A CONTEMPORARY has discovered that women have rights. Many of them have lefts also.

WINTER AGAIN.—Yesterday there was quite wintry weather. Globally all day, it snowed heavily in the afternoon, froze at night, and sleighs are once more in use.

EXCURSION.—There is to be an excursion to Renfrew on the 4th proximo by the Canada Central Railway, to which the Directors of the road have issued invitations.

MARTIN, the Wizard, and the giver away of several costly presents, nightly, performs at the Music Hall for five nights, commencing Tuesday next, the 3rd of December.

BOSTON accepts the sympathies, but declines the monies of other cities. She will bear her great misfortune unaided and rise from her ashes unassisted. All praise to her!

FINISHED—It is really very gratifying to find that the west end of Wellington street is being widened, and that Pooley's bridge is nearly completed. It is to be hoped that there will be no toll give in the vicinity of this structure.

THE REV. W. STEPHENSON—This very eloquent preacher and truly able man has we notice, been delivering a lecture in Montreal. The Montreal Herald gives a lengthy account of it. The lecture was on Martin Luther, his habits and character, and was treated, the Herald tells us, with "the truest eloquence," the audience listening with raps attention.

EWART'S BUILDING, Sparks Street, are slowly, but surely approching completion. A row of shops inferior to none elsewhere are growing up, and there is a very fine building recently erected, almost immediately opposite, in which an ironmonger, we perceive is moored. Ottawa is, indeed, making rapid progress.

DR MERRIFIELD.—That very accomplished gentleman, Dr. Meredith, delivers a lecture to-night in the rooms of the Literary and Scientific Society on "Wages, prices, and fixed incomes." We trust there will be a large attendance. The subject is a splendid one.

ST. PATRICK'S LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—This Society give a grand opening entertainment to-night. The see-option will be exhibited for the first time—Edinburgh Castle, the Tomb of the First Napoleon, the Clonmacnoise, and several other seeings will be exhibited. There will also be some excellent readings and very good music. It is to be hoped that much encouragement will be afforded.

BANK OF MONTREAL.—That beautiful edifice which is being erected for the use of the Bank of Montreal in this city, is rapidly approaching completion. The Mansard roof already tops the structure, and will undoubtedly be tinned or slated, so as to be completely fire proof. The attic windows might be coated with mineral or incombustable paint.

JUDICIOUS.—It was most judicious on the part of the managers of the Guard's Assemblies, that there were no decorations, if a contemporary means by decorations, flags, bunting, and Chinese transparencies. The decorations, alluded to by us were of an entirely different kind, such as our contemporary may dream of, but cannot understand.

ARRIVALS AT DANIELS' HOTEL.—November 27, 1872.—David B Marshall, Boston; F E Pennock, city; Mrs Bacon, Covemear, N Y; I V S Strebig, Agent for Martin, the Wizard; H Matheson, Clarence Centre; Wm Allen, Aylmer; James McLaren, Buckingham; H Patton, Montreal; J F McAndrew, Buckingham; J H Ackert, Buckingham; J McParland, Prescott; J Munsie, Kingston.

THE PENNY READINGS, so ably and apparently, be more than ordinarily interesting this winter. In addition to readings, singing and instrumental music, there are to be transparencies representing noted places at home and abroad, and noted people everywhere. These transparencies are denominated "Seeopticans," or some such scientific appellation.

A STONE CROSS is being placed on the new St. Andrew's Church. It is a very neat ornament, and in keeping with the building. One of the prettiest churches in course of erection in the city is Christ's Church. It somewhat resembles the House of Commons interiority, and the organ is not to placed in a gallery, but off the chancel. The Free Church in the City Council Square, which will be a splendid edifice, seems to be at a stand-still.

THE GUARDS' ASSEMBLY.—In noticing the Guards' Assembly in the previous issue of this paper we inadvertently mentioned that Col. Ross and Mrs. Robertson Ross were present. The Colonel Ross was not the Adjutant General, as it seemed to be from the words Mrs Robertson Ross, but Lt.-Colonel Thomas Ross, the officer in command of the Guards, was present with Miss Ross. Colonel Ross is not in town and could not only have been present.

GUIDE TO THE RIDEAU NAVIGATION.—Mr. W. Mills, Accountant of the Ordnance Lands and Dominion Lands Branches of the Department of the Secretary of State has just completed a "Sketch of a tour from Ottawa to Kingston, via the Rideau Navigation" which he intends shortly to publish. It is pleasingly written and evidences a large amount of careful observation. The information which it contains is of a very valuable description and will most assuredly render it acceptable alike to the tourist and the commercial man. We shall have occasion to refer again in the course of a few weeks to this useful little hand-book.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

CLOSE OF THE SEASON'S OPERATIONS.

The saw mills around the Chaudiere have all shut down for the season, with the exception of M. E. B. Eddy's which will probably quit running this week. The following is a rough estimate of the quality of lumber sawn in each.

Messrs. Bronson & Watson, two mills running night and day. 37 million feet. Shut down on Friday.

Mr. A. B. Baldwin, two mills, running continually, 20 million. Stopped last week.

Capt. Young, one mill, 16 million. Shut down on Monday.

Mr. J. R. Booth, two mills, mostly day work, 22 million. Quit running last week.

Mr. John Rochester, one mill, mostly day work, ten millions. Shut on Thursday last.

Messrs. Pattie & Perley, two mills, mostly day work, 28 million. Stopped two weeks ago.

Late styles of Paris and London Millinery now forward, and shown at the Millinery Room of RUSSELL & WATSON. Those wishing can now see the very latest in the above goods.

First-class Tailoring Department now in full operation, under the superintendence of a first-class Cutter. All work and perfect fit guaranteed.

TOLEDO'S TRAGEDY.

A Physician Three Days Dead before Discovered—His Wife Crazed and Insensible Beside Him.

[From the Toledo Blade.]

Some two weeks ago, Dr. E. C. Bradley, a physician in this city, engaged rooms for himself and family in the third story of Andrews' block. He also rented an office on the floor below, designing to use it in his practice. The doctor and his wife were without children. About the 24th of October, they left the city for a visit to the doctor's parents, who reside at Delta, in Fulton County. On Saturday they returned and occupied the rooms which they had recently secured. Mr. Theodore Barlow occupied rooms on the opposite side of the floor, and having noticed that the rooms had been unusually quiet during yesterday and Tuesday, finally began to be alarmed and this morning about nine o'clock he notified Patrolman Nohl of his suspicions, and that officer at once proceeded to the rooms. He found the wife lying upon the floor of the back room in an insensible condition, while in a closet midway between the two departments lay the body of her husband stretched upon a pallet which rested upon the floor. He had probably been dead some three days.

Mrs. Bradley when discovered was too much crazed by the shock and subsequent privation which she had endured to give any rational account of the circumstances and to all enquiries she replied in vacant looks and incoherent meaningless sounds. What had passed as she lay prisoned in that terrible room, struggling between life and death, while the sounds from the busy bustling street came floating in at the open window, no mortal can tell, no mortal may ever know till that final day in which all secrets shall be revealed.

It transpires that Dr. Bradley had been for some time subject to epileptic attacks, and had been in the habit of taking doses of strychnine to counteract the effects of the disease. Whether he had by accident taken an overdose, or had blindly rushed upon the fate its use was sure to bring is unknown. The only writing of any significance found in the room was a letter dated on Saturday evening, which Mrs. Bradley had written to her sister, but which contained nothing which could be construed as indicating a purpose of self-destruction on the part of either.

Dr. Bradley has been a practicing physician in this city for about nine years. Here also he married his wife, whom he left to mourn his untimely fate, upon which financial embarrassments and irregular habits may have had a greater influence even than his friends believe.

We will give the latest development in this direction in a lump. The reader may fill up the details for himself: Mrs. Tozier, Athens, Me., one hundred and seven years old; knits stockings without spectacles. John Boyd, Louisville, Ky., colored, one hundred and twelve; chews and smokes, third set of teeth coming, two cords of wood before dinner. Sarah Flanders, one hundred and five, Macon, Ga., hale and hearty, engaged to be married to Luke Cozens, one hundred and one, of the same place; temperance and anti-tobacco. Jas. Tyler, Chicago, one hundred and five, lately whipped his son, George Tyler, aged eighty, for impudence; fined five dollars. Mary Walters, Elmira, N. Y., one hundred and four, takes in washing; no spectacles, Bible twice a day, smokes a pipe; strictly temperance. Thus the centennarial tidal waves flow on.—An Exchange.

ALL OR NOTHING?—The Chinese immigrants at the East end of London are teaching the population of that region to smoke opium. The knowledge of this fact must make Sir Wilfrid Lawson and his associates redouble their endeavors to destroy the
