Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
ALWAYS CURES

The Canadian Champion

MILTON, Sept. 27, 1906.

Winnipeg builders's strike is settled and 4000 men resume work to-day. It is estimated that the strike has cost over $3,000,000, including $200,000 in the men's wages. There will be expensive litigation over delayed completion of building contracts.

There are eight vacancies in Canada's permanent corps of infantry, but graduates of the Royal Military College decline to accept them. As a rule, they appear to prefer engineering to soldering as a profession, though a few of them go into the Imperial service. The object of the college is to train soldiers for Canadian corps rather than to make engineers. It is an expensive institution, and if its object is not being attained it should be closed.

In its report to the Methodist General Conference at Montreal, the committee on the state of work expressed deep regret that, notwithstanding disciplinarian provisions to the contary, some Methodist ministers are engaging in sucular business, including service as directors of corporations, thus not only to some extent neglecting the great work to which they have been called, but bringing discredit on the ministry and consequent injury to the work of the church. The report says further:

"Your committee is of opinion that the disclosures of recent years in public, commercial and social life indicate the absence in a very serious degree, of a clear sense of righteousness, and those high standards in the matter of conscience and personal honor, without which a church cannot wield an influence or a nation be strong. This lack we believe to be due to a variety of causes, of which three are prominent, viz., the necessary, but tremendously overwrought emphasis on material things incident to a new and rapidly developing country, to the very superficial and disastrous habit of determining conduct from the standpoint of a vicious expediency and the lack of personal devotion."

The English speaking Roman Catholics of Ottawa complain that the separate schools of that city are controlled by the French Canadians, that all the school taxes go into one fund, that the French expend them to their own advantage and that the English and Irish are not getting a fair return for their money. It is complained, too, that the taxation is unfair, that the French school population increases much faster than the French assessment, and that the English assessment increases faster than the English speaking school population. A complaint was made to Archbishop Duhamel, but his sympathies are French and nothing came of it. An appeal is now being made through Mgr. Merry del Val to the Pope, against "French aggression and unwarrantable methods." His Holiness has been informed that on account of these many English speaking Roman Catholics have withdrawn their children from the separate schools to send them to the public schools. The Pope is warned that if no redress is given the majority of the English separate school tax payers will enrol themselves as public school supporters, that respect for ecclesiastical authority is disappearing, and that the welfare of the church is in danger.

Farmers and the Tariff.

Weekly Sun.

The Tariff Committee of the Manufacturers' Association reported to the Winnipeg convention that farmers from one end of the country to the other appeared before the Tariff Commission to demand an increase in the protection on their own products.

This is a gross misstatement of the facts. A few hot-house vegetable-growers near Toronto and a little group representing the tobacco industry of Essex did ask for more protection. But the spokesmen of the "general farmers" and general farmers represent 90 per cent. of the whole agricultural industry, with one solitary exception, were unanimous in demanding that any change in the tariff be in a downward direction. Back of this we have the unanimous declaration of representatives of the Dominion Grange and Farmers' Association meeting in joint convention, for the total elimination of the protective principle from the duties on all classes of imports. In view of these facts there can be no doubt as to the attitude of farmers regarding the tariff.

At Jellico, on the boundary between Tennessee and Kentucky, a carload of dynamite was exploded by three men shooting with revolvers at a mark on the car. A score of persons were killed or fatally injured. The entire third storey of the principal hotel was cut off and the rest of the building left uninjured. All the warehouses were wrecked and the business part of the town was demolished. Where the car stood there is a hole thirty feet deep and fifty feet wide.

Throat Coughs

A tickling in the throat; hoarseness at times; a deep breath irritates it;—these are features of a throat cough. They're very deceptive and a cough mixture won't cure them. You want something that will heal the inflamed membranes, enrich the blood and tone up the system ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ is just such a remedy. It has wonderful healing and nourishing power. Removes the cause of the cough and the whole system is given new strength and vigor ∴ ∴

I. O. F. BEFORE THE COMMISSION.

A good deal of the time of the Commission which has been enquiring into life insurance matters was taken up last week with an enquiry into the work of the Independent Order of Foresters. The enquiry developed the fact that the managers of the order had been borrowing from the benefit funds of the order for the purpose of meeting current expenses. Ever since 1893 the ordinary receipts allowed for the purpose of meeting management expenses have failed to meet the outlay, and in the years 1903-4 the deficit amounted to over $400,000. This was made good by borrowing from the benefit funds. The Insurance Department at Ottawa objected to this, and as a consequence, the Executive of the I.O.F. decided to cut down expenses, and Dr. Oronhyatekha said there will be no deficit in running expenses this year, and next year the order will begin to wipe off the deficit which has accumulated in the past.

Dr. Oronhyatekha also gave evidence as to the cost of assembling the Supreme Court, which meets once in three years. The cost of the session held in London in 1895, was $71,000, and the meeting in Los Angeles a few years later involved an expense of $88,871. The cost of the gathering in Atlantic City last year was $80,776, but hereafter the sessions will all be held in Toronto, and the expense under this heading will be reduced.

Dealing with salaries, Dr. Oronhyatekha said he had received as Supreme Chief $10,000 a year from 1896 up to last year, when his salary was increased to $15,000. The salary of Supreme Secretary McGillivray was $6,000 up to last year, when it was increased to $7,000. Harry Collins began as Supreme Treasurer at $2,000 in 1896, and by 1905 his pay had got up to $7,000. Dr. Millman, as Supreme Physician, received $3,000 in 1896, but his salary has been going up since then, and is now $7,000. All told, the salaries of officers of the Supreme Court in the ten years ending 1905 amounted to over $300,000, while the wages of the office employees totaled over $600,000; to the organization staff over $945,000 was paid, and for organizing expenses $771,000 was spent.

Evidence was also given touching upon a contribution by Dr. Montague while in Australia of $250 to the funds of a political party. This led to a charge of bribery being preferred against Dr. Montague in Australia, and proved hurtful to the order. Dr. Oronhyatekha said he had informed Dr. Montague that not one cent of this was to be charged to the order, and Dr. Montague replied that he had always looked upon it as a personal donation.

The build-up and management of the Foresters' Temple in Toronto was also enquired into. The Temple has cost a little over $951,000, and the cafe which was run in connection with it for for a time involved a loss of over $41,000 before it was closed up. The fact also came out that the order's money had been used to float the North-West Land Company, with which Dr. Montague is connected, and a loan company in which Hon. Geo. E. Foster is a prominent figure was also a creation of the I.O.F.

The most remarkable story is connected with land speculations carried on through the I.O.F. was told in the evidence given on Monday.

The story is not very clearly told, but it appears by this evidence that W. H. Bennett, Rufus Pope, A. A. Lefurgey and Fowler, members of the Dominion Parliament, and another, obtained an option from the C.P.R. under which they secured the right to purchase 200,000 acres of lands in the North-West at $3.50 per acre. This option was turned over by these members of Parliament, at an advance of $1 per acre—thus realizing a profit of $150,000 in cash, and $50,000 in stock. $200,000 to be divided among five men,—to another syndicate, composed of Hon. Geo. E. Foster, manager of I.O.F.'s Trust Company, Lieut. Col. McGillivray, Supreme Secretary of the I. O. F., and Matthew Wilson, K.C., director and solicitor of the Trust Company. This latter syndicate then turned the land over at a profit of 50c per acre—$100,000—to the Great West Land Company, a subsidiary concern of the Union Trust Company which has been created by the I. O. F.

Sudden Attack of Dysentery Cured.

A prominent lady of Brooklyn, N.Y., writes to inquire where she can obtain Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She says: "While stopping at a ranch in South Dakota I was taken ill of what seemed to be cholera. They gave me some of this medicine and it cured me. I brought a bottle home and have just used the last of it today. Mother was taken suddenly ill of dysentery and it helped her immediately." For sale by all druggists.

Senior Teachers' Exams.

The Department of Education has issued amended regulations to govern the examinations for senior teachers, with special provisions for public school teachers. In future the examinations may be taken in four parts at different times as follows:—

Part I., English composition and rhetoric, algebra, geometry; part II., English literature, mediaeval history, trigonometry; part III., modern and British history, Latin; part IV., biology, with chemistry and mineralogy or French and German or Greek and German or Greek and French; provided always that candidates take at least three of the four parts while actually engaged in teaching, and that they pass a practical examination in addition to the examination in the papers in biology, chemistry and mineralogy.

Hitherto the examination has been in two parts with six subjects in each, and public school teachers with second-class certificates have not been able to pass while teaching, but have had to attend a high school. The change has been made at the request of a deputation from the public school section of the Ontario Educational Association, and is intended to encourage those who wish to make public school teaching their life work.

Catholics' Appeal.

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—The English-speaking Catholic ratepayers of Mechanicsville, a western suburb of Ottawa, have forwarded a petition to Dr. Pyne protesting against the issuance of debentures to the amount of $5,600 for the erection of a new school, on the ground that they cannot get suitable instruction in English for their children. They say that English-speaking children at present are taught in their own language for only an hour a day by a French nun, who speaks English imperfectly. They allege that on account of the Mechanicsville trustees not being able to provide an English teacher they agreed to turn over the taxes of the English-speaking ratepayers to the trustees in Hintonburg, where there is an English school, but the agreement has not been carried out. The petitioners ask for the appointment of an English inspector to investigate the existing grievances, and that without delay, as their children are on the streets instead of being at school.

Responsible for His Bees.

The Divisional Court has confirmed a judgment for $400 to Frederman Lucas, to be paid by Morley Pettit, a neighbor, of Windham, Norfolk County. Pettit's bees invaded a buckwheat field owned by Lucas, and attacked Lucas and his team. Both horses died from stings, and the man was badly stung too. The court held that Pettit was responsible for the damage done by his bees.

Knew From Experience.

"I say," said a friend the other day, "you are an old hand at it. I have only just got married, and don't understand much about the business, but has a married man any rights left when he once assumes the hymeneal responsibilities?"

"Rights? Yes, lots! He's a right to pay all the bills, to"—

"Stop, I mean this. Let me give you an instance. Every box and drawer and portmanteau and, in fact, every available receptacle of every description is stuffed full of my wife's property and when I want to put away a few cuffs and collars"—

"Hold hard! I know what you mean. Listen, young man. If your bedroom were 200 yards long and lined from the floor to the ceiling with drawers and you wanted a place to stow away a couple of collars, you couldn't find a nook that wasn't full of hairpins, tufts of frizzes, pads, scent boxes, old gloves, powder puffs, rings and things. So just accept the inevitable. Wrap your personal property in an old newspaper or some brown paper and hide the parcel under the bed."

The inquirer smiled loudly and ironically and passed on a wiser if not a better man.

Eskimo Throwing Sticks.

A "throwing stick," "throwing board" or "spear thrower," as it is sometimes called, is a contrivance for casting a javelin or harpoon, which is employed by various savage races, such as the Australians, some South American tribes and especially by the Eskimos, among whom its use is almost universal. Roughly speaking, it is a narrow grooved board a foot or so long, with one end cut into a handle and the other provided with a stud or spur for the butt of the spear to rest against. It is used thus: Grasping the handle as he would a sword, the man fits the shaft of the spear into the groove, with the butt resting against the stud, steadying the spear with the finger. Then, extending his arm and bending back his hand till the spear lies horizontal, he aims at the mark and propels the weapon by a quick forward jerk of the stick. In this way I have seen Eskimo boys casting their forked javelins at wounded waterfowl.

When Buchanan Was King.

George Buchanan was a scholar, historian, controversialist and the best Latin poet of his age. Buchanan was tutor to Mary, queen of Scots, and to her son James, afterward James I. of England. One day he caused himself to be made king of Scotland, and this was the way of it: Having observed in James a tendency to too ready acquiescence, he drew up a paper for the royal pupil to sign. James did so at once without having read it. The document happened to be a transfer of the royal authority to Buchanan for fifteen days, and no sooner had the poet got it into his possession than he began to play the monarch, even before the king himself. James thought the man a lunatic until the instrument was produced by which he had signed away his sovereignty. This incident was used by the worthy preceptor to illustrate the day's lesson on the responsibilities of monarchs.

Monkeys as Nurses.

"Monkeys make poor nurses," said a zoo keeper. "When they live near a stream of water and one of the colony falls sick they invariably toss him overboard. They don't want him around. His sighs and groans annoy them so. 'Psst! Off the dock!'

"Here in captivity I have to remove at once a sick monkey from his comrades' reach. Otherwise they would soon kill him. When they can, well monkeys take a strange joy in tormenting an invalid. They bite the end of his tail, they drag him about, and they pinch him. Finally, when he dies, as many as can find room sit on his body, close together, very solemn, as though engaged in some religious rite."

Fixed Bayonets.

It is said that during the siege of Ladysmith in the Boer war the assault column of British, advancing in thick darkness, climbed up an almost precipitous wall. Once or twice they were faintly challenged. At last a Boer recognized them and shouted to the sentry to fire on the "verdomde rooineks!" As the crest was gained the fire broke out. A few of the attackers began to reply, but they were stopped, and the voice of the commanding officer was heard to give the order, "Fix bayonets!" That there were no bayonets did not matter. The men, taking up the cry, rushed on the Boer gunners, who fled at the thought of the cold steel.

Does Your Stomach Bother You?

Dr. Shoop's Restorative Cures All Distressing Stomach Troubles Through the Inside Nerves.

As you value your health and happiness don't neglect to care for the slightest stomach pain—don't let it go. At the first sign of distress use Dr. Shoop's Restorative and end all these troubles. These aches are signals—they are symptoms of coming disease—is it wise to ignore them? You who never eat a hearty meal without a sense of fullness followed by a period of lassitude or drowsiness—beware. Neglect these conditions and you surely invite distressing indigestion—you'll become a sallow, miserable dyspeptic. Do you experience any of these symptoms?—distress after eating, returning of food to mouth, gnawing at pit of stomach, rumbling of gas, belching of wind, loss of appetite, heartburn, headache, dizziness? If you suffer in any of these ways, your duty is clear—there is but one course open to you—strengthen the inside nerves—these special stomach nerves—shake off forever this evidence of disease. Put the digestive nerves in condition to act as nature intended they should. Don't drug, don't force—just give the inside nerves natural force, gentle tonic, nature's help. Dr. Shoop's Restorative (Tablets or Liquid) should be taken to do this—it is the only prescription which builds up, or even attempts to restore the inside stomach nerves. Sold by

New Fall Goods!

Our New Fall Stock of

has just arrived and our milliners are on hand preparing for a grand opening which will be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 21st & 22nd.

We captured the lion's share of the millinery trade last season and will be fully prepared to do it again this season. The milliners that did the trade, and did it so well, are with us again, which fact, with an abundant stock of the choicest goods procurable, is sufficient to ensure the success of this branch of our business.

The other departments are being loaded with new goods which are arriving almost daily and being placed in stock.

Every line is being carefully looked after with a view to doing a big fall trade, and every effort will be put forth to give our patrons the best value for their money that it is possible to get.

THREE POINTS

A WISE MAN OR WOMAN in ordering a Monument takes into consideration:
STOCK

A FOOLISH PERSON considers only one of these points: PRICE.

To the first-named I would say attention and say: My work is made of the very highest class of Stock and Workmanship cannot be excelled and my Prices are extremely low considering these qualities.

I will be pleased to submit designs and prices on request. Call and see my designs, or send word by letter and I will call on you.

Cemetery Carving promptly attended to.

CORNER STONES and MARKERS in granite and marble.
