BUSY HAIRDRESSERS

They are Trying to Create a Beauty New Fashion in Honor of the Coronation

The leading hairdressers of London are determined to produce a remarkable Coronation coiffure for next year, when it is hoped that a British design will lead the fashion.

The scheme was mooted a few days ago at an international hairdressing competition, and further elaborations of the idea will be made at various meetings which the Hairdressers' Guild will hold shortly.

Mr. Unwin, of Albert and Unwin, Regent Street, the president of the Hairdressers' Guild, gave full details of the proposed scheme.

"As you are aware, the Hairdressers Guild endeavor to promote and establish genuine English fashions," he said, "and we hope that in a few years' time the excellence of workmanship in London will be more fully recognized that at the present moment. Many of the leading hairdressers are combining to hold a second annual exhibition in London next year, and the Coronation coiffure will be shown.

"Naturally, the work of evolving such a dressing is an arduous one, and it will be some time before all the details will be settled.

"I do not hesitate to say that all the present members of the hair-dressing profession will enter heart and soul into this scheme."

Mr. Unwin said that curls would play an important part in the dressing, and that the Greek style would be preserved.

"There is room for curls in an undying style and a soft, rather high chignon of hair will form an excellent support for those who wear coronets on the coronation, while a soft bandeau of the curls will give a dig-

Finally deft. sold them to I. Garner & Co., of Oakville. Plaintiff then entered action for $625 for breach of contract. OFFICIALS WARNED—Owing to the fact that the official returns of births, marriages and deaths in the province have not been made promptly, an official notice has been sent out from the office of the Deputy Registrar-General, to all officials in Ontario whose duty it is to make the returns, notifying them that in future, if the returns are not promptly made, action will be taken against them in the courts. Two London men, Gilbert Jones and Henry Weinmark, who were on the snow plow, were killed. Dr. H. A. McColl, Coroner, and W. I. Dick, County Crown Attorney, went to the Junction yesterday to hold an inquest. A jury was empanelled, and an adjournment made to next Wednesday. No evidence was taken and it cannot be said now who was responsible for the accident. It is said that the semaphore was up and the stop signal on. There was a heavy snow storm and the men on the plow apparently did not see the signal. The engineer and fireman behind the plow and the crew of the freight train were uninjured.

It cannot be finished to-day, but the final figures will be bulletined in the window of the Red Cross Drug Store at 4 p. m. to-morrow. It is estimated that the two leaders, Mountain Union and Boyne, have about 400,000 votes each.

Town Council.

The council met on Tuesday evening. The principal business was the appointment of Police Magistrate Dice as assessor and collector at a salary of $150.

Among the reports adopted was one from the committee on finance recommending that the Clerk write to Mr. Titchmarsh and inform him that the council did not consider itself responsible for injuries received by him through a fall on a sidewalk, for which he claimed damages. The report also stated, in connection with the petition of Chas. Yates and others, complaining of an alleged nuisance, a large apiary in the southerly part of the town, that it appeared that a nuisance did exist to a considerable degree, and the committee would endeavor to arrive at the best plan to remedy it.

The Clerk's report to the Minister of Agriculture of Ontario on corporation debts for 1910, showed the original amount of them all to be $97,952.44; principal paid in 1910, $4015.82, interest paid $8007.88; balance of principal unpaid $56,262.65. Of this balance $5,968.13 is on guaranteed loan to the carpet factory and $9000 to the screw factory. The unpaid balance for 1909 was $62,502; reduction in 1910, $6239.35.
