SAVIS to hold Dec. 6 vigil in Milton

Fifty-one per cent of Canadian women will experience at least one incident of sexual or physical violence in their lifetime. One out three Canadian women will experience sexual assault in their adult lifetime.

Sexual Assault & Violence Intervention Services (SAVIS) of Halton's Acting Executive Director Sondos Parker said, "Violence against women is still reality in 2015. We are here to support all survivors and we continue to work hard to end violence against women."

While SAVIS of Halton provides services to all survivors of violence (women, men and members of the Trans community), anniversaries such as Dec. 6— when a man killed 14 female engineering students in an École Polytechnique classroom in Montreal in 1989— give people an opportunity to show their ongoing support to end gendered violence. This year SAVIS of Halton, will hold a vigil on Sunday, Dec. 6, 7 p.m. at St. Paul's United Church, Milton to commemorate murdered women and commit to continuing the work to end violence against women.

If you, or someone you know, needs information or support please call 905-825-3622, 877-268-8416, or the 24 Hour Support & Crisis Line at 905-875-1555. SAVIS offers free counseling for individuals, groups, and an extensive anti-violence/safety education program for businesses, agencies and community groups.
