TORONTO.

Special to THE TIMES.

TORONTO, March 30.

The vestry meeting of the Anglican Church, held last night, elected delegates to the Synod at Holy Trinity. The vestry sat until 11:30. In discussing a motion against ritualistic innovations in that church it ultimately appeared these had Episcopal sanction, and the motion was withdrawn.

The Post Office Department has issued a circular to clerks travelling on railways forbidding them to communicate to the public any intelligence of accidents or delays to trains.

There are symptoms of the early opening of navigation. The steamer Rothesay Castle today went out into the lake to test her engines. This is the first trip from Toronto of the season.

An order countermanding the sale of cavalry horses is expected from Home in a few days. Private letters also lead us to expect that the troops will not be removed, but that even more will be sent out.

Breadstuffs excited to-day. Wheat advanced three cents.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES.

Heavy Freshet in the Hudson at Albany.

ALBANY, N.Y., March 30.—There is a freshet in the river here, and in many places the water is over the docks. It has rained steadily since ten o'clock yesterday morning. The river is clear of ice at Troy. It is expected the ice here will break up and pass down the river during the day.

Four Steamboats on Fire.

ST. LOUIS, March 30.—Last evening a fire broke out on the steamer Ben. Johnson, and in fifteen minutes the Henry Atkins next above, and the Carrie R. Romltz and G. B. Allen below, were a mass of flames, and the entire upper works destroyed. Loss unknown at present.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

From Washington.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The Times' special says the committee on appropriation to-day authorized the chairman, Mr. Dawes, to report a resolution adjourning Congress on the 6th of April, a week from to-morrow. This is only possible in case the Tenure-of-Office Act difficulty is settled within the next two days. There is really some necessity for Congress to remain and enact certain measures of legislation, but the office pressure upon the time and patience of members is so severe that they would like to get rid of it by an adjournment.

The Tribune's special says the Conference Committee on the Tenure-of-Office Bill will be unable to reach an agreement.

Another Break in the Delaware and Hudson Canal.

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 30.—Fifty labourers passed through here this evening on their way to Cuddebackville, Orange county, where, last night, another break occurred in the Delaware and Hudson canal, 50 feet in depth and 200 feet in length.

The Dutchess and Columbus Railroad Damaged Extensively.

The damage to the Dutchess and Columbus Railroad from the storm is more extensive than at first reported. A portion of the foundation of the heavy bridge has given way, and there has been extensive land slides.

An Insane Man Kills his Wife and Two Children and Drowns Himself.

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—Mr. Blackstone, of the firm of Fueston & Blackstone, picture frame makers, on Monday morning killed his wife and two small children, literally chopping them to pieces, and then drowned himself. He was insane.

The Late Ex-Mayor Harper.

NEW YORK, March 30.—A meeting of book publishers was held at the store of Messrs. Appleton & Co. yesterday, at which resolutions of condolence with the family of the late ex-Mayor Harper were adopted, and it was resolved to attend his funeral in a body. The Common Council also adopted the same resolution.

NEW YORK, March 30.—James Harper's funeral took place this afternoon from St. Paul's Methodist Church, and was attended by an immense concourse of citizens, including members of the city government, merchants, bankers, authors, and publishers.

Railroad Accident.

CHICAGO, March 30.—A freight train of the Toledo P. & W. R.R. was thrown from a bridge near Eureka this morning. The engineer, D. W. Morgan, was killed, and the fireman seriously injured.

Danger of a Flood at Rochester and Albany.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 30.—There is danger of an extraordinary flood here and along the Genesee Valley.

ALBANY, March 30.—The ice is blocked above and below the city. Very little damage has as yet been done. The water is not remarkably high.

The ice in front of this city broke up and moved down stream this morning. The water is rising.

A MONSTER FISH LIZARD.

Some workmen while blasting rocks near New York, a few days since, displaced a large mass of "ammonite," in which was found a nondescript animal of the lizard species. It is thus described by a correspondent of the New York Sun:

It was not a lizard, nor a toad, nor a salamander, nor a fish, and yet it seemed to partake of all these in its organization, although the predominating nature was that of a genus of the batrachian reptiles known to naturalists as the Axolotl. The head was what is called a bullhead, very like a toad, to the "nape of the neck," as the vulgar tongue has it; and from that part to the end of the tail it was armed with nearly transparent scales as hard as a piece of horn, which they much resembled. It had four feet, and each foot had four webbed fingers.

Except that the body from the tail to the snout described the segment of a circle, when the animal was in repose it vastly resembled a crocodile; the tail extending eight inches from the body, and gradually tapering to a point. The belly was covered with large plates of the same substance as that of the back, but thinner and more delicate in texture and colour, being of a bright yellow. The top scales were of a burnt-sienna colour. The eyes were set in two caverns of horn, which protruded from the sides of the head as large as beans, and when the animal closed them, they were protected by a black heavy curtain impenetrable to mud or dust.

I got one of the men to lift the "critter" out of the well on the rock side. It took no apparent notice of anything, and a stick thrust close to its eyes had no effect upon this batrachian Axolotl which favoured so many other animals in its organization.

On the left side of the head, just at the back of the eye crypt, there was a group of fine, almost fern-like, feelers. The upper part of the arms was well packed with muscles, giving the impression of great power and agility. The extreme length from head to tail was precisely two feet, the tail being one third the length of the body.

The most remarkable fact, however, in connection with the animal was the discovery of the rudiments of a pair of wings, which were found upon the back, just above the shoulder. I have geological examples in the pterodactyls of flying lizards; but they were very different in form and organism from the one we are now passing under a descriptive diagnosis. This animal may have been the archetype of the pterodactyl. He certainly hints at flying, or why these rudimental wings so neatly tucked away under the epidermis and the scales? I know, too, that reptiles are found related to the batrachians on the one hand, and to the so-called sauroid fishes on the other, and there were gigantic batrachians in the most ancient days, before man, whose footprints the delicate wet sand has preserved in indelible portraits.

But this animal, which I call Axolotl-Batrachian, had no ancestor nor descendants that we know of. He must have lived in his hole—six feet two and a half inches long, by three and a quarter in depth—many thousands of years.

A WONDER FOR THE WORKSHOP.—Every mechanic should have ready at hand a box of Grace's Celebrated Salve, as it is a ready remedy for accidents, such as cuts, bruises, contused wounds, burns, scalds, poisoned skin and eruptions, caused by operations in the factory, dye-house or printing office. Only 25 cents a box.

OVER-EXERTION, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true way is to fortify the system with a permanent tonic like the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron), which gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

SAVE YOUR DOCTOR'S BILLS.—When Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will CURE coughs, colds, bleeding at the lungs, and arrest the fell destroyer, consumption, it does more than most physicians can do. The use of a single bottle, costing one dollar, will satisfy the incredulous that they need look no further for the required aid.

TOM THUMB ECLIPSED.—We read there has been a race between the New York showmen to obtain possession of one George Washington Nutt, who is said to be several inches shorter than General Tom Thumb, and that P. T. Barnum has succeeded in getting him for three years for $30,000, board and expenses. Is it not a great thing to be a small man! and is it not equally as great to have a medicine that can be depended upon for curing colds, rheumatism, burns, bruises, summer complaints, cholic, &c.; if so get at once a supply of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," at the nearest medicine dealer's for 25 cents.

EVERYBODY SAYS SO.—That is all who have either used the article themselves or witnessed its effects when used by others; all such, and they are only fit to judge, are unanimous in the opinion that "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy" is superior to anything of the kind heretofore or at present in use for coughs, colds, thick wind, and all diseases which affect the wind of horses. As a condition medicine it has no equal; there is nothing in it which can injure a horse whether sick or well—nor need the horse be kept from working while using it; it is just the article which all who own horses require, and which they should have constantly on hand. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hord and Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada.

THE WONDERS OF THE MICROSCOPE.—We understand it is through the agency of this marvel viewing instrument that Dr. Ayer has at length succeeded in finding the paludal miasm and determining its character. Of its effects we in this section have abundant evidence in the fever and ague which it alone produces when absorbed through the lungs into the blood. It has long been held to be a vapour, or something in the vapour of water from decayed and decaying vegetation. Under a great magnifying power, the doctor has found this vapour to contain distinct organisms or living bodies, corresponding precisely with those found in the blood of ague subjects. They are 13,000 times less than visible to the naked eye, but have distinct character and form. He thinks they are reproductive in decaying matter or in the blood, and hence their long continued life or the remote effects of them in the system. He maintains that they resemble in character the other fermentative poisons, or such as the virus of rabies or of a dead body, &c., all of which are known to reproduce themselves with great rapidity like yeast in moistened flour, so that the slightest quantity impregnates the whole mass. Yeast through a powerful magnifier is seen to be a forest of vegetation which grows, blossoms, and goes to seed in a short time. Miasm is not so distinctly vegetable, but has more the appearance of animal life, although its motions cannot be perfectly distinguished What the doctor claims to have settled is that it is an organic substance, and he has further found and embodied in his "ague cure" wha will destroy it.—Leader, St. Louis, Mo.

—A Boston photographer has taken a group that is rather unusual in these days. It was a photograph of four generations—ages as follows: eighty-two, fifty, twenty-three, and three.

RED RIVER SETTLEMENT.

To the Editor of the Leader.

SIR,—The imperfect knowledge in Canada of this isolated country at this, the most important period of its history, combined with the steps already taken by the Dominion Government, in their laudable object of wresting this fertile country from the domination of that monstrous incubus, the Hudson Bay Company, for colonization, induces me to write to you some information concerning the colony. First in order is the climate; and then the soil and its capabilities, the advantages over the Canadian backwoods for farming purposes, the facilities for stock raising, and lastly the desirability of a speedy opening of our communication with Lake Superior and Canada for emigration will engage attention. These notes on the climate are taken and corrected from my own journal for eight years, and the estimates are made for that period.

The severity of the winter is at times intense. On the first of January, 1864, the thermometer fell to 46°, and on the following day to 49° below zero; on the 9th of March, 1865, to 83° below zero. The next lowest range is 30° below zero. The present winter has been extraordinarily mild and pleasant; the lowest range has been 28° below zero. The depth of snow averages from 15 to 30 inches. Periodical thaws are unknown. We have light thaws, but not frequent. Rain has only fallen twice this winter. The spring opens for farming on the 15th of April, and navigation on the 28th. We have not much rain at this season. In the spring of 1863 the first rain fell on the 9th June, and in the following year not sooner than the 18th of June. These two summers were very dry. In July and August the thermometer will rise to 104° in the shade. Such excessive heat is generally accompanied by violent storms and thunder. In speaking of the extreme heat and cold it must be understood that there is a great deal of pleasant winterly weather between these severe frosts, and also fine, pleasant, cooling breezes in summer. We have generally light frosts in June, and fine growing showers during the summer season. Harvest commences on the 5th of August, and generally fine weather prevails during this period. The months of September, October, and part of November, are the pleasantest part of the year. Navigation closes on the 25th of October, and winter sets in on the 5th of November. The soil is an alluvial deposit, with a deep subsoil, and a rich tenacious clay, well adapted for growing all the cereals and vegetables, with moderate cultivation. In fact land on the Red River has grown good crops of wheat in succession for over twenty years, without manure, with the simple light ploughing and harrowing in the seed. The immediate vicinity of Fort Garry is not the most desirable location for the emigrant, owing to the limited quantity of land fit for cultivation. The surrounding country is more or less intersected with swamps, but of easy drainage. In its present state it is used for grazing and hay land. But there is a large tract of unoccupied land well fitted for cultivation between here and Pembina. On the river Assiniboine westward, Prairie La Portage to the Rideing Mountain and Fort Ellis is the country most fitted for settlement. Plenty of the richest of land, plenty of timber, and the best water privileges in the country are to be found there. The prairie has this advantage for the industrious man with a capital of one yoke of oxen and plough, with four months of provisions, commencing the first of June, he can break up 25 acres of land, secure his hay for the winter, and with the sum of £25 build a house and stable for his immediate wants. With this small capital, and with four months labour, he will have a farm to all intents and purposes equal to one which would require twelve years of hard toil in the back woods of Canada. In comparing these privileges with the early settler of 1855 in the Muskoka district, I would refer to the settler himself in that locality, on the subject. And, again, the advantage of plenty of the richest of pasture for his cattle is a boon which can be had in Canada only by many years of hard labour. This soil is of an interesting nature, soft and adhesive when wet, pulverizes when dry, never bakes hard with the sun under cultivation, and harrows as fine as the best cultivated gardens. It has one drawback, and it is this—the plough scarcely ever cleans itself. The capabilities of this endless prairie for raising crops cannot be doubted. After my ten years experience, besides information gleaned from reliable sources, I can only come to this irresistible conclusion, that, considering the system of cultivation adopted by the settlers, the beneficial results are astonishing. The ploughing is of a very inferior description and the harrowing still worse. The summer fallow has to be contented with one ploughing, and the farmer finds it more convenient to cast the manure from his stable down the banks of the river, to be carried away with the freshet than to haul it on the land. Under this present loose system of cultivation, we have very often splendid crops. I have not seen finer in Canada. Spring wheat will yield 20 to 35 bushels per acre; barley 25 to 40; oats 30 to 50; potatoes thrive exceedingly; roots can be raised in abundance. What are requisite for good farming here are a steel plough that will clean itself; and a grain drill that will put the grain deep enough in the ground in the dry spring sowing, so that the growth will be more uniform. The wheat is not subject to as many casualties as in Canada. There is very little mildew and smut, and no midge, weevel, &c. We have some noxious weeds, but the Canada thistle is confined to a few localities. However, we had the grasshopper plague last year in its worst form. Still although this country is in great want from the total destruction of the crops last summer by the grasshopper, and many are entirely dependent upon voluntary contributions being sent from Canada and other countries, there are many farmers who have been more provident than the rest in providing against such a calamity, and who are not really in want. Where land is so cheap and plenty, and so easily brought under cultivation, such wants as we are suffering under ought not to exist. What we want is an emigration that will provide for such a calamity, although one so direful might never occur again; for it is over forty years (only with some exceptions of minor account) since this country was visited to the same extent.

The advantages of a prairie farm are too apparent to need discussion, it being entirely clear of roots and stumps, while the comfort of cultivating it is such that it can only be obtained in the backwoods after many years of hard labour. Again, the boundless prairie is not unlike the ocean. The farmer can take his course without having his way to make, inch by inch, with his team at pleasure. We have no fruit, but wild fruit grows, such as strawberries, plums, and raspberries; and red and black currants grow well under cultivation. Winter apples might be raised from the seed, but to my knowledge they have not been tried.

In writing this letter I have had only one object in view, and that is to give an impartial description of this interesting country, and to place its character fairly before the Canadian reader.

I am, &c.,

CHARLES GARRATT.

ANNUAL CIRCULAR.

OTTAWA, March 5, 1869.

The subscriber, in this his Annual Circular would announce to his many friends to whom he is indebted for past preferences, that he continues to give his personal attendance at all Auction Sales of every description of goods confided to his management.

An experience of years in the Auction Business in all its details, in this city, and his individual knowledge of the leading professions, the mercantile community and citizens generally, is in itself a strong claim on the public.

Prompt settlements invariably accompany his Account Sales, and Statements made up in detail in a concise and business form.

The increasing popularity and great advantages of this mode of disposing of immovable property, especially in the case of Executors and Curators of Estates, Official and other Assignees, Public Corporations and Banks, are now fully recognized, as those interested are thereby relieved of the delicate responsibilities in such cases.

In the management of Sales of HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE at private residences, his system of selling, and the judicious and proper display of the articles, with an expeditious delivery, warrants him in soliciting future favours in this line, and would be glad to learn from parties contemplating "selling off" an early intimation, which will enable him to perfect satisfactory arrangements.

For the approaching Spring Sales it is desirable to select an early day.

Sales of FARM STOCK in the Country or elsewhere, also undertaken, and from his great success the past eight years, can fairly promise the farming community and others that their interests will be carefully looked after.

Sales of GROCERIES, HARDWARE, EARTHENWARE and GENERAL MARCHANDISE solicited. The Subscriber would remind his old friends of his ability to conduct such satisfactorily. He is confident of securing the favourable consideration of the Trade.

Underwriters' Sales of Damaged Goods or Sales of Produce for account of whom it may concern, or for breach of contract, properly advertised, and all sufficient and necessary precautions adopted to conform to the various legal formalities in such cases. This is an important notice to Merchants, Shippers and Consignees, who should see that these interests and requirements are carefully attended to.

The Store occupied by the undersigned is the most Central, the Largest and the Best Sale Room in the City, and is always ready for the reception of Furniture, General Goods and Wares in large or small quantities, intended for unreserved Auction Sale.

APPRAISALS and VALUATIONS made, based either on Auction or Private Sale prices.

Hoping to be entrusted with your own business favours, or any you can influence, the undersigned would assure you of his continued diligence and promptness.

WINES,

SPARKLING AND STILL,

FROM THE CELEBRATED

ONTARIO VINEYARDS, HAMILTON.

Professor CROFT states:

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE,
Toronto, Dec. 19th, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have examined the Wines made at the Ontario Vineyards, Hamilton. They are all excellent Wines, and perfectly pure, containing no ingredient that is not natural to the juice of the grape.

All these Wines are the best of Canadian manufacture that I have ever seen, and may safely be compared to a large proportion of the best imported wines.

HENRY CROFT.

I shall be at the RUSSELL HOUSE till TUESDAY, the 30th INST., with samples, where the wines may be seen and orders given.

We sell our wines at prices from 75 to 100 per cent lower than imported wines

Being determined to preserve the character of our wines, we will not sell to merchants; they can only be had through me.

All wines warranted pure.

WATERS'S QUININE WINE,

The most Delightful and Invigorating Tonic Known to Science.

THE WINE, with which the SULPHATE OF QUININE is incorporated, is expressly prepared for the purpose, and is of the finest and purest quality, forming a powerful TONIC, a valuable STOMACHIC, and a gentle STIMULANT. It increases the appetite, and is a valuable assistant to digestion. Like all successful preparations it has a host of servile imitators.

The genuine is protected by the trade mark on capsule and label. {R. W.}
