ARRIVED AT LAST!

This elegant Turkish TONIC is one of the most salutary and delicate preparations ever submitted for public approval in this hemisphere, and asserts its pretentions to patronage on the following grounds:—

That it is a preparation of one of the most eminent Purveyors to the Ottoman Court.

It prevents acidity of the Stomach.

It relieves lowness of spirits.

It is a mild and invigorating tonic, and a cost efficient but innocuous stimulant.

It renders the breath sweet and agreeable.

It stimulates the appetite if taken across meals.

It promotes digestion if taken after meals.

It neutralizes the propensity for strong liquors.

It renders the intellect bright and clear.

If taken habitually it imparts vitality and energy to all the bodily organs.

By its use a man of 70 will become as it were, restored to the elasticity of 30; and to persons of delicate constitutions it is strongly recommended.

It is an especial favourite with Oriental ladies.

Secure, then, health, longevity and vital energy by the habitual use of the

ALKABASAR TURKISH TONIC.

Kept in stock by the principal Druggists and Grocers in the Dominion.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and enduringly upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is not same to say that the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs, is a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and taught to all who are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with the antidote for them.

Although settled consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and many others relieved to a second health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they speedily subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical, or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither a remote Quinine, Arsenic, Mercury, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is never followed by any injurious consequences. The number and importance of the cures in the agues of this and other countries, are almost beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, after other remedies had wholly failed.

Undoubtedly persons, either resident in, or travelling through localities where miasmatic poisons prevail, will be spared by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

THE FRENCH CATS.

How the Zouaves do their Fighting—They carry Cats on their Knapsacks—the Cats charge the Enemy, and act as Guides.

France possesses several special or extra corps entirely distinct from the regular army, the National Guard, or the Marines. One of them, and perhaps the most peculiar and eccentric, are the Zouaves. There are two kinds of Zouaves, the African or original Zouaves, who, in time of peace, are always stationed in Africa, and whose strength there, is about 12,000 men, and the Zouaves Imites, or imitation Zouaves, who are armed, equipped, and drilled like the original corps, but do not possess the same perfection in manoeuvring, &c. These latter are only stationed a part of the time in Africa; the greater part of the time they are stationed in various parts of France. In their armament the Zouaves differ materially from the regular infantry, particularly in their bayonets, which have the shape of scythes; and their side arm, which is the Algerian yataghan—that is, the peculiar short sword of the Kabyles; also, in so far that they prefer to use their own private revolvers.

None can become a Zouave who is not a born Frenchman, and a very large number of them are recruited among the Paris loafers and gamins. Their drilling comprises, besides the usual military evolutions, more particularly also gymnastics, and no one can serve among them for any length of time who is not an accomplished and perfect swimmer, jumper and climber. Their style of fighting differs accordingly from that of the regular infantry. They make no bayonet attacks in closed lines, but spread themselves out so as to have more room for striking about with their bayonets, and they enter the enemy's lines on the full run with large bounds.

One of their eccentricities is their love for cats, and they prefer as pets the large gray and black cats of Algeria. The training of these cats is admirable. They know not only all the soldiers, but also their four-footed comrades, belonging to the same battalion, and easily pick out there own masters under all circumstances. They are very obedient to them, and not only on the march, but also in battle, take up their positions on their knapsacks—from which position they participate in the fight according to their own peculiar style, by jumping into the face of the enemy, and scratching and biting it in a furious manner. During the Crimean war, the wounds in the faces of the Russian soldiers from these cats were so serious and numerous that they had to establish at Okessa a separate ward in the hospital for the better healing of them.

In climbing up and attacking a rocky height, the Zouaves command their cats to the front to lead the way, and, carefully watching the way the cats take, they follow them closely, and take advantage of every foothold pointed out by their trusty and agile comrades.

Alleged Brutality to a Child.

BEATING AND STARVATION REDUCES A GIRL OF 18 TO IMBECILITY.

A case of singular brutality has just been unearthed near London, Ont. The facts, so far as our information goes, and no doubt much remains to be told, show a state of moral depravity, the like of which the people of our fair country seldom hear of:

Sarah Jane Bowman, or her parents, was given over to the care of her uncle and aunt, who, in consideration of keeping her well, were to enjoy the use of the farm of the deceased until she became of age. The couple willingly entered into the agreement, and for some time treated their pur-sang with all kindness. Their temper, however, gradually underwent a change, and they came to regard the child as a burden, whereupon it seems they began a systematic course of abuse of her, which if continued much longer, must certainly cause her death. The slightest offence brought upon her a terrible beating at the hands of her aunt, who cherished a most brutal hatred for her, and who has frequently been heard to express the wish that the child was dead. She was never allowed to eat with the rest, and everything was locked up from her excepting the hardest and most unpalatable of food, such as would not have been offered to a dumb animal. To such a condition of hunger was the poor child reduced, that very often she went, like the prodigal son of old, to feed with the swine! On several occasions lately she has got up in the night to get something by stealth to satisfy her hunger, and on being discovered, has received a prolonged and merciless beating. She is now aged 18, and appears a poor broken down and helpless idiot. Her tyrant was lately heard to say that the victim must have nine lives, and never would die!"

This is the simple story that has reached our ears. Perhaps it has been exaggerated, but we believe it to be reliable. It is hoped that if such a case exists in our midst, the authors will be brought to summary and condign punishment.

The Emperor of Russia.

It is said that Alexander II. as subject to attacks of hypochondria, and that his pet terrors are revolution and Poland. A Berlin correspondent writes to the Correspondence du Nord Est:

Herr von Bismark has found a favorable opportunity to turn the Czar's fears concerning Poland to his own account. At Ems he succeeded in pointing out to him that Austria, already ungrateful to her former protector in so many ways, now contemplates a new act of ingratitude, worse than any former one, in constituting in Galicia a little kingdom for the Poles, a sort of second Piedmont, and so making ready to raise the Polish question anew at a good opportunity. In view of this situation, he insisted on the necessity of a most intimate union between Russia and Prussia.

He assured the Czar that, on condition of his tacit assent to the neglect of Prussia to execute the treaty of Prague with regard to Schleswig, and of his acquiescence in the Prussian control of German affairs, Prussia will always stand by Russia to keep off all danger on the side of Poland.

I do not know whether M. Bismark obtained a positive engagement to accept his project, but at their last parting at Ems, when the federal Chancellor attempted to kiss the Czar's hand, Alexander II. drew him to his arms and saluted him on both cheeks, a proof that they parted well pleased with one another.

Coughs and Colds.—Sudden changes of climate are sources of Pulmonary Bronchial and Asthmatic affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough, or "common cold," in its first stage. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozenges, allay irritation which induces coughing, having a direct influence on the affected parts. As there are imitations, be sure to OBTAIN the genuine. Sold by all dealers in medicines, at 25 cents a box.
