Future of the Live Stock Industry.

Hopefulness and confidence in the future were the noticeable features at all the live stock meetings last winter, and they were general throughout the country. United with the optimism expressed was the urgent call to the farmer to breed better, or as well as possible and to breed true to type. Not alone the Dominion Department of Agriculture, but also the various provincial departments, are engaged in active efforts to place pure-bred animals at the disposal of farmers generally. Thus there is little excuse for breeding to scrubs and seventeenth degree mongrels. The wise farmer will take care that the cattle he uses are not only true in pedigree but are good in conformation, sound in health and free from possibility of hereditary defects.

At all times it behooves farmer to see that things are well with their live stock, but there never was a period when Canadians were more earnestly summoned to do them utmost in this respect. In a comparatively short time we looked by years, probably before the cattle begotten this year come to early maturity, there is going to be a universal demand for live stock of every description, but especially for the bacon. The nations at present at war will be very tired of eating canned and dried stuff and will demand fresh meat, and as for dairy cattle, there is no end to the demand for milk owing to the great amount of cheese required, and the needs of the day most of us agree, be very far short of what they will be when declarations of peace are signed. On the manner of cattle we breed now will depend our success and profit not alone then but always.

Live stock breeding is a branch of production that, following the bounteous harvest of last year is naturally prominent in the agriculturist mind. Taken in conjunction with fruitful fields successfully wrested and thrift carried out it means untold prosperity to the country. It means money to the farmer and benefit to the soil. It means help to Britain and her allies. In short it means profit all round. The main things needed to bring the event are to breed to the available best to pay every possible respect to health and sanitation, to hold on to producing cows, to give every good calf a chance, to bear in mind as a saving service that the cheapest is cone frequently than not the dearest in the long run, and to remember that Canada's reputation as a producing country will be particularly at stake in the coming shipments after the war.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

GRUMBLE DOESN'T CURE

People See Too Many Wrongs to Right Any

In these days there are innumerable things that go wrong. They have to be borne, but one's suffering is often rendered all the more acute by the person who informs one that all these things might be set right in the twinkling of an eye if people were only sensible or as energetic as himself. There is undoubtedly a great deal wrong that we shall be remarkably foolish to let have the chance of ever going wrong again. We have to see that they are right in future. But the wholesale grumbler and obstructive individual is not the person who will bring about that happy result. He simply scatters irritation and disgust around and there his activity ends. He exhausts all the energy he had in the process.

"I feel safer," once said a newly wedded wife to John Strange Winter, "that our hero will be a real model in time." Her eyes glistened with expectation of that happy time. "John," that was her husband, "is wonderful at finding out what's wrong—wonderful!"

I could not help sighing when I heard that remarked John Strange Winter, for I knew that kind of man. The man with an eye for everything wrong. It turned out just as I feared. John was so perplexed and worried with such a multiplicity of wrongs that he had no time to help her to put a single one of them right. And there was not happy ever after. John became a chronic dyspeptic that was all. There are plenty of folk of his kind.

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered too much to continue. How she regained health:—

Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do my own work, had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

NEW BLIND MAN'S BUFF

Here is a new way of playing Blind Man's Buff, which is exactly seven times as exciting as the old way. One of the players is blindfolded, and the rest of the company told that after a given signal each one is allowed to take only seven steps in escaping from the blind man. Before the signal is given, however, each person can take up any position in the room where he or she thinks they are safe from being touched by the blind man. In corners, behind curtains, chairs, the piano, under the table, and so on, are all legitimate hiding places, but no one may stand on a chair or table.

The seven steps are used for escaping when the blind man is likely to discover you. It is a thrilling moment to feel him or see him fumbling round your retreat, but maddening to waste one of your precious steps unless in positive danger. When it comes to such close quarters people will dodge, duck, sway this way or that, in fact, do everything except take an actual step, and when they are compelled to do so they take as big a one as possible. After the seven steps are taken by any one then he or she must remain still, and if the blind man approaches them take their chances of being caught.

Easy Marks in Ontario

There are still real estate easy marks in the East, despite all the stringency of war-time and the revelations that have been made regarding sub-division booming. We read in the Peace River Record of how steps are being taken to put an end to the operations of a man who is selling lots five miles from that town at $150 apiece to Ontario buyers. The new town of the north is wise to make the effort. It isn't to blame for what unscrupulous salesmen do with property in its vicinity, but experience goes to show that the unreasoning investing public blames these wildcat schemes on the town advertised in connection with them. Peace River has a fine future, but it has not reached the stage when anyone is justified in purchasing property five miles from its centre as a city lot.—Edmonton Journal.

ONTARIO PRODUCES MOST GRAIN CROP TOTALS

Grain Yields of Old Province Make Canada Prosperous—Many Ten-Acre Fields Count Up

The agricultural supremacy of Western Canada is strongly challenged by Dr. George C. Creelman, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, wherever the head of the Guelph institution goes. His remarks are interesting to the firmest believer in the west and also to the banking interests of the country. "They may talk as they like of the importance of the west but let Ontario have a real crop failure for just once, and the bankers and financial men and manufacturers and the whole country will learn for good that Ontario is still the backbone of the Dominion," says Dr. Creelman. "Something is a half-crop in Ontario every year, but the other crops save the day. Even in grain production Ontario leads and will continue to lead all four western provinces put together."

Mixed Farming is Sacred

Dr. Creelman insists that mixed or diversified, as he calls it, farming puts Ontario in front. "There cannot be a complete failure of Ontario's crops, even of her grain crop. Her situation, almost surrounded by great lakes and rivers assures a sufficiency of moisture over a large portion of her southern peninsula and this precludes the possibility of anything like a total failure. Her eggs are not all in one basket less and less so each year. Addressing the members of the Provincial Legislature the president of the Provincial College of Agriculture issued a special warning against being stampeded by the talk of bankers about the West and good times.

Why One Beats Fou

"The bankers and transportation interests begin to rejoice whenever the crop reports from the West are good," he said. "But remember that good times for the majority of Canadians and for the Dominion as a whole are not dependent upon the West any more than half as much as upon Old Man Ontario's crops. In amount and value Ontario's grain crop is greater than the combined production of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. The figures tell the tale and diversity of products are the secret. Do not let them fool you into believing that their bank deposits depend upon the West but upon the profits and savings of thrifty, canny old Ontario and her enormous number of small, well-worked farms. In the aggregate the ten-acre grain fields of Western Ontario and the St. Lawrence Valley excel and will long continue to excel the prairies in quantity of grain product and outdistance the west in total quantity and value of all farm products."

MASTER OF PITCHERS

Fielder Jones Who Used Derrick at Right Time

Fielder Jones' success as a manager seems to have come through his amazing skill in handling his pitchers. Through some power that is foreign to other team leaders Jones knows just when to work a moundsman and when to leave him on the bench. Frequently he yanks hurlers when there seems to be no occasion for it. At other times he permits his flingers to remain in the box when it seems like baseball suicide. Yet, in almost every instance, the judgment of Jones has been sustained by later developments.

The hardest problem for a baseball pilot to solve comes when his pitcher is being bombarded by the enemy's bats. Should he yank the pitcher—or should he permit him to stay? Will the hurler weather the storm—or will he founder? Other managers have to guess. But Jones knows. Oftentimes Jones has derricked hurlers who seemed to be pitching faultlessly, simply because he felt a "slip" coming on. Instinct told him that the pitcher had gone as far as he could at a perfect pace—that in the next inning or two he was due for a lamming. This wonderful way of handling pitchers enabled Jones to lift the "hitless wonders" of 1906 to the crest of the baseball world; and to keep his White Sox team in the fight always. It made it possible for him to lead his St. Louis Feds to within one point of the championship in 1915.

THE BLESSING OF A HEALTHY BODY

Has Not Had An Hour's Sickness Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MR. MARRIOTT

73 Lees Ave., Ottawa, Ont., August 9th, 1915.

"I think it my duty to tell you what "Fruit-a-tives" has done for me. Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of "Fruit-a-tives", I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 2½ years past, I have taken them regularly and would not change for anything. I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using "Fruit-a-tives", and I know now what I haven't known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain".

Peculiar Justice.

Dear Mr. Editor,

In looking through the recent newspaper reports of police court proceedings in Hamilton for another purpose, I find two cases which considered together are suggestive. (1) A man is fined $20 for brutally ill-treating his stepson, a boy of seven. (2) A man is fined $200 for selling liquor without a license. The first is a detestable crime, the other merely a non-compliance with fiscal laws. I am not reflecting on the magistrate; for he simply administered the law as he was bound to. It only shows with how little wisdom the world is governed, that the breach of a fiscal law should be penalized ten times as much as a brutal crime, and it shows also that our courts of law are not necessarily courts of justice.

Daylight Saving a Difficulty.

To the Editor.

Sir,—This is an age of progress and the order to put forward our clocks is the greatest daylight saving measure since the time of Joshua. But please tell me how it effects the Sabbath. Moses fixed the Sabbath at from sunset on Friday to sunset on Saturday. When Sabbath observance first began amongst Christians three or four hundred years ago it was fixed at from midnight on Saturday to midnight on Sunday. It will now run from 11 p.m. on Saturday to 11 p.m. on Sunday. Suppose that if in that altered hour I go and dig in my garden, shall I be liable to prosecution by those worthy people who call themselves the "Lord's Day Alliance"? It is true that I am not accustomed to dig then, but people less pious than I might feel impelled to do so, even that it is forbidden. Who shall we appeal to—the mayor, or the pastor of our church? Suppose they differ in opinion is Milton then to endure a conflict between the Temperal and Spiritual powers such as that which convulsed Europe in the middle ages? Explain to me, Mr. Editor, for I am

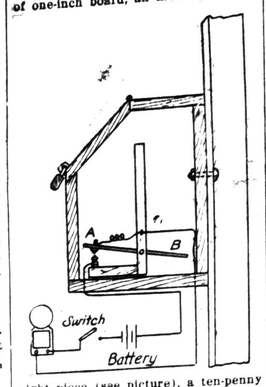
HOW TO FIX MAIL BELL AND SAVE YOUR STEPS

A Novel Experiment Which Will Save Many Useless Walks—A Pastime For Boys

There is no convenience any greater for the housewife than a front porch mail box. And here's an attachment which any boy would find fun in making, that makes the box even more convenient. Whenever mail is dropped in the box, a bell in the house is rung. The device saves many a useless step to see whether the mail has come.

You can modify the following directions to fit your own mail box, or if you have no box, you can easily make one of a few pieces of wood, following the hints in the accompanying picture.

You will need a small square piece of one-inch board, an inch square upright piece (see picture), a ten-penny wire nail, two short iron bolts, three or four double-headed tacks and a piece of wood (AB) one-half an inch square and cut to suit the size of the box. A battery, 30 cents; a two-point switch, 15 cents and an electric bell.



How it Works

To construct the contact maker in the box, nail the upright to the flat board used for a base. Find the middle of the piece (AB) and drill a nice smooth hole through it just large enough to receive loosely the tenpenny nail. Drive the nail through the upright piece carefully or drill a small hole through so the nail will fit tight. Now place the two bolts with the ends of the wire under each as shown. Weight the end (B) of the lever (AB) with strips of tin or pieces of solder so that the end at (B) is just the least bit heavier than at (A). Attach the wires as shown with staples and run them out of the box and attach them to wires running to the house.

When mail is thrown into the box, its weight causes the bolt contacts to touch each other and with the switch at the house closed the bell rings.

HOUSEBREAKER OR BURGLAR

Do You Know the Difference Between Them?

To most people a "housebreaker" means just the same as a "burglar," but in law the two terms are very different. If a man wants to be a good old-fashioned burglar he must break into a house at any time between 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. If he breaks in outside these hours, then he becomes a housebreaker. Bill Sikes appreciates the difference in the terms. He would rather be a housebreaker than a burglar, because that is regarded as a less serious crime, and consequently carries a lighter sentence. It is worth while knowing that, if you catch a burglar in the act, you mustn't shoot him except in self-defence; while if he gives in, you mustn't let him go on the condition that he returns the "swag." If you do you will be breaking the law yourself.

A Deadly Industry

One of the most deadly callings, and one of which very little is known, is that of the workers in champagne cellars. The work, which is light, and without any obvious elements of risk to health, consists in turning over the botles of champagne so that the wine may be clear and transparent and absolutely free from sediment. The men who do this work spend eight or ten hours a day in the dark wine cellars turning over bottles by the thousand. This monotonous duty they discharge day after day in semi-darkness, in a high temperature, unhealthy atmosphere, and absolute solitude. These combined conditions affect the nerves and health of the workers so seriously that few of them can continue at their posts until middle age.

Overheated pipes during cold spells are the cause of numerous fires.

In the United Kingdom there are more than 1,700 building societies.

Points to Consider When Purchasing a Railway Ticket.

A Canadian Pacific Railway ticket does not represent merely a means of transportation between given points. It, in addition provides the traveller with every comfort and convenience, developed by modern railway science, "Safety First," with up-to-date equipment, unexcelled dining car service, palatial sleeping cars, in a word, everything that a railway can provide for the comfortable transportation of its passengers, including courtesy.
