the ranks of its faculty.

Principal Snodgrass was at once the head of Queen's and the virtual leader of the Old Kirk during the critical period which preceded the union of Canadian Presbyterianism. His tenure of the principalship was singularly troubled. Scarcely had the institution pulled itself together under his guidance than two severe financial blows halved its income and threatened it with absolute ruin. A bank in which part of its capital was invested failed, and then the newly-established Provincial Government of Ontario withdrew the grant which formed more than a third of its income. So sanguine a man as Prof. MacKerras, the principal's right hand, despaired. But Snodgrass set his teeth, and by sheer force and work saved the situation. A meeting "pro re nata" of the Synod—the chief court of the Old Kirk—was held at Kingston, and it was determined to raise by subscription what seemed the enormous endowment of $100,000 to replace the lost resources. With incredible toil Snodgrass and MacKerras secured the money. They visited, delivered addresses and canvassed in eighty-six pastoral charges of the Church; the endowment when raised came from 5,200 individual givers. So painful was it to raise funds for educational purposes thirty or forty years ago in Ontario. But the university was saved, and Principal Snodgrass was the one man responsible for the success.

To the endowment trouble succeeded the movement for Presbyterian union. Snodgrass' position was peculiar. The existence of Queen's was an obstacle for the Voluntary section of the far more numerous Canada Presbyterian Church had formulated a policy of direct antagonism to the control or maintenance of universities by religious denominations. They would not enter a union if Queen's was to be retained as a "child of the Church", while the Old Kirk was profoundly attached to the college for which it had made many sacrifices. Snodgrass was at once Principal of the university and clerk and virtual leader of the Synod of the Church; in the critical final year he was its moderator or titular leader as well. He had given proof of his loyalty to the college and yet as a statesman of the Church he was zealous for union. In the end he effected the singular compromise by which Queen's continued under the auspices of the united Church, but was given almost boundless autonomy—and, unfortunately, a measure of church support which was anything but boundless. This done, he had to provide a new constitution for the university thus partially cut adrift. In this work he displayed remarkable constructive power and insight. In particular he had the insight and prevision to turn to the alumni as the real constituency of the institution. The system has worked admirably and each successive change has been but a natural expansion of the constitution which Dr. Snodgrass devised.

With church union and the reconstitution of Queen's the Principal's services to Canada terminated. His strength was shaken, a new canvass for funds was inevitable, and he could not face it. An opportunity opened to retire to the parish of Canobie in his native Scotland, and he gave place to Principal Grant. He was a layer of foundations. How well he did his university work his brilliant successor was ever foremost to acknowledge. He bore a principal part, too, in the statesmanlike union of the several Presbyterian branches into the great Canadian Church of to-day, and his was one of the four hands whose clasp, at the memorable meeting in the skating rink in Montreal on June 15th, 1875, consummated the union.

How He Got His Cherries.

We hear a lot nowadays of the scarcity of farm labor, and of the dilemma in which farmers find themselves to secure the gifts of a bounteous Providence. But The Clinton New Era caps the climax with a story, which is too good not to reproduce: "A good joke is told at the expense of one of Clinton's independent gentlemen, who having made provision for the picking of his cherries with a certain person who afterwards found it impossible to fulfil his contract, went into the orchard, cut the valuable tree down, stripped it of its heavily-laden limbs, and proceeded to pick fruit 'under the shade of the old apple tree.'"

Holmes, Bismarck, Mazzini.

The three greatest conversationalists with whom it has been my good fortune to come into touch were Mazzini, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and Bismarck.

Of these Dr. Holmes was the most spirited in the "bel esprit" sense, Bismarck the most imposing and at the same time the most entertaining in point of wit, sarcasm, anecdote and narratives of historical interest, brought out with rushing vivacity and with lightninglike illumination of conditions, facts and men, but in Mazzini's words there breathed such a warmth and depth of conviction, such enthusiasm of faith in the sacredness of the principles professed and of the aims pursued by him, that it was difficult to resist such a power of fascination.—From "Reminiscences of a Long Life," by Carl Schurz, in McClure's.

HAD AN AWFUL TIME

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy Cured Him.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—SAM. H. GAYS, Concord Ga. For sale by all druggists.

Discussing some complaints of English emigrants located with Ontario farmers, Thomas Southworth, Director of Colonization, said that the most prolific cause of trouble between the farmer and the immigrant was the latter's wife, who was either homesick or else too lazy to keep her house clean and cook her husband's meals. One man, Mr. Southworth said, had to return his wife to England because she sat and cried all day long for home.

A New York court has rendered an important decision in regard to the rights of shippers of goods by express. A manufacturer delivered to an express company some crates containing electric batteries. The court decided that the injunction—"This side up"—is clearly within the rights of the shipper, and must be obeyed.
