The Canadian Champion
MILTON, Aug. 7, 1913.

Though some Liberal newspapers object, the Globe insists that the party in Ontario will stick to Rowell and his "Banish the Bar" policy.

There will be a convention at Toronto before long of representatives of county councils. They will consider and discuss railway taxation. It is expected that all the county councils will be represented. The verdict and recommendations of the convention should get results if the railways do not own this country, as it sometimes seems that they do. The railway mileage of Wisconsin is less than that of Ontario, but railways pay $3,604,000 there, nearly four times as much as Ontario gets from them.

Jockeys were suspended for crooked work and owners were suspected of it at recent Canadian race meetings. Horseracing reeks with rascality everywhere. The explanation is the betting, without which, its promoters say, the "sport of kings" cannot live.

Baseball is a clean sport because betting on baseball grounds is prohibited by all the professional leagues. Anyone caught at it is expelled. With betting eliminated there is no tampering with players by gamblers. Players are sometimes fined and suspended, but not for crookedness, of which they are never suspected. Owners of baseball franchises have to pay high salaries and other heavy expenses, without any rake-off from gambling, but as a rule they make money. Many of the players save their salaries and go into business, professions or farming when they retire from the diamond. Many of them prosper. On the other hand few make money out of horse racing and thousands are ruined by it yearly, financially and morally.

The contrast in methods and results carries a moral.

A Liberal Organ's Views.

Windsor Record (Liberal)

Certain Liberal newspapers and members of that party throughout the province are asking that Mr. Rowell either resign the leadership of his party or else drop the "Abolish-the-bar" plank from his platform.

It is true that this policy was never brought out by the Liberal party as a whole that when the Opposition in the Legislature met to discuss the subject there was no agreement; that a committee of five avowed advocates of prohibition, who happened to be Liberal members of the Legislature, drafted a temperance plank, had it put through the caucus and adopted as the policy of the party in this province. The party as a whole was never consulted.

When the policy was announced the Record could not see its way clear to endorse it. It thinks the party to the left of the Speaker in the House made a serious error in taking the course it did.

However, since Mr. Rowell and a few of his followers have committed the Liberal party to a radical temperance policy, perhaps it would be better for the party to stand by its guns and fight out the issue at the next general election.

It is safe to say the Liberals will be beaten, and beaten badly, and then they will know where they 'get off at.'

This would purify matters and clear the atmosphere.

There never was a better chance to test the temperance element and see where the extremists stand.

When beaten the Liberal party will be in a position to throw off for ever the millstone of the Dominion Alliance and proceed with the real policies of Liberalism.

The Record continues to think that the license system is the proper policy for this province.

The most practical solution to the issue is the proper enforcement of the present license regulations; rigid inspection of liquors; higher licenses and graded licenses, separating roadhouses from hard inconsistants; non-partisan temperance men chosen as license inspectors and commissioners.

The principal thing is to find the right class of licensees and make them keep to rules.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

On Thursday afternoon Wm. Tindall, Geo. Lees, Russell Hare, Jas. Robbins, Henry Hilson, Frank Newell, James Hamilton, David Wilson and Matt. Hilson appeared before R. J. Campbell, J.P., charged by Chief Constable Chapman with having a disturbance and using bad language at the corner of the side highway nearly opposite Robertson's lime kilns in Nassagaweya on the evening of the 26th ult. Crown Attorney Dick was counsel for the prosecution and Mr. Sloan, of Hamilton, for defence. Constable Chapman and his assistant specials, John McIntosh, Calvin Fleming and W. Kennedy, who handled the carousal as reported in the Champion last week, all swore to the disturbance and the bad language, also to finding a tenga on keg of porter, on tap, on the spot. One man was dead drunk. Lighted sulphur matches were held under his nose with no effect. The charge was admitted except the bad language. Mr. Sloan put two of the defendants, Lees and Newell, into the box for the defence. They swore they heard no bad language. Cross-examined by Mr. Dick, both swore they did not know whence the porter came nor did they know who had given it to the men they drank it from a dipper which was passed around. There was no evidence that Matt. Hilson was with the gang. The other eight defendants were fined $5 and costs each. Pay-settling the total was $54.34.

Another Nassagaweya case was tried by Mr. Campbell on Saturday, on the complaint of Mrs. Matilda Beers, a neighbor. Fred Rutter, of Campbellville, was charged with beating his wife. Rutter is an Englishman, aged about 28. He and his wife said he sailed from Liverpool on 3rd inst. she on 10th February last and that they were married at Toronto on 3rd March. Mrs. Bonas and her daughter both swore that they heard Mrs. Rutter screaming and crying in the Rutter house. Rutter was arrested on the 28th ult. by Chief Constable Chapman. Though cautioned, he told the constable on the way to Milton that his wife was Irish and the more he beat her the better she liked him. In this case he had merely taken hold of her arm and slapped her face. Did not hurt her much. The woman was sworn for defence. She said she had aggravated her husband and thrown saucer of milk on him. He slapped her face, but she was not hurt much. As Rutter had been in jail from Monday he was let off on suspended sentence on paying the costs, $13.00.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

The story of the slugging and robbing of the night clerk of the Hotel Brant, Burlington, last Thursday morning, reported in the Champion last week, turned out to be a fake. It was the man himself who was suspected. He is Fred Clish, aged about 30 and two years out from England. Detective Reburn, of Toronto, put him through the "third degree" on Thursday evening. He stuck to his story for some time, but finally weakened, confessed to Mrs. Coleman, wife of the manager of the hotel, took her to where he had buried the money, $1450, dug it up and gave it to her, every dollar of it. It was wrapped in a handkerchief. Clish was brought to jail here. On Monday he appeared before R. J. Campbell, J.P., pleaded guilty, and explained that after the owner of the money, Chas. Harris, of Chicago, had given it into his charge he had stumbled and fallen down the stairs of the hotel kitchen, that he was stunned for a while and that on recovering it struck him that the bruise on his head would enable him to appropriate the money by telling the story which he had told. He went out, buried the money, then lay down where he was found, and when found pretended to be insensible for a time. He was tempted to the crime as he was hard up, his wife having been confined lately. He was committed for trial and was arraigned before Deputy Judge Elliott on Tuesday morning. He elected to be tried by the Judge and pleaded guilty. The Crown Attorney told the Judge the story of the theft and added that he had received a letter from the Y.M.C.A. of Toronto, stating that Clish had been connected with it and had borne a good character. A. B. Coleman had also written, expressing confidence in Clish and readiness to re-employ him on release. The Judge told Clish that his crime was serious. A sentence of as much as 14 years' imprisonment might be imposed, but the courts sought to reform rather than to punish severely. As all the money had been recovered and taking into consideration the certificates of good character and the fact that the offence was Clish's first, with that of his wife and helpless little children depending on him for support, sentence would be suspended. Clish was warned that a second offence would result in the imposition of the sentence for the first and that he would be required to report twice a year to the Crown Attorney. His employer would be asked to report also, on Clish's behaviour. Clish was greatly relieved, thanked the Judge and left with his wife and two little children, who were in court. Before the Judge the Crown Attorney then handed Mr. Harris his money. Though that gentleman had lost time and been put to a good deal of trouble through the theft, he had been good enough, on learning of the circumstances of Mrs. Clish, to hand her $2 on Saturday and $5 before the opening of the court.

OBITUARIES.

MRS. WM. CARTWRIGHT.

By the death of Mrs. William Cartwright the township of Nelson loses one of its oldest inhabitants. The late Mrs. Cartwright, whose maiden name was Masson, was born in Scotland in February, 1829, and died July 18, 1913, aged 84 years and six months. The family emigrated to Canada in 1843, and settled in the township of Nelson. She was the eldest of a family of six daughters and one son, James, afterwards for over fifty years a minister of the Methodist Church. In 1847 she married William Cartwright, by whom she had a family of five boys and five girls. Four of those, two sons and two daughters, died before their mother, and three sons, James, Alfred and John, and three daughters, Mrs. Thos. Wilson, Mrs. Philip Walker and Mrs. Wm. Stevenson, are left to mourn her loss. In 1854 she and her husband settles on the Cartwright farm, where she resided until within about five weeks of her death. Her husband died in 1889, and for the remaining twenty-four years of her life she remained a widow. Mrs. Cartwright was a woman of a strong and vigorous frame and took a full share with her husband in the toils of a pioneer farm, working out in the fields as well as in the house. In early years she joined the Methodist Church and was a faithful member of that denomination until her death. A large concourse of relatives and friends gathered on Monday, July 21st, to pay their last tribute of respect to one who by her exemplary life and kindness of disposition had endeared herself to all who knew her. The funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. E. J. Kaye, B.A., and her remains were taken and laid in their last resting place in the Methodist Cemetery at Nelson. Mrs. Cartwright was a good citizen, a faithful wife, a loving and judicious mother, and earth is poorer and heaven richer by her decease.

WILLIAM MCLEOD.

William McLeod died at his home at Georgetown on Tuesday, aged 74 years. For many years he was one of Halton's most prominent men, and Georgetown's leading citizens. He began business in that village in the 60's as a partner of the late Frank Barclay, and on the retirement of that gentleman from the firm continued in that of McLeod Anderson & Co. He was Reeve of Georgetown for many years and an ex-Warden of the county. About twenty years ago he was the Liberal candidate for the county and was defeated by David Henderson, M. P.

DR. R. H. BIGGER.

Robert Henry Bigger, M. D., died suddenly on Sunday, July 27th, at Los Angeles, Cal., in his 77th year. He was born near Omagh, and was a son of the late Richard Bigger. He graduated in medicine about fifty years ago, practiced for some time at Hall's Corners and later, in the 70's, in Milton. From Milton he removed to Indianapolis. He was a prominent Mason, a Past Master. He was a charter member of Milton Lodge, No. 92, I. O. O. F. He was married in Milton about 1860 to Emily Culloden, who died a few years ago. His eldest son, Richard, is a physician at Indianapolis and two married daughters live there. His eldest daughter is the wife of Rev. Canon Wm. Beavan, of Niagara Falls, Ont. Dr. Bigger visited Milton and Omagh occasionally up to about a year ago.

MISS MINNIE LINDSAY.

Miss Minnie Lindsay, daughter of Edward Lindsay, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Armstrong, Winnipeg, on July 9th. She was born in Milton and went to Winnipeg fourteen years ago. She had lived with her sister ever since. The following is clipped from the Winnipeg Free Press: "The funeral of Minnie Lindsay, who died July 9, took place Friday afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Armstrong, 485 Heatherington avenue, to Elmwood cemetery. There was a large turnout of friends, and a beautiful display of floral tributes, the bearers were four friends of deceased, Messrs. C. McIntyre, L. Gorman, G. McLean and R. Ormiston. Rev. J. Irvine Walker conducted the services at the residence, and Queen Esther Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., of which Miss Lindsay was a member, turned out in a large body and conducted their beautiful burial service at the grave side."

Baseball.

Milton played a Halton-Peel League game at Georgetown on Saturday and won, 17 to 6. Dewitt Galloway pitched well, holding to the hard-hitting locals down to 7 hits. In the second inning two were made after he had fanned two batters and one had got a hite through an error, two runs scoring. In the fourth, a walk, an error and three hits accounted for four runs. The Miltonians hit Tost hard. They scored two runs off him in the second on three hits and a walk, no errors. Three hits were bunched, with a walk, an error and a wild pitch in the third and six runs were scored. What was done to Tost in the eighth was a shame. Winn and D. Galloway singled, Kennedy was hit by a pitched ball and the bases were filled. Ryder cleared them with a terrific smash to left for a homer, and five more were added on two hits, a walk and three errors. W. Galloway made a good catch of a fast liner, Maude scooped one off his shoe tops, after a long run, and Smith started a double-play by gathering in a short fly behind second, from Arnold's bat. The hit looked safe and Tost had run from first to second, where Ryder touched him out on Smith's return.

Home run, Ryder. Two-base hits, Toleska, D. Galloway 2, Tost 2. Stolen bases, Maude, Smith, Kercher 2, Tuck, Sheley, Clark. Struck out, by Tost, 8, by Galloway, 7. Bases on balls, off Tost 4, off Galloway 2. Hit by pitched ball, by Tost, Kennedy, by Galloway, Clark. Wild pitches, Tost 2. Double plays, Tuck to Sheley; Smith to Ryder. Left on bases, Milton, 3; Georgetown 5. Umpires, W. Sheley and J. B. Armstrong.

No rooters accompanied the Miltonians, but there was a noisy bunch for Georgetown. They crowded up, almost to the coachers' lines, where they had no right to be, and tried to rattle Galloway by their racket and uncomplimentary remarks. They got hoarse without results. Galloway did not weaken worth a cent. Finally Ryder's homer struck them dumb they went away back and sat down.

Milton and Georgetown are now tied for the championship of the League, with three wins and two losses each, and our boys are sanguine that they will win it. They will play Acton at Acton next Saturday and Georgetown here a week later. These games will be interesting and should draw large crowds. As Brampton has dropped out of the League, the games played by them in the beginning out the season are not counted.

Fred Tizard, of Oakville, was playing for Palermo against Freeman at Burlington. In making a slide for second base his spike caught the stationary bag with such force that one of the bones of his leg was broken below the knee.

Inquests.

At Moffat, on Friday the Coroner's jury brought in the following verdict: "We find that John Henry Donaven was accidentally killed at Moffat station by a Canadian Pacific railway train on July 25, and that his wife, Pearl Donaven, was injured at the same time, and died, as the result of such injury about nine hours afterwards. We also recommend that the crossing be protected by an electric bell at once."

On the same day, at Guelph Junction, the inquest on the killing of the boy Charles Christie, on 26th ult., was adjourned to the 15th inst. for evidence of the conductor of the passenger train, which ran over the boy and that of the other Hamilton boy who crossed behind the moving train when Christie tried to do so and was caught.

DID HIS DUTY

How the King, When a Prince, Deferred to Discipline

Presiding at a meeting at Devonshire House in connection with the "Duty and Discipline" movement, the Earl of Meath said: "We have in the King one who recognizes the meaning of the words 'duty' and 'discipline.'"

On one occasion, said the Earl, the King, then a Prince and naval officer, arrived at Gibraltar, and rowed for an hour and a half in the teeth of a gale in order to pay respect to a senior officer.

On another occasion an order was given to the Prince to run out a torpedo-boat when he much desired to attend Goodwood Races. His senior officer suggested that perhaps the Prince could arrange with someone else to take his place. "No," he replied. "If it is the same to you, sir, I would rather do my duty."

The object of the Duty and Discipline movement is to bring home to parents and teachers the danger of allowing children to grow up without control.

Collapsible Tubes For Butter

They want butter in collapsible tubes in India. The heat is so intense there that it is almost impossible to pack butter in tubs or tins, as it is fluid almost from the moment it is made. Then again, it spoils rapidly when exposed to the hot, moist air. This seriously retarded the efforts of the Government to stimulate the dairy industry. So the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence opened negotiations with the makers of machinery for the manufacture and filling of such tubes as are used for oil-paints, vaseline and tooth pastes. One of those manufacturers says the tubes would have to be made of pure tin, as the volatile fatty acids of the butter would act upon lead and copper and form poisons. And such parts of the filling machines as are now made of copper would have to be of porcelain.

New Zealand cattle raisers have found that the meat of dressed calves retains its flavor better when exported long distances if the skins be left on until ready for market.

Sugar For Wounds

Sugar has been added to the list of antiseptic and aseptic dressings, and we are told it not merely preserves the cells, but furnishes a nutrient element for them.
