[illegible] Court—Friday.—Thos. Hanly, [illegible] Conlin, James Warnock and R. [illegible] were severally charged with selling [illegible] not containing the allegation. From the evidence in each case [illegible] shewed that there was no in[illegible] to defraud. It was shown that [illegible] hot weather bread looses in [illegible] very rapidly after being taken out [illegible]. The firemen of the several [illegible] swore that they never [illegible] any instructions to make the [illegible] light, but on the contrary, that they [illegible] to give good weight. Mr. [illegible] has a very large oven, and as it [illegible] considerable time to fill it with [illegible] as a matter of course, that which is [illegible] must be in for a time longer [illegible] and is consequently over[illegible] through some of Mr. Warnock's [illegible] under the proper weight, there [illegible] was over weight. His Worship [illegible] supposes there was any ill intention [illegible] he therefore contenting himself with fining of any person selling light bread, no matter what may be circumstances, and accordingly each of the above named bakers was fined $5 and costs.

[illegible] Lounge Doubt.—Last year three members of the Ottawa Naturalist's Field Club visited Salmon River for the purpose of making scientific explorations as to the adaptibility of that stream to afford proper means for subsistence and breeding to the [illegible] of fishes. The projector of this scheme was Dr. Van Cortlandt, who, with his two scientific companions, spared no pains to ascertain the nature of the stream, and on their return we believe they reported very favourably as to its natural fitness to support Salmon. Person of means, however, who might otherwise have made the experiment, had some doubts on account of certain circumstances, notwithstanding the recommendations of science, and the subject has ever since lain, apparently, entirely ignored. But yesterday a salmon was caught in the above named stream, which should leave no longer a doubt in the mind of any person as to the adaptibility of the Ottawa and tributaries to support that most valuable of fish. The salmon caught weight 18 pounds and was one of the dainties at the Russell House table last evening, and to partake of which Dr. Vancortlandt was a specially invited guest. After such unmistakeable evidence as this, we trust that steps will be taken with a view of stocking the river. We hope in a few years to see the Ottawa and its tributaries stocked with salmon when the people of the metropolis should be able to obtain that favorite fish for 10 cents per pound at their own doors instead of paying the high price they now have to do.

THE RIVER ROUGE MYSTERY.

A Hopeless Man—His Letters—Deliberate Preparations for Death.

The Detroit Free Press of Thursday morning contained news of the finding of a body at the mouth of the River Rouge, which bore evidence of having being foully dealt with, and started the suspicions of Coroner Ludlow that the murder might be traced back to some one. On Friday a flood of evidence was brought to light, which fully clears the whole mystery, as well as showing a cool determination on the part of a suicide,—such as is seldom exhibited. Deputy Sheriff James DeFoe sat about securing a clue to what was believed to be a murder, and found the name of the man to be Nelson N. Reed, and that he had been a resident of the city for some two years past, his vocation being the peddling about of small notions for various houses on commission. Mr. Griffin had two letters in his possession which were written by Reed, one addressed to him, and the other to his wife. The one to Griffin was an order for the suicide's trunk and personal effects, and the other we publish, as showing how deliberately the man sought his end, and how bitter his feelings that the world had not used him better. He says:

I cannot leave this world without acknowledging my gratitude to you for your kindness to me. You have been more like a mother to me, and you will please accept my humble thanks for it. That is all I have left except my trunk and travelling bag, and that I give to you and Hiram. You will find a ring with my name engraved on it; that I want you should consider expressly yours. The rest of my effects you and Hiram must do as you think proper with; they will be worth something to you in your present circumstances; I wish there was more.

You must not consider me a crazy, or call me a crazy man, for I am not, but I have come to the conclusion that when a man tries as hard as I have these last two years, and then cannot earn enough to pay his board, I think it is time to leave this world.

I have nothing to live for now; there is no one to greet with a smile when I come into the house at night, tired and fatigued; no, not even a friendly dog to wag his tail in token of friendship, or a cat to purr around my feet, or a bird to chirp to me. All is black and cold as an iceberg. Of late, I have asked for nothing but a subsistence; no friends or favour have I asked or expected, but that I cannot get in the Christian world.

I am too proud to beg, too honest to steal, and to high-spirited to allow myself to be arrested as a vagrant, and sent to Brockway's prison. I do not wish you to make my end a public thing; please let me pass away as quietly as possible. I do not want my family to know my end, and more than all, that brute of a wife of mine. If I have the power, I shall use all the influence I can for your welfare and happiness. I shall not forget you, although I shall be invisible to your natural eyes. When you receive this I shall not be in this body, but in a spiritual body, so I will bid you a farewell for this life. I am your friend now and for ever.

NELSON NOAH REED.

THE SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY.
CAPITAL:—ONE MILLION STERLING.
INVESTED IN CANADA.....$300,000.
Canada Head Office:—Montreal.
A DAVIDSON PARKER,
Manager.
BENEFIT OF LIFE ASSURANCE.
In illustration of the benefits which have accrued to Participating Policies of Life Assurance the following examples may be quoted, taken from the Books of the Canadian Branch of THE SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY:—
Policy, 5313, effected October, 1861, for £1000. Additions amounted in 1867 to £81 10s. Total outlay by assured, £61 2s: the Bonus thus amounting to seventy-five per cent, of premiums paid.
Referring to same policy—should it become a claim during current year 1870, the Bonus Additions will amount to £112 10s Sterling, exceeding the Total Amount of premiums paid at the date of last Division in 1867. This is accounted for by the INTERMEDIATE BONUS allowed by the "SCOTTISH PROVINCIAL."
Policy 4238. Bonus Additions, £61 17s. 6d., or nearly seventy per cent. of £91 2s. and 6d., the amount of premiums paid.
These Benefits must be evident to all. It may be asked whether, in the event of the Assured giving up the Policy, all such benefits would be lost? In reply, attention is directed to the following
REGULATION AS TO SURRENDER OF POLICIES.
For surrender of Policies for the term of life, effected at ordinary premiums, and which have been three years in force, a return of 40 per cent. on the amount of ordinary premiums received, will, at any time, be allowed, besides the value of vested Bonuses, where such have been declared. An objection, often urged against Life Assurance, that there is no certainty of value being obtained, in the event of surrender, is thus completely obviated.
Thus: Should Policy above referred to (No. 5313) be surrendered now (1870) the sum of over $565 will be paid to policy holder.
Loans granted under Policies when surrender value is of not less amount than One Hundred Dollars.
