The Dr. promised to do everything possible and we are looking forward to seeing in the Government estimates this year an amount for Georgetown's new Post Office. KNOX CHURCH.

Rev. J. N. McFaul is preaching a series of sermons on "The Passion of Jesus," at the evening services in Knox Presbyterian Church. The first of the series, "His Betrayal and Crucifixion," was very ably delivered last Sunday evening. All should hear these discourses, which promise to be both instructive and very interesting.

The Y. P. S. meeting on Monday evening was arranged by the Open Night committee. After the preliminaries, Mrs. Yates gave a humorous reading and Marjorie Dawson rendered a very acceptable solo. Mr. Dewar's "Observation Contest" occupied the remainder of the evening, and a real test it was, consisting of 40 questions, containing the usual few sticklers which no one could answer.

The Ladies' Aid met in the school-room on Monday afternoon to make final arrangements for the Bazaar which is to be held on March 18.

The International Day of Prayer service is to be in the United Church school-room on Friday of this week at 3 o'clock.

Last week's meeting of the Y. W. A. was at the home of Miss Margaret Ford, Main street, and a very successful meeting is reported.

The Fancy-work committee will hold the shower for the bazaar at the home of the convener, Mrs. D. Crawford next Thursday afternoon.

The Dominion Parliament will meet on March 12th.
