By arrangement with the English Publishers, who receive a liberal compensation.

These periodicals constitute a wonderful exhibit of modern thought, research, and criticism. The cream of all European worth reviewing is found here and they give the cream of the leading events of the world in more articulate written by men who have a thorough knowledge of the matters treated. The American publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the literature which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, feeling sure that no expensive literary matter will yield so rich a return for the money as that required for a subscription to these publications.
