of Baring & Glynn, the latter having been paid in the month of April. As to the charge of miscalculation in the revenue, no minister could tell what speculations might or might not be indulged in. Such miscalculations had been made before now. In Great Britain it was very different. Trade was more certain. Here it was impossible to say with certainty how many goods would be imported in any given year. In Great Britain out of a total revenue of £70,000,000, the amount of Customs was only £20,000,000, and the other items—such as income tax and legacy duty—could almost be calculated to a nicety. He was content to rest under the reputation of the deficiency, which he trusted would not yet prove as serious as some had anticipated.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON remarked that the argument used by the hon. Minister of Finance did not tally very well with the statements made by the Minister of Militia, in a conversation held with Mr. Bright. But, he (Mr. H.) took the gross revenue of Great Britain at £70,000,000, ten per cent. of which was seven millions, and the same proportion would show the deficiency which occurred here to be a million and a half—a miscalculation which certainly did not reflect much credit on the hon. Minister of Finance.

Hon. Mr. ROSE replied.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON said the miscalculation of a million and a-half of dollars bore the same proportion to the revenue of Canada, that seven millions sterling would bear to the revenue of England.

Sir GEORGE E. CARTIER addressed the House, in French, in explanation of the statement of the hon. Minister of Finance.

Mr. McKENZIE reminded the House that last year he had warned the Finance Minister, that the importations would seriously fall off both in quality and value. He had then been assured by the hon. gentlemen opposite, that such would not be the case; but he (Mr. McKenzie) had made the assertion on information received from some of the principal commercial men of the country, and experience had now shown that his prediction was correct. He continued to criticise the figures of the Finance Minister, and argued that the financial policy of the country was to go on from year to year adding to the national debt, instead of attempting to reduce it. He then referred to the means for recouping the Intercolonial Railway loan.

Hon. Mr. ROSE said he could show by the figures how that could certainly be done. There was in the hands of the agents a sum of $2,800,000, an amount which surely he would admit was immediately available. Then there was the Great Western debt, the savings banks, and the Indian bonds he had formerly mentioned showing a total of $10,854,000 against $9,381,231, the amount of the railway loan.

After some remarks from Messrs. Holton and Rose, Mr. McKENZIE continued to argue that for various reasons which he specified, it was not safe to calculate on the increased prosperity of the people being such, at least for several years, as to enable them to bear any increased burthens of taxation. At another time he would take the opportunity of entering more fully into the discussion.

Mr. FERGUSSON was understood to correct some of the statements of the member for Lambton, as to the progress of the country and the increase in the value of personal property.

Mr. YOUNG complained of the difficulty of understanding the statement of revenue and expenditure, because of the mixing up of the items of ordinary and extraordinary income and of outlay. He then said that if the Hon. Minister of Finance had spent the whole of the appropriations of last year, he would have had a deficit of $673,000, instead of the surplus promised last year of about a million dollars. He continued to criticise several points in the Finance Minister's statement.

In reply to the Hon. Mr. ANGLIN, the Hon. Mr. TILLEY explained the measures that had been taken to ascertain the amount of the trade between the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, and those of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

After some remarks by Messrs. JOLY, DUNKIN, and others,

The House went into committee of Ways and Means, Mr. WALSH in the chair.

On the motion of the Hon. Mr. ROSE, the committee rose and reported progress, and asked leave to sit again on Tuesday next.

THE IRISH CHURCH ESTABLISHMENT.

Hon. Mr. HOLTON said he intended to take an early opportunity of asking the leader of the Government, and his colleagues, to consider the propriety of the House respectfully addressing her Majesty to express its extreme gratification at the measure introduced in the Imperial Parliament for the removal of one of the chief grievances of Ireland by the disestablishment of the church. Canada was deeply interested in this great reform; not merely from sentimental feeling, but because Irish grievances, though remotely, had not very indirectly menaced the peace of the country; and there was a large class of our population who felt a very deep interest in the issue of this question now before the Imperial Parliament. He, therefore, thought it would be becoming in the House to express an opinion in this matter, and he should take occasion to bring it formally up for consideration.

The House adjourned at half-past eleven.

FORMS OF COMBUSTION.—Dr. Grant repeated his lecture on the forms of combustion last evening before a large and intelligent audience, who testified their approbation by frequent bursts of applause. The Doctor deserves great credit, in the first place for having prepared this lecture, and in the second place for having delivered it for so excellent a charity as the Protestant Orphan's Home. We regret being unable to notice it at length, but the less so as we expressed our opinions of its merits on the occasion of its first delivery.

CONCERT OF SACRED MUSIC.—The grand concert of sacred music tendered by the choir to Professor Smith, organist of the cathedral, takes place in the cathedral this evening, Professor Smith presiding at the organ. The programme is published in full in another column, and musicians will recognize it as an admirable selection. The ladies and gentlemen whose names appear, are well known as amongst the best vocalists in this city, and the claims of Mr Smith upon the support of the community on this occasion are universally admitted, and we trust that those whom he has on all occasions served well, will attend the concert, and induce others to do so.

LONDON, May 7.—There have been several heavy robberies of arms, ammunition, &c., in the various parts of Ireland during the past few days. At Belfast large quantities of arms were stolen last evening, and five persons were arrested this morning on suspicion. Despatches from Cork mentions the perpetration of similar outrages. There seems to be no doubt that the culprits belongs, in every instance, to the Fenian organization. The police have been ordered to exercise unusual vigilance.
