The Montreal Fires.

From the Montreal Star.

Last night, or rather this morning the city was illuminated by fire from twelve o'clock till daylight. The first alarm was struck a little before one from box 82, corner of Panet and St. Catherine streets. At this time the reflection could be seen over half the city, and the wonder is that the alarm was not struck before. The building that was on fire was Clark and Davis' Glass factory, corner of Pantheons and St. Mary streets. It is said that the commencement of a fire was found there the afternoon previous, but was extinguished before it had made any progress. For this fire the whole of the Brigade were called out, but had scarcely all of their hose laid on, before the reflection of a still more serious one was observed in the west end of the city. Two of the reels were detailed for this fire, while the rest remained. The alarm was struck in the West End at the corner of Wellington and McCord streets, Box 43.

This fire was in the building of the Montreal Warehousing Company, Wellington st.; and had evidently been burning for several hours before it was discovered. It seems here to have broken out in the upper part, but from what part is not known. As fast as they could be spared from the fire in the east end, the reels were detailed for this one, which was every moment threatening to overcome the efforts of the firemen.

The glass-factory, which is totally destroyed, has been unoccupied since March last, the company having failed about that time. This fire was thoroughly extinguished about four o'clock, and the whole of the brigade were then free to turn their attention to the one in Wellington street. Here the fire seemed in spite of the efforts of the firemen to be creeping slowly and insidiously over the building, while the grain with which it was filled was bursting from it in every direction. The books and papers in the office were saved by the Secretary of the Company, who was early on the spot. The Grand Trunk Fire Company were on the ground and lent considerable assistance; as did also Sergeant Maher, of the Police force, and sub-constable Ryan. In the building was stored some two or three hundred thousand bushels of wheat, ten thousand barrels of flour, and other produce. It is said that there was also a large number of tierces of high wines in the cellar, but the correctness of this statement has not been ascertained. About half-past four the fire commenced to yield to the efforts of the firemen, but up to the time of going to press it was not wholly extinguished, and the water was still on.

With regard to its origin, it is understood that the elevator was being worked up to 11 o'clock last night, and that friction was the probable cause of the fire. The building is completely gutted, and the roof destroyed, for about one half its extent, commencing at the end next to Wellington Bridge.

This is the second time within a couple of years that this valuable property has suffered heavy loss by fire.

The amount and location of insurance has not yet been ascertained. The loss on both buildings cannot be less than $500,000.
