Choristers all set for season

The Milton Choristers are inviting residents who love to sing to join the group in ushering in a new musical season.

This is the Choristers' 38th season, with rehearsals beginning September 5. The group's upcoming season will combine both classical and contemporary themes.

The playbill features Carols and Culture in December, the whimsical Silly Side of Singing on — of course — April 1 for April Fool's Day and wraps up with Bella Vivaldi in June.

The choir rehearses at Knox Presbyterian Church on Main Street every Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:45 p.m.

"I'm thrilled to be returning for a fifth season with the Choristers, who continuously look for new ways to stretch their vocal skill and knowledge to provide a high level of choral performance," said Sonja van de Hoef, director of the Choristers. "We're preparing for an exciting 38th season and will be collaborating with many wonderful musicians."

One such collaboration will be with the ensemble Arcady, which specializes in Baroque music.

In addition to the concerts, the Choristers will perform at other community events including the Christmas tree-lighting ceremony at Milton District Hospital.

Members also participate in workshops during the season to help improve their vocal technique.

For more information on becoming a member or about the upcoming season, call (905) 878-1632 or visit www.miltonchoristers.com.

Choir a great experience

Choristers' Christmas concert in December.

Children who perform with a choir reap a great many benefits, van de Hoef stressed, including learning how to work as part of a team and be well disciplined.

Building friendships is something that's always stressed within the Adoramus Children's Choir, van de Hoef said, and social events are planned monthly.

Children interested in joining the Angelus or Gloriana choirs can call van de Hoef at (905) 876-5994.

Teens wanting to book an audition or receive more information on the Cantabile choir can call Caruana at (905) 878-9932.
