Police Court.

Last Sunday five men got on a light engine at Guelph Junction and went for a joy ride to Guelph and back. As they approached the Junction on their return, the water ran low and they put on speed so as to make the full distance. There is a curve near the station, with the view obstructed by trees, and as they rounded it they saw in front of them a freight engine which had been run off the main line. They put on the breaks, but their speed was too great to stop the engine and they jumped to save themselves. When the engines came together the light one stood up on end and both were considerably damaged. On Monday two C. P. R. employes, Hugh J. Craig, station agent at Guelph Junction, and Orville Fletcher, watchman, were arrested by Detective C. J. Holden, of London, brought to Milton and locked up in the jail. They appeared before Police Magistrate Dice on Tuesday, charged with theft and injury to property. Both pleaded not guilty and they were remanded to jail until next Monday. A little later Fletcher was released on bail, his bondsmen being James Erwin and John Richardson, both of Nassagaweya. Craig got out yesterday. His father-in-law, Mr. Parkinson, of Guelph, is his bondsman.

Incorrect reports have been published in city papers, that the collision occurred at Guelph, that the two men got out on $5000 cash being deposited as bail and that other two, instead of three, who were partakers in the joy ride and have not yet been arrested, "offered an attractive price to be taken to Guelph." It is understood here that the men were simply out for a joy ride, that it was not the first taken over the Guelph branch, that all were railway men, and that had it not been for the accident nothing would have been heard about it. Fletcher had been at the Junction only two weeks. His story is that the other men asked him to go with them for a ride, that he supposed that it was all right and went.

The Oakville Fatalities.

Oakville, April 22.—The inquest into the death of George Garfield Till, who was electrocuted in the cellar of the Murray House, Sunday morning, April 13, was concluded to-night, when the following verdict was returned:

"We find that the deceased came to his death from the following causes:

"That the deceased grasped a drop cord while standing on the floor of the basement of the Murray House, such floor being of straw and shavings over the earth, and being sufficiently damp to carry the current of high voltage involved.

"That a contact existed between the street lighting circuit, and house-lighting circuit in front of the Murray House.

"That a contact existed between the primary high voltage circuit and street lighting circuit at the corner of Union and Second Streets, allowing an exceptionally strong current to pass through the body of the deceased.

"The jury are of the opinion that the contact in front of the Murray House was due to weather conditions, whereas that which existed at the corner of Union and Second Streets appears to have been due to human agency. The wires that were in contact at the latter point were risers, which were of such thickness that they could not have been placed in contact without application of exceptional force.

No evidence was taken by Coroner Watson and Crown Attorney Dick at to-night's session. The jury were at once asked to render a verdict and no charge was given them.

As yet the streets are still dark in Oakville, the Cataract Power Company, which supplies the town, not having set the plant in motion since the last fatality. No lights are being supplied private customers and houses and hotels are being illuminated by lamps and candles. It is probable, however, that, now the inquest has been concluded and the cause of the high voltage discovered, the lighting plant will be put into operation at once.

Objects to Precedent.

Georgetown Herald

The request of the representatives of the town of Oakville at last meeting of the county council to have the county guarantee their sewage bonds for $500,000 did not meet with the hearty approval of all members of the council. And why should it? It seems few other counties are foolish enough to guarantee the bonds of their municipalities, it does not necessarily follow that Halton must be likewise. In the first place it would establish a precedent. All other municipalities within the county would be entitled to the same backing by the county and in the course of a few years the county would find itself guaranteeing bonds to the extent of $500,000 or $600,000. In the event of any municipality defaulting a payment the county would immediately be called upon to "foot up." Even if all met their payments, look how it would effect the borrowing powers of the county. In the event of more money being needed for good roads, which is bound to be the case, what would county debentures sell at? In addition to their present indebtedness they were guaranteeing bonds to the extent of $500,000? All this matter must be taken into consideration, and we think when they are considered seriously by the members of council, Oakville or no other municipality in Halton need hope to see the county guarantee their bonds.

Cause for Alarm

Loss of appetite or distress after eating—a symptom that should not be disregarded.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, healthiest persons are moderate eaters. Nothing will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people contract serious maladies through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all who suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the understanding that we will refund the money paid us without question or formality, if after use you are not perfectly satisfied with results.

We recommend Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets to customers every day, and have yet to hear of one who has not been benefited. We believe them to be without equal. They give prompt relief, aiding to neutralize acidity, stimulate flow of gastric juice, strengthen the digestive organs, and thus promote perfect nutrition and correct unhealthy symptoms. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00.

WHY WOMEN LIVE LONGER THAN MEN

Do Not Expend Their Vital Strength Unnecessarily—Their Figures Are Changing

Statistics prove that women live longer than men. From this point arises an extremely interesting physiological question—how is it to be accounted for that the sex which always has been considered physically frailer than men should in the majority of instances outlive men?

If we are to believe the latest authorities on the subject, we find that women are much more tenacious of life and resist disease much more readily than the average man. She is in many respects the superior of the two.

As a rule, she does not expend her vital strength unnecessarily, while the majority of men either in work, in play, or in pleasure are literally prodigal of their store.

One writer has turned out some instructive comparative figures with regard to the liability of men and women to disease and death. He says from 3 to 35 years of age the death rate between the sexes remains about even, but afterwards the scale turns in favor of women. At 40 a woman has seventy-eight chances to one against dying, while man has only forty-nine chances to one. At 60 the odds are nearly twice as large in favor of woman, and at 80 they are five times as great.

Prof. Sargent of Harvard says their figures are changing to resemble more the men: More height, deeper chests, smaller hips.

SHOT A MOOSE

Thrilling Experience of an Edmonton Young Woman

Feira Plymate, an athletic young woman living with her parents surprised a party of seasoned big game hunters by dropping in its tracks a big bull moose the third day out on a trip in the back country, about three miles from Twatinaw, on the Athabasca line, north of Edmonton. One shot from her 38-55 rifle did the trick. Miss Plymate was tramping through the brush four miles from camp when she heard the crackle of the underbrush as the moose came bounding through. The party had spread out to cover a wider area and there was no one within a considerable distance of her. Miss Plymate raised her rifle and took aim, hitting the moose square in the neck. The animal stumbled a few yards and fell.

Silver From Sweepings

In the manufacture of silver wares the loss of silver in floor sweepings would be great were it not for the methods of recovery. The smelting of sweeps requires a special plant which but few concerns can afford to have, therefore most of them prepare this material so that it can be sold. The most satisfactory method is to grind the sweeps to a fine powder, so that a fair sample can be obtained for assay. One assay of the material may then be made by the purchaser and another by the seller. Unless the sweeps are ground very fine, however, and then mixed thoroughly, there is but little chance of agreement between the two assays, as coarse material is filled with fine shot silver, which, when samples are made, is not evenly distributed.

When the Clyde Wanted Water

In the days when the Clyde was navigable to Glasgow for only small vessels a steamer stuck in the mud near Renfrew and the skipper was not sparing in strong language. While waiting for the rising tide he saw a little girl approaching the river with a bucket to fetch some water. This was too much for the poor captain, and, leaning over the side, he thus addressed her. "If you tak' ae drap o' water oot here till I get afloat, I'll warm yer ear for ye."

Man's Body In Cement Block

A human hand protruding from tons of cement, the frames of which were removed recently, was found in one of the concrete pillars of the Government dam across the Mississippi at Keokuk, Iowa, and explains the disappearance several weeks ago of one of the laborers. The man's body is embedded in the solid concrete, and is likely to stay there, as to blast it would destroy not only the body but a great part of one of the largest blocks of cement composing the dam.

Breeding Hedgehogs for Bounty

In Vermont United States, a bounty of 20 cents is paid for every hedgehog killed. Some farmers have added considerably to their income by raising hedgehogs, and the Legislature will probably be asked to repeal the Hedgehog Bounty Bill. The bounties paid per year amount to $30,000 representing the killing of about 100,000 hedgehogs.

NERVOUS DISEASES IN THE SPRING.

Cured by Toning the Blood and Strengthening the Nerves.

It is the opinion of the best medical authorities, after long observation, that nervous diseases are more common and more serious in the spring than at any other time of the year. Vital changes in the system, after long winter months, may cause much more trouble than the familiar spring weakness and weariness from which most people suffer as the result of indoor life, in poorly ventilated and often overheated buildings. Official records prove that in April and May neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy and other forms of nerve troubles are at their worst, and that then, more than any other time, a blood-making, nerve-restoring tonic is needed.

The antiquated custom of taking purgatives in the spring is useless, for the system really needs strengthening, while purgatives only gallop through the bowels, leaving you weaker. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine, for they actually make the new, rich, red blood that feeds the starved nerves, and thus cure the many forms of nervous disorders. They cure also such other forms of spring troubles as headaches, poor appetite, weakness in the limbs, as well as remove unsightly pimples and eruptions. In fact they unfailingly bring new health and strength to weak, tired and depressed men, women and children.

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OBITUARY.

ANDREW TOCK.

Andrew Tock died last Sunday, after a long illness. He was in his 68th year. He was born in England and came to Canada and Milton with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tock, in 1852. For more than 30 years Mr. Tock carried on a grocery and confectionery business, retiring about two years ago. Since then his only business was to collect rents, he being the owner of a large number of dwellings. He was a member of the Methodist Church and a life-long Liberal. He is survived by his widow and one son, also by two sisters, Mrs. Bews, of Milton, and Mrs. Rebecca Farlow, of Toronto. The funeral took place on Tuesday, from Mr. Tock's late residence on Charles Street, to Evergreen Cemetery. Rev. M. J. Wilson conducted the services. The pall bearers were brethren of the A. O. U. W., Mr. Tock having been a member of that order.

Spring Assizes.

There was no business for the Halton Spring Assizes, which were announced to open on Tuesday. Chancellor Sir John Boyd came to Milton on Monday evening, and, finding that there was nothing for him to do, left for Toronto on the 9.51 a. m. C. P. R. train on Tuesday morning. Sheriff Webster opened the court at 1 p. m. and immediately closed it again "in due and ancient form."

Present for Premier.

Yesterday the Conservative members of the legislature presented Sir James Whitney with a motor car and a purse of gold.

There is a deficit of $2,300 in North Bay's tax department.

Thos. Murray, who had lived to the age of a hundred and four years, passed away at New Dunham.

It was stated at a convention of grocers that part of the high cost of living was due to the demand for goods in pretty packages.

On Tuesday a resolution was introduced in the United States Senate calling for the abrogation of both Isthmian treaties with Great Britain.

Rev. Canon Wade, of Hamilton, suffered another paralytic stroke Saturday, and special prayers were offered for him on Sunday at the Church of the Ascension.

Boiler Exploded.

Georgetown Herald.

On Thursday afternoon last at a few minutes after 2 o'clock, the steam boiler in the old saw mill at Stewarttown exploded, and completely wrecked the mill. That no one was killed is a miracle as four men were inside the mill at the time, and Walter Lawson, and his son Walter, had just left the boiler room a minute before the explosion and gone into the yard. Wm. Bescoby was blown clean out of the mill, but escaped uninjured; John Applebe, who was running the saw, was knocked down and had his side injured, but is able to be around; Mr. Hodge was pinned beneath some timbers, and had to be extricated, but only received slight injuries; Jack Smith was also mixed up with timbers but came out practically uninjured. Wm. Thompson who was driving along the road had his rig struck by flying debris.

One would hardly believe after viewing the wreck that it were possible for men to have been inside the mill and escape uninjured. One portion of the boiler weighing half a ton, was carried some 300 yards and landed on the side of the road, another portion went over the mill, and the flues were strewn all over the roadway and adjoining field. One still remained in a tree top on Sunday.

The mill and boiler had been overhauled this spring before starting work and it was considered perfectly safe by the owner.

Peel Licenses.

Peel License Commissioners met last week. They granted no hotel licenses for Brampton, where there were three applications, from the Queen's, the Royal and the Graham House. The Banner holds Samuel Charters, M.P. P., responsible for this and charges him with inconsistency, inasmuch as he did not oppose the issue of a license to a club in Caledon, a local option township. It says: "By what sort of reasoning does Mr. Charters conclude it is right that strangers from all over the Province and the United States should be permitted to foregather at a clubhouse in Local Option Caledon and consume a ton, and more, of high-class booze during the summer months while scores of his loyal supporters among the Brampton "wet" are suffering from a beer thirst that they can only assuage by taking a railroad journey, an automobile trip or hiring a livery? In the eyes of Samuel, the lover of the common people, it is quite proper that the "blooming aristocrats" should be permitted to loll about the verandas of their club house and sip gin rickies, Scotch high balls and other delectable beverages in a dry township while in a town that is wet under the law, it is all wrong for the common herd to be afforded the privilege of leaning up against a bar and calling for an 'awf and 'awf' or a humble bucket of 'suds.' Can Samuel square the circle?"

Good Roads Legislation.

The measure to authorize the Dominion Government to grant money towards the improvement of local highways was again before the House of Commons on Monday. During the discussion the Opposition insisted that measure be amended so as to provide that the money voted under it shall be granted to different Provinces according to population.

The Premier said that it was intended to apportion the money in this way, but declared it entirely unnecessary to incorporate such a provision in the bill.

Hon. Mr. Graham said that during the recent bye-election in North Renfrew, in which he was a candidate, men were sent into the riding to tell the people that the Dominion Government was going to build roads in the locality. One man was told he would have $500 to spend on certain sections of roads. In this way, said Mr. Graham, the proposed Federal grant was made use of as a means of influencing electors in North Renfrew to vote against him. A similar course might be taken in any Dominion election unless the money were apportioned as demanded by the Opposition. For this reason, he said, he would fight the bill at every stage.

Prairie fires in southern Saskatchewan are sweeping a tract fifty miles wide.

On Friday Very Rev. Dean Bidwell was chosen on the first ballot by the Synod of Ontario as Bishop of Kingston and coadjutor Bishop of Ontario, to assist Bishop Mills.

The Wentworth county councillors who obtained fees for inspecting roads two weeks ago may be compelled to return them to the Treasurer, as the council has adopted a resolution that no fees are to be paid for such services.

DR. FRIEDMAN

Doctor Friedmann, the German tuberculosis specialist, stands about 5 feet 10 inches in height, of medium build, straight as an arrow, and one would imagine from his movements that he is of a highly strung temperament. Bluish grey eyes, which when he is in conversation reflect the expression of the ideas he is conveying by speech, sometimes sparkling in their brightness, again at rest as the idea passes away in speech. Often you can notice the far-away look of the man whose thoughts are away from his immediate surroundings, presumably upon his great task of beating the white scourge, and then when he is called again to the surroundings in which he is at the moment, starts as if he had totally forgotten them. He has a black moustache and dark hair, but withal a kindly expression upon his features which couldn't fail to attract, and which is often lit up by a smile as he speaks. He is crammed full of nervous energy, his whole aim is the success of his work and occasionally their is a set look on his features as if nature demanded a little rest from his exertions.

HOW TO FIGHT CONSUMPTION

The Grand Duchess of Hesse has hit upon a novel scheme for propagating the knowledge of how to fight consumption. On her recent visit to a hygiene exhibition at Darmstadt she saw some match boxes with printed instructions on the reverse side what to do and what not to do in order to avoid the spread of tubercular contagion. The boxes were samples. Several billion had been made to the order of some South American government. The Grand Duchess has now succeeded in inducing all the match manufacturers of the Grand Duchy to place these instructions on the back of every box they sell, the price to remain the same.

PAID FOR HIS WIFE

Barter and Sale of a Woman In a London Court

A London cable says: The barter and sale of a woman for $27,500 was arranged in the courts here recently by the authority of a judge. The case was that of a divorce suit brought by Marcellus Raymund Moraud against his wife, Helena Woodley Moraud, both actors. J. A. Morrison, inheritor of the Morrison millions, was named as co-respondent. The suit was undefended, and counsel stated that it had been agreed that Morrison should pay Moraud $27,500 damages. Mr. Justice Bargrave Deane, addressing the jury, said: "The parties have agreed as to damages. The co-respondent is prepared to pay the amount, and the petitioner is satisfied to receive the sum. If there were something behind the arrangement I should tell you not to listen to it, but in this case, as far as I can see, there is nothing objectionable. Capt. Morrison practically bought this woman for $27,500.
