London's Bridges.

When the population of London was well over a million and its houses lay for miles on each side of the river it was apparently well content with the one London Bridge. At length, in 1734, Westminster was seized with the desire to have a bridge of its own. Application was made to Parliament for powers, only to encounter the fiercest opposition from the city, the forty thousand watermen, the inhabitants of Southwark, and the West Country barges men, all of whom implored the [illegible] to protect them against this new enemy. The result was that the bridge was not built till 1750. Blackfriars, at first called Pitt's Bridge, was finished in 1769 at a cost of two hundred and sixty thousand pounds, defrayed by tolls. Waterloo was opened on the second anniversary of the famous battle with great pomp by the Prince Regent in person, accompanied by his royal brother, the Duke of York, the Duke of Wellington, and many other distinguished persons.—Family Herald.

Poison Gas.

Ages before poison gas was used in warfare, a tiny British beetle, known as the brachinus crepitans, used a similar device to confound its enemies. When pursued by bigger beetles this little creature ejects a peculiar fluid which, on coming in contact with the atmosphere, bursts into a pale blue-green flame, following a kind of smoke, intensely irritating and poisonous. The common name of this poison, gas-emitting insect is the bombardier beetle, and it is plentiful about Gravesend, England.

HOCKEY.

Last Thursday evening Milton visited Acton and lost 3 to 4. The game was very fast, there was a tie at the end of full time, making ten minutes overtime a necessity. The Milton line-up: F. Barnett, goal; E. King and D. Brush, defence; Roy Chisholm, centre; L. Chisholm, right wing and J. Hill, left wing. J. Kentner, sub. Barnett's play in goal was the feature of the game. L. Chisholm had his boot cut through and a toe wounded by a skate.

Acton's new rink is pronounced the best in the county for hockey. It will be covered before next winter.

The local fans saw our team in action at home for the first time on Tuesday evening, in a game with Port Credit, and were greatly pleased. The Milton line-up was the same as at Acton, except that J. Kentner was at right wing, replacing L. Chisholm, whose foot was cut at Acton. The game was very fast considering the softness of the ice. Milton won 11 to 2.

There will be a senior hockey match at the rink on Saturday, at 8 p.m., Georgetown vs. Milton.

cases called it dandruff. So a recent canvass showed. The other 72 cases of infectious dandruff responded to treatment—of course. They were cases where a person had stubbed some slight injury, a cut, a scratch, a wire prick, and where the wound, being thought too obvious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood poisoning and death resulted.

When you treat your children against any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood poisoning, etc. Hence no more need to be in fear or worry or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. This fine home will be sold, and if you can get a house with an up-to-date bath room with the most expensive fixtures, instead of a cheap affair, why not have it? If you can have a house with a fine mahogany mantle with onyx facings, instead of an ordinary brick fire place, why not have it? If you can get a house with a new nine foot veranda, instead of an ordinary porch, why not have it? If you can get a house with beautiful leaded lighted colored glass porches at both front doors, instead of ordinary storm doors, why not have it? If you can get a house with cement walks running to every door—they cost money—why not have it? If you can get a garden with good apple, pear, plum and cherry trees, instead of a vacant lot, why not have it? If you can get a property with fine large double garage facing on side street, the rent of which will at least pay the interest on one thousand dollars, why not have it? If you can get a house with electric lights with good fixtures in every room, including cellar and garage, why not have it? In other words, if you can get a house with all modern improvements, inside and out, in perfect state of repair, don't put your money into something that requires a lot of attention, fixing over or repairs, for they sure cost money now-a-days.

This house is situated on one of the best corners in the town and amongst a lot of the best neighbors in the world. The home will be open for inspection on the day of sale and on the afternoon of the day before.
