Canadian Champion

MILTON, Nov. 28, 1912.

Burlington has expended $30,000 on a new school building, handsome, well lighted, well ventilated, modern in every way and providing ample accommodation for pupils for many a day. The expenditure may seem large, but it has really been much more economical than that in Milton some time ago in tinkering an old building, which has been left as it was, ill lighted and ill ventilated, and which, if the town grows as expected, will soon be found to be too small.

The report of the fly-fighting committee of the American Civic Association was presented at Baltimore last week. The following is an extract:

"We cannot insist too much or too often upon cleanliness as the beginning, middle and end of the fly-fighting campaign. 'Swat the fly' as a slogan must give way to 'Starve the fly.' The latter is more euphonious and infinitely more practical.

It was recommended that campaigns be conducted against dirty stables and back yards, garbage heaps, dumps and all places that produce flies and supply them with infection. This is what the Champion advocated for Milton last summer. Such a campaign here next summer, with the sanitary measures which the provincial health authorities have notified the council to carry out, should make Milton immune from any diseases caused by flies.

Last February there were brought together at Ottawa from the various provinces upwards of one hundred men officially delegated to represent forty-four Live Stock and Record Associations, besides a large number of interested persons, to consider and discuss the various features of the live stock industry. This gathering, which constituted the third general convention of the National Live Stock Association, spent two days, each of three busy sessions, upon its programme, which included reviews of the conditions of the live stock industry prevailing in the respective provinces, interprovincial trade in pure bred live stock, the beef cattle industry in the east and the west, the dairy cattle industry, the development of the sheep and swine industries, the market for Canadian horses, transportation of live stock, stallion legislation, the chilled meat trade, bovine tuberculosis, and other business.

A full report of the addresses and discussions that took place has been printed for the information of persons interested in live stock, or in fact the general agricultural welfare of the Dominion. Among many other striking things, it was brought out that our export cattle trade is rapidly approaching the vanishing point, that South American tinned beef is being used all the way across the Dominion, that we are exporting very little mutton and importing a great deal, while millions of pounds of pork are each year imported into Canada.

This report, which constitutes a book of 130 pages, embodies a fairly complete review of the live stock situation in Canada and offers many wise suggestions for its much needed improvement. The distribution of this work is in the hands of the Publication Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, to whom applications for copies should be sent.

Dominion Parliament.

The second session of the new Parliament opened last week.

Announcement of the Government's naval policy, for which everybody is waiting, is not expected until next week. Meantime all sorts of rumors are current. One is to the effect that $35,000,000 is to be voted as an immediate grant to the British naval authorities and that $35,000,000 more is to be handed over in annual instalments.

The plan for Federal assistance in the building of public highways is again to be brought forward.

Sir George Ross has been chosen as Liberal leader in the Senate, in place of the late Sir Richard Cartwright.

Rot Not So Bad.

Hamilton Spectator.

Several farmers spoken to on the market, Saturday, by a Spectator reporter, expressed the opinion that the threatened potato rot would not we[illegible] nearly so bad [illegible] anticipated. They said shortly before and up to [illegible] there was much evidence [illegible] many farmers found it [illegible] their entire crop, but since [illegible] the potatoes it [illegible] found [illegible] of the [illegible] dipped, and it is now [illegible] who have made [illegible] that there will be [illegible] this cause. One [illegible] from several bags [illegible] which had been [illegible] the blight at the time of digg[illegible] had only been a skin or surface rot, and when the potato had thoroughly dried it was found the rot had ceased to be of any damage, and with the exception of a slight scar on the potato it was all right. All farmers say the crop this season was the largest in years, and in view of the fact that the supposed rot will not be as bad as expected, there is no reason for scarcity or high prices.

Lowville.

The Missionary Anniversary will be observed in the Methodist Church of Lowville and Zimmerman next Sunday, when the offerings for the missionary interests will be made. Rev. J. E. Russ, a former pastor, now of Beachville, will preach. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Appropriate music will be rendered.

The Xmas entertainment of the Lowville Sunday School will be held on Monday, Dec. 23rd. Preparations for a good program are being made.

Rev. Mr. Wells, of Waterdown, preached here on Sunday last. Rev. Mr. Kaye preached on the Freelton circuit.

Hornby.

Nov. 25th, 1912.

Last Thursday, W. King, from Toronto, was visiting "Matilda Villa."

Next Monday we expect the new teacher, Miss Mary Beecroft, from Toronto.

Our teacher, Prof. De Gallant had to leave on account of illness.

Last Wednesday, Nov. 20th, at "Spruce Villa," a fashionable marriage was celebrated. Miss Eva Learmont and Peter Stephens were united in the sacred bond of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Avison, of Guelph. The bride wore a beautiful costume. A number of friends were present at the nuptial repast. The happy couple left for a wedding trip to Western Ontario.

Last week Miss Jane Alderson was visiting at "Clear Villa."

Rev. and Mrs. W. N. Konkle are the guests of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Booth. Mr. Konkle is preaching at special services at the Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Konkle has the management of the music. She is a splendid singer, and Rev. Mr. Konkle is a distinguished orator.

Last Wednesday Prof. De Gallant was visiting at "The Villa of the Flowers."

The following is the school report for November.

ARRESTED A LORD

Constable and Baron Act Unwittingly in Jasper Park

An amusing story of an English nobleman who overestimated the wildness of the west and nearly got locked up by the mounted police as a result comes from Fitzhugh, Alberta. It appears that Lord Congleton took a trip to the Rocky Mountains for a little shooting, and accidentally got into Jasper Park. In his quest for big game, the noble lord saw a large mountain sheep within easy range of his rifle and potted the animal with ease. Encouraged by his success, he went on a little further, where he found another sheep grazing, and bagged his second one for the day.

Innocently, in fact, proudly, his lordship went back to camp with his two sheep slung across his ponies. A constable, who was in ignorance of the aristocratic state of the violator of the Dominion Park regulations, and who might not have cared any way, promptly pounced upon Lord Congleton and placed him under arrest.

The lord explained who he was, and that he had not known that the sheep were not there to be shot. The parks commissioner was wired and the nobleman was released.

JUNGLE ETIQUETTE

The Elephant Gets First Drink at Water-hole, the Rhino Second

A moving picture film took some remarkable pictures at a water hole in Abyssinia of animals which come there from miles around to quench their thirst.

It is the etiquette of the jungle for the elephant to drink first. No matter how many animals are around the water hole they all stand aside for the greatest beast of all. Many of the animals come 40 or 50 miles for a drink, and there is a truce between even the most deadly enemies.

After the elephant comes the rhinoceros. Although most of the other animals observe the water hole truce faithfully, two things will fight over their presence. The cinematograph operator obtained wonderful pictures of two of these huge animals going at it hammer and tongs. The fight only ended by one of the animals being killed.

When the rhinoceros has finished the giraffes drink their fill, followed by zebras. Zebras always travel in herds and sometimes 40 or 50 will arrive at the water hole at a time. According to the etiquette of the jungle, however, they only come in fourth for the drinking stakes.

The first four animals are fixed in order, but the rest get a drink just how and when they can.

WEALTH OF MINERALS

New Section of British Columbia Rich in Scenery and Possibilities

Mr. G. L. McDonnell, a prospector returned to Edmonton from British Columbia where he was sent by an English syndicate to report upon the mining possibilities of the new country opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. He walked from Mile 140 to Mile 53 over the grade of the main line and reported that silver and lead are plentiful also that copper showed strong out-croppings. He further stated that between 4,000 and 5,000 men were working in the Fraser Valley on the new line. "The Fraser Valley," Mr. McDonnell observed, "is wider and more expansive than the panorama in the Kicking Horse Pass. On the southern side of the river the mountains are some distance off, their snow-clad peaks silhouetting the skyline and shutting out the Cariboo country beyond. On the other side of the stream, here and there threatened by the tumbling river of many rapids which suddenly diverts for 20 or 30 miles to the northward, are great expanses of timber."

Arrested For Horse Stealing.

Two young fellows who gave their names as Frank Egan, aged 16, and Thos. Kee, aged 14, both from Toronto, appeared before H. W. Kennedy, J. P., on Monday afternoon to answer to a charge of horse stealing. On Saturday last they came to town and hired a rig from Andrew Vance, to drive around town, and were to return at 6 o'clock. When they did not return as stated Mr. Vance instituted a search. They were traced to Acton and down through Stewarttown and finally located at Cooksville, where they were arrested and detained until Constable McDonald arrived on Sunday and brought them back to Georgetown the same evening. They were given their hearing as stated above and were committed to Milton gaol to await their trial. Chief McDonald took them to Milton Tuesday morning. Chief Lawson, of Acton, has a warrant for the two lads charging them with holding up a citizen in that village on Saturday evening.—Georgetown Herald. The youths were brought before Judge Gorham on Tuesday and remanded until next Wednesday.

J. C. Rockwell's Sunny South Co.

J. C. Rockwell's Sunny South company, which is announced to appear in the Town Hall, Milton, Monday evening, December 2nd, is the colored organization that appeared here about two years ago and at that time it gave unbounded satisfaction, in fact it was generally conceded to be one of the most pleasing performances ever placed on the local stage. Mr. Rockwell does not believe in putting the greater part of his salary allotment into one or two acts and allowing the balance of the performance to suffer through the employment of cheaper ones, which always disgust the experienced patron, but he has found that the expenditure of money for the purpose of making each act and detail complete pays twice over in the box office receipts. This explains why the performances given by this company are always up-to-the-minute and send the audience home feeling satisfied that they have had full value for their money. Quite often the speed limit in fun is exceeded and the audience thrown into convulsions of laughter. It is a swiftly moving panorama of mirth, music and melody, never loud, never vulgar. There is every ingredient of gayety and melody and the Olio is composed of a strong array of vaudeville talent, equalled by few and surpassed by none. The comedy, which abounds throughout, is said to be of unusually diverting character and free from the horse play usually seen in performances of this kind.

The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The band will head the Koontown parade, taking place at noon. The prices of admission have been placed at 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats are now selling at Smith's Drug Store.
