Time for winter tires

It's not just the ice and snow on the road — your all-season tires start to lose traction when the temperatures reach 7°C (which is also when you can see your breath). Change to winter tires before snow begins to fall to help keep yourself safe... and avoid all the last-minute crowds trying to get theirs changed after the first winter storm.

Winter Tire Facts:

- ©Tires typically lose 1 PSI of pressure for every 5°C drop in temperature
- ©Driving with one tire on your vehicle under-inflated by 20% wastes about two weeks' worth of fuel per year
- ©All-season tires begin to lose grip below below 7°C

What is TPMS?

Tire Pressure Monitoring System is an electric system for monitoring your vehicle's tire pressure. TPMS provides drivers with a visual warning if a tire's pressure is low, alerting them to take action.

Why is tire pressure important?

Your tire's contact with the road is directly related to its air pressure. Driving on under-inflated tires can compromise:

- Stopping distance
- Fuel economy
- Tread wear and the life of your tire
- Ride handling and comfort
