Rumored Dismissal of a City Official —Fire—Central Prison Car Works —Burglary—Personal.

TORONTO, Feb. 7.

The Globe this morning gives currency to the rumour that Coatsworth, City Commissioner, has dismissed a City official for voting for O'Donohue in the election in East Toronto.

A fire occurred this morning in Coyle's bakery, on Adelaide street, and destroyed stock to the value of $900. The loss is covered by insurance in the Queen and Citizen Companies.

A deputation composed largely of members of Parliament, left the city this morning to view the Car Works, at the Central Prison, which were formally opened.

Last night or this morning early, Page's dry goods establishment was entered by burglars, and a large quantity of velvet and silk goods carried off.

Hon. Geo. Brown left the city yesterday for New York.

MONTREAL.

Elected by Acclamation—Skating Tournament—New Church—Home Rule—Extradition Case—Miscellaneous.

MONTREAL, Feb. 6.—Alderman Chas. Alexander was to-day elected by acclamation for Montreal Centre in the Local House.

The skating tournament will commence at the Victoria Rink at 2 o'clock to-morrow. A number of clubs were invited to appoint judges, but only two, the Halifax club and the Pictou, N. S., club, complied.

A new church is being erected at the corner of St. Catherine and City Councillor streets, for the accommodation of the Russell Hall congregation.

A meeting is to be held next Tuesday evening in Perry's Hall, in the interests of the Home Rulers. Subscriptions are requested to assist the members of the association in Ireland to carry the elections.

A somewhat novel case, as regards the parties to it, has been engaging the attention of Mr. Justice MacKay, in the second division of the Superior Court for the last two or three days. A Caughnawaga Indian, named Tekenharashen, brings an action against another member of the tribe, named Tailsiaronsere, for $1,000 damages for the seduction of his daughter, aged 88, with a petition added that the defendant be declared the father of a child to which she has given birth, and pay whatever amount the court may order as alimony. The case has been taken en delibere.

Yesterday at Point St. Charles a man named John Hansley was engaged in coupling cars, when his hand got caught between the draw bars and was cut completely off. He had to go to the General Hospital.

A fire broke out about seven o'clock this morning in the Model School on the corner of Craig and Visitation Streets, owing to a defective flue. The flames, which had not gained any considerable headway, were extinguished with a portable hand pump.

The case of Celine Legris, who was yesterday committed for six months by Mr. Judah, J. P., is attracting some attention, and the Witness remarks editorially on the singular conduct of the Police Magistrate, Mr. Brehaut, in allowing Mr. Judah to take his place while he himself was in the building; and also on the fact that Mr. Judah refused to have Messrs. Chapleau and Rousseau examined as witnesses, although they had been subpoenaed. The woman Legris made an affidavit that Chapleau had committed an indecent assault on her in his office, but Mr. Judah refused to grant a warrant.

The regular monthly meeting of the Harbour Commissioners was held yesterday. Tenders were opened for the debentures to the amount of $150,000, and that of Messrs. Macdougall & Davidson was accepted from the Gas Company, praying for the use of several hundred feet of the new Hochelaga wharves on which they could unload their coals. It was decided that the request could not be acceded to, but that every facility would be given to unload coal vessels. The name of Mr. Young was added to those of Messrs. Ryan, Allan, and the Mayor, who had been appointed to form a deputation to wait on the Government on Saturday and discuss matters relating to the new buildings for the Trust.

Mr Trevis, the witness in the Rosenbaum extradition case, who was examined to-day, testified in substance that he resided opposite the store kept by Harris and the accused, in New York; that on the day of the fire, when passing the door of their shop, he saw Harris and Rosenbaum within packing up their goods, cigarettes, &c. In the evening a quantity of goods were removed in an express waggon. He had not previously observed express waggons at their premises. He was reading at night when his wife informed him that smoke was coming from the windows of the building opposite. He ran across the street. Finding a policeman at the door, he passed up into the third story. He found a fire burning, the progress of which he checked with a couple of pails full of water. On examination he found, when the flames had been extinguished, that the fire had appeared among some tobacco and pipe stems. At this place there was heaped a number of tobacco boxes, and paper was picked up saturated with kerosene. The window on this flat, opening on the street, was covered with rags, and the window in rear closed with boards. In the whole premises, besides a large number of empty tobacco boxes, there was tobacco to the value of about $10. He states that after the fire Harris & Rosenbaum alleged that they had lost property worth $9,000, on which they had only insurance for $6,000. One of the proprietors had questioned him as to what he knew about the fire, but he had answered evasively. The store, it appears, was closed for some three weeks previous to the fire. The case has been adjourned until next Monday. The indictment found by the Grand Jury against the accused, is for arson in the second degree, which implies that the lives of persons inhabiting an adjoining dwelling were endangered. Arson in the first degree implies that lives are endangered in the building in which the fire so set occurs.

QUEBEC.

Sudden Death—Cold Weather—Landing from the Ice Bridge.

QUEBEC, Feb. 6.

A widow named Bennett, residing on Julia Street, died suddenly while on her way home. The cause of her death is supposed to be heart disease.

The weather continues very cold.

The city corporation have done nothing to make a secure landing from the ice bridge to the shore. A temporary arrangement has been made by a private speculator who makes a handsome thing out of the tolls he collects.

METCALF.

Fatal Accident.

METCALF, Feb. 6.—Yesterday afternoon a fatal accident occurred about three miles from here, by which Mr. Douglas, a man of about 80 years of age, was killed. He went to the woods with two others to get our logs, and while looking for timber came in range of a tree they were felling. The top struck him. He did not speak afterwards, and died in a few minutes.

NORWOOD.

Fire.

NORWOOD, Feb. 6.

A fire destroyed the carriage and blacksmith shop of Geo. Hendron, of this village, this morning at four o'clock. The total loss is about $1,600, insured for $800 in the Beaver and Toronto Mutual Assurance Company. The same party was burned out about a year ago, and had only got his new shop started again.

ENGLAND.

Elections.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Conservative candidates for Parliament were elected in Westminster yesterday by large majorities. The representatives in the last Parliament were a Liberal Conservative and a Liberal.

Collision.

A collision of trains occurred on the Great Western Railroad, near West Drayton station last evening. Several persons were killed and injured.

The Country's Answer.

The Times, in its issue of this morning, says: "it is now evident that the country has returned an adverse answer to Gladstone's appeal. The elections in Ireland may show unlooked for results, but nothing is likely to restore the losses of the Liberals in Great Britain. Disraeli is bound to accept office if the Government, following his example in 1868, resigns without awaiting the re-assembling of Parliament."

The Post, in an editorial of a similar strain, says: The blunders of the Government are far more than the average. Its exercise of power has been as absolute as it has been indiscreet. It is material whether the adverse results of the elections are due to the dissatisfaction of the country at the past, or the uncertainty regarding the policy of the Government in the future.

Returns.

The city of London returns Cotton, Hubbard, and Twells, Conservatives, and the Right Hon. Mr. Goschen, Liberal. In the last Parliament the four members for the city were Liberals.

Elections.

In the elections to-day, twenty-one Conservatives, eighteen Liberals, and three Home Rulers were returned from twenty-two constituencies. The Conservatives have gained one seat each in Ayrshire, Stirlingshire, Leeds, Chelsea, Oldham and Tower Hamlets. Home Rulers have gained seats in Clonmel and Mayo County, and two in Waterford City. Sir Chas. Dilke was re-elected in Chelsea, standing at the head of the poll, but his Liberal colleague in the last Parliament is replaced by a Conservative. Butt, the workingman's candidate, was elected in Swansea by 2,750 majority. Ritchie, Conservative, and Samulda, Liberal, were returned for the Tower Hamlets. Right Hon. Mr. Ayrton was defeated, his vote falling 3,000 short of Ritchie's. Baron Lionel de Rothschild is defeated in the city, standing at the bottom of the polls. Liverpool, Hambeth, Southark, Finsbury, and Wolverhampton have returned their former members. As far as heard from Ireland has returned in all 51 members, of whom 26 are Home Rulers, 17 Conservatives, and 8 Liberals.

Another 'Exodus,' and another Free Church.

(From the New York Evangelist.)

More than thirty years ago Edinburgh witnessed a memorable scene, scarcely, if ever, paralleled in Scottish history. Four hundred Presbyterian ministers, leaving behind them manse, glebe, and State-paid salary, went forth to freedom, leaning on the voluntary support of those who could appreciate their heroic devotion to principle. As this immortal four hundred, headed by Dr. Chalmers, filed forth from the place of the meeting of the General Assembly, and marched in procession through the streets of Edinburgh, a thrill of admiration shot through the hearts of the spectators that crowded to witness the spectacle. When Jeffrey of the Edinburgh Review heard of it, it stirred the cold-blooded critic to enthusiasm, and with patriotic fervor he exclaimed, "I am proud of my country! there is not another land on the face of the globe where such a thing could have been done."

That was the Scottish Exodus from the Establishment, and the birth of the Free Church. History will do it honor, and its results have already more than justified its wisdom. It was the noble assertion of its freedom by the Church of Christ, and it has been a lesson to the world. But it does not stand any longer solitary in history. In Switzerland a similar scene has recently been witnessed. In 1845 the Established Church of the Canton of Vaud witnessed something like a disruption, and now another Protestant Canton has had experience of the different spirit in which State encroachments are met by Roman Catholics and Protestants. The former cling to the State and feed on its bounty, and if it be cut off, cry persecution; the latter leave establishments behind them accepting the command, "Render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and unto God the things that are God's. In May last, the Government of the Canton of Neufchatel passed an act which was plainly designed to turn the Chuch into a purely political society. The highest court of the Church is equivalent to our General Assembly. The effect of this was of course to deprive the Synod of all control over its members. The ministers might preach what they please, and there was no help if they preached the boldest rationalism or even the utter infidelity of Stratuss. This is what Romish priests would call "persecution," but such persecution as might be expected from a community half infidel itself, and made so in part by the scandals of Romanism and resentment at its impositions on human reason. But the Government went further. It declared the Theological Faculty simply a department of the university, like that of Law or Medicine, while the nomination of professors was vested exclusively in the Council of State. Such were the very liberal manifestations of Governmental sympathy for free opinion, so free indeed that it allowed any minister to preach anything he pleased! One step more was all that was needed to complete the scheme of a 'free' State Church. As the State clergyman was to minister to all the citizens, all the citizens might take part in his election, and if they saw fit to choose a scientific election, a disciple of Hegel, of Strauss or Renan, they were at perfect liberty to do so. Every six years the parish, if it found it had made a mistake, was to be permitted to correct it by a new election. On the theory of State Churchism, the Government went no further than it was legitimately warranted to do. It meant to constitute a Board Church, and its scheme was broad, with a vengeance. It was met by numerous protests, and by an appeal to the Federal Council at Berne. These could not be wholly disregarded, and the Supreme Court of the nation ordered a plebiscite. This was taken on the 13th of September, and resulted, by a bare majority, in sanctioning the action of the Government. It was decisive, however, and so it was regarded by the Evangelical element within the Church. Their alternative, of course, was either to submit, and accept an establishment hopelessly vitiated, or to withdraw, or form a Free Church on an independent basis. They adopted the latter course:

"On the 23rd of September four hundred and six delegates from all the parishes of the canton met at Neufchatel to consider what was to be done, and all present, with the exception of two, voted for disruption. Since then the new Church has formally taken shape, and it is a striking circumstance that three-fourths of the clergy have joined it, along with all the divinity students, and a decided majority of the church-going people. It is also added that the class of persons who have seceded are so well to do, and are possessed by such a liberal spirit, that they need and ask no pecuniary aid whatever from abroad, but they do not seek, and are entitled to expect, the sympathy and countenance of all in this and other countries who, on the one hand, believe in a supernatural religion, and who, on the other, are persuaded that, if a Church is worth sustaining at all in the world, it must be left free to regulate its own affairs in submission to the revealed Word of God."

In this country, at least, this new movement will not want for sympathy. We hail it as the harbinger of better things. This disruption takes place under quite different circumstances from those of the French Synod, although a similar process of eliminating hostile and incongruous elements is going forward at the same time both in France and Switzerland. Our hope is not in State churches. They excite our distrust, and we regret that the French Church still leans on the arm of the State. If she is to fight the giants of Romanism and skepticism, she must put off this cumbrous armour. We rejoice that the Chuch of Neufchatel has done it. Surrounded by rationalism and infidelity, we trust that she may stem the tide with which she has to contend, and that her success will ensure the doom of the Establishment she has left behind. This must, it seems to us, be ere long the result. But while we patiently expect it, we rejoice to record another Free Church, which, we trust, will expand, by the power of influence and example, till there shall be a Swiss Free Church worthy of sisterhood with the Free Church of Scotland.
