FRANK KING KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR GEORGETOWN.

A fatal auto accident occurred on seventh line, Esquesing, on Saturday last about 7 p.m., when a car driven by Fred King, of Georgetown, crashed into a tree at the foot of the embankment opposite Mrs. F. Ruddell's home.

Frank King was instantly killed and Wm. Tuck, who was seriously injured, was rushed to Guelph General Hospital, where he is recovering.

The two other occupants of the car, Paul Hostetler and Fred King, who was driving, escaped with minor injuries.

Chief Marshall, of Georgetown, and Provincial Constable Cookman, of Milton, were at the scene shortly after the accident and the body of Frank King was removed to McClure's undertaking parlors, where an inquest was called on Monday evening by Coroner Dr. H. A. McColland Crown Attorney Dick, of Milton. After the jurors had viewed the body the inquest was adjourned to Tuesday next, Sept. 10, at 8 p.m., in the town hall, Georgetown.

The late Frank King is survived by his widow and four children.

Fred King, driver of the car, appeared before W. J. McClenahan, J.P., and E. Syer, J.P., here on Tuesday on a charge of criminal negligence. He was remanded to Wednesday next, Sept. 11, and released on bail of $3,000.

BASEBALL.

In its report of the final baseball game of the series between Milton and Dundas, played in Guelph recently, when Dundas won 4 to 3, the Guelph Mercury had the following to say about Barney Marsh, Milton's clever twirler: "Chief interest centered in the pitching. Marsh, Milton's youthful ace, and Morden, the Dundas veteran, engaged in a real battle. Marsh wasn't weak. He restricted the winners to nine well-scattered hits. All told, Marsh has not a thing to be ashamed of, in fact his twirling was more effective than that of the opposing flinger. His showing is really remarkable, since it was the sixth game he had pitched for Milton in two weeks.

A number of baseball fans from Milton motored to Oakville yesterday afternoon, where they saw Dundas defeat Niagara Falls 11 to 3 in the third game of the O.B.A.A. semi final playoff round.

A MODEST HEROINE.

Charming Story About the Lady With the Lamp

A charming story is told about the modesty of Florence Nightingale, "The Lady with the Lamp," who had to travel to come home on a warship and had travelled under another name to avoid public enthusiasm, walked into her father's house in Derbyshire one day she expected. Such was her return from the Crimea, when she was the heroine of the nation.

That modesty never left her. At 82 she was visited by a man who had been in India, and the talk turned to irrigation, sanitation, and military hospitals.

Suddenly it must have occurred to her that it might seem strange for an old lady to talk of such matters, and she said simply: "I used to see a good deal of soldiers at one time; I nursed a good many of them in the Crimean War."

All the world knew it, but she was too humble to believe that.

Synthetic Heart.

Before the Nova Scotia Institute of Science, Dr. O. S. Gibbs, professor of pharmacology at Dalhousie University, performed a remarkable, indeed operation, during which he removed the heart from a cat and substituted a rubber heart operated by an electrically driven double pump. The cat revived and remained alive for nearly four hours.

Canadian medical men are confident that the discovery will have great scientific value and may be of immense benefit to humanity.

Dr. Gibbs emphasizes that there is no thought of attempting to test the rubber heart in the human body, nor has he any expectation that it will be utilized in the treatment of heart diseases. Its purpose is to aid medical research, particularly in the study of the effect of poisons on the [illegible]

REAL MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS.

Map-Makers In West Have 10,000 Foot Mountains to Scale.

In mapping the Dominion's mountainous districts, the surveyor, says the Canadian Bureau of Natural Resources, must be a mountain climber as well. In the broken areas of Western Canada, where elevations vary from foot-hills to peaks 11,000 feet or more above sea-level, survey for mapping purposes by the regular methods as used in level or nearly level country are practically impossible except for limited areas, and almost prohibitive owing to excessive cost. Some cheaper and more practical method of survey had to be discovered. Thus it was that, as early as 1886, Canada adopted and improved the system of photographic surveying for such regions.

In making use of this method it is necessary that all the portions of the areas to be surveyed must be seen from at least two points and photographs taken therefrom to cover the complete circuit of the horizon. In other words, every detail must be covered in at least two views. This means that many peaks must be climbed by the surveyor with his transit and camera, and the position and elevation of each established.

While taking the photographs the surveyor also observes certain prominent peaks or points which he considers will afterwards be easily identified in the photographs. At the same time he may ascertain the angle of elevation or depression of these points and carry on triangulation.

One survey party in Jasper National Park climbed 29 peaks in the course of their duties. Of these twelve were more than 10,000 feet above sea level, including Nikel peak (10,525 feet), Sunwepta peak (10,865 feet), and Poboktan peak (about 10,080 feet).

The people of Canada generally will applaud the firm and determined manner in which official Toronto dealt with the proposal of Communists to hold meetings in the Queen city. No quarter was given to the suggestion that these disturbers should be given opportunity to spill their venom. All "Reds" should be deported at once.

A truly patriotic country like Canada has no need for Red doctrine, and the quicker promoters are squelched the better.
