Summary of News.

The examination of the Caraquet rioters took place at Bathurst yesterday afternoon.

The Nebraska Aid Society have issued an appeal for contributions, and a card stating that General Brisbin, who is now in Pennsylvania, is alone authorized to solicit contributions. It is a pity that the latter notice did not appear before, as there is reason to believe that imposters are at work endeavouring to dupe the charitably disposed by representing themselves as agents of the Society.

A number of mill operatives at Fall River, Mass., have been thrown out of employment by the suspension of the mills.

The story respecting the mysterious book containing scandalous particulars of the life and times of George IV., has, as might have been expected, turned out a hoax. It is to be regretted that the authors of such an unworthy tale cannot be identified and pilloried.

The Empress of China has committed suicide through grief at the loss of her husband. The son of the seventh prince will, it is said, succeed to the throne.

The German Ultramontanes seem to have decided upon "carrying the war into Africa," as they intend running for Parliament no less a person than the Bishop of Paderborn, the latter place being the very stronghold of Ultramontanism in Germany.

In the Quebec Parliament last night Hon. Mr. Garneau introduced a scheme for the repatriation of Canadian settlers in the United States. The Budget was also brought down.

The French Assembly has adopted the amendment to the Ventavon bill providing for the dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies by the President, with the consent of the Senate.

At the Liberal meeting to be held in London to-day for the election of a leader in the place of Mr. Gladstone, an advanced platform will be presented, the principal planks of which will be the universal establishment of School Boards, the assimilation of the county and borough franchise, the redistribution of seats and the reform of the land tenure.

The Beecher trial was continued yesterday, Tilton resuming the thread of his story. The greater part of his evidence related to his connection with Mrs. Woodhull, for which he declared Beecher to be responsible, and to the severance of his connection with Beecher's church. No new points of any import were made.

By Telegraph.

MID-NIGHT DESPATCHES.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Liberal Leadership.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—At the meeting of the Liberal party to be held to-morrow, the supporters of Forster will present a programme of the principles comprising the universal establishment of School Boards, the assimilation of the county and borough franchise, the redistribution of parliamentary seats, and the reform of the land tenure. The Whigs refuse to endorse this platform, considering it too advanced. The meeting is expected to pass a resolve regretting the retirement of Mr. Gladstone. Mr. Goschen will then nominate the Marquis of Hartington for the leadership of the party. A number of advanced Liberals, including Messrs. Fawcett and Mundella, will attend the meeting in order to define their position. They will state that while willing to give the Marquis of Hartington their support, they reserve the right of their own opinion.

UNITED STATES.

Attempts to Wreck Railroad Trains.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—A night watchman discovered on Saturday night a heavy iron bar chained across the track of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Poole station. It was moved in time to prevent a frightful accident. The object is believed to have been the plunder of the train and its passengers.

An attempt was made to throw the post train on the Reading Railroad near Morristown on Saturday morning. Repeated attempts have been made at this point.

The Nebraska Relief Society—a Card.

OMAHA, Feb. 2.—The Nebraska State Aid and Relief Society reports that their Treasury is nearly empty. They are feeding 1,350 people. The Executive Committee have called upon General Brisbin to go east and raise funds to buy food. He will start for Pennsylvania to-morrow. The Society again announce they have no solicitors but General Brisbin.

Mill Operatives in Distress.

FALL RIVER, MASS., Feb. 2.—The Granite & Crescent mills have been closed to-day and a notice by the merchants is out to night that they also will be closed to-morrow. An assignment of one dollar a week per man had been made on spinners still at work to support those who are not. At a meeting of weavers to-night it was resolved to send 100 weavers back to England, paying half their fare, as it is held that this will be much more economical than keeping them permanently on the funds of the Union. The weavers say they would be willing to have the dispute submitted to arbitration.

Suspension of a Bank.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Feb. 2.—Neither the officers nor the directors of the People's Savings Bank Institution has made any statement or given any definite information regarding the affairs or condition of the bank. There appears to be no doubt, however, that Wurpel, cashier, is a defaulter to the amount of $40,000 or $60,000, and that he has absconded. He left a letter to the effect that he had used the funds of the bank in private speculations which had been unfortunate, and that the bank was in jeopardy.

A Lesson for Coasters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Samuel S. Keene, of Montrose, N. J., died on Sunday from injuries received when coasting in a large sleigh with a dozen occupants. The sleigh was wrecked, and three others besides Keene received injuries.

Fire.

A fire at 9 Bedford street, occupied by J. Weir and J. R. Thomas, cabinet factory, caused a loss to stock and buildings of $20,000.

That Unlikely Story Again: A Hoax.

The book story about English royalty, for which a reward of $5,000 was recently offered, is turning up all over the country. Rochester, Boston, Louisville, Philadelphia, and other places have each a copy, besides a dozen or more in this city. There appears to be no such person as the one offering the reward, and the probabilities are that it is a hoax.

THE EVENT OF THE NEW YEAR.—The holidays are ended, and the serious work of the New Year begins. The first important event before us is the last drawing of the Library Gift Concerts, which takes place in Louisville, Ky., February 27th. This drawing will as certainly take place on that date as the day arrives, and to guarantee this Gov. Bramlette offers to return their money to ticket holders if the drawing is not had at the time appointed. What more could be asked? All that is needed is to buy your tickets in time, and you may count on having your prizes on the 27th day of next February. 3745 d&w

Quebec Legislature.

Second Parliament—Fourth Session.

QUEBEC, Feb. 1.

The House met at 3.15.

After routine proceedings, the following bills were introduced:

Hon. Mr. MALHIOT: Bill intituled an Act respecting the frontier line between the Province of Quebec and the Province of Ontario.

Hon. Mr. CHURCH: A Bill intituled an Act to amend the laws respecting the constitution of the Court of Quebec Bench and the Superior Court. He explained that the bill was in consequence of a petition from the bar of Montreal, asking for an increased number of judges in the Court of Queen's Bench, to enable them to get through work.

Several bills were read a third time and passed, and others advanced a stage. Among the latter was the bill to amend the Act to incorporate the congregation of the Catholics of Quebec speaking the English language.

In reply to Mr. Hearn asking for explanation, Mr. LANGELIER said at present the administration of the temporal affairs of the Church was in the hands of a committee composed of a certain number of members of the congregation. It was proposed by the bill to create trustees, in whose hands the property of the Church would be placed; and as to the administration of temporalities, it was to be entrusted to the Redemptorist Fathers, who actually had the spiritual charge of the congregation, and who proposed to render a yearly account of their administration. The bill did not create a new corporation, but simply modified an existing one.

Dr. LARUE, in moving the adoption of the third report of the Committee on Hygiene and Mortuary Statistics, called the attention of the Government to the last clause of the Report, which recommended that the utmost efforts be used to obtain proper lymph for vaccination, as so many accidents have been caused by the use of bad vaccine. He advocated the establishment, by the Government, of a place where good vaccine might always be obtained, the cost of which would be trifling in comparison to the good it would do.

The Hon. ATTORNEY GENERAL said the subject would receive most serious consideration from the hands of the Government, but he was not in a position to say then exactly what steps would be taken.

Hon. Mr. BELLEROSE suggested that the best way of obtaining good lymph would be to get a few calves and keep them for that purpose only.

The Hon. TREASURER opposed the adoption of the report, as it would be pledging the expenditure of money without such being previously recommended by a message from the Government.

The SPEAKER ruled that the adoption of the report would have the effect mentioned by the Hon. Treasurer.

Hon. Mr. OUIMET said it was a most important report, and he hoped the Government would take the matter into immediate consideration. He complimented the committee on the excellent work they had performed, for which the country must feel most grateful. He was glad to learn that the committee are unanimous in considering vaccination a preventative of small-pox. He hoped that notwithstanding the ruling of the Speaker, that the hon. Treasurer would include in his estimates a sum to carry out the suggestions of the committee.

The Hon. TREASURER said it must not be inferred that he was opposed to the proposal of the committee, and if his colleagues could agree on the subject he would bring down a supplementary estimate in accordance with the wishes of the House.

After some remarks from Mr. COBERON, it being six o'clock the House rose.

AFTER RECESS.

The Report of Dr. LARUE was adopted.

Mr. JOLY hoped the hon. Treasurer would introduce his railway resolutions before he brought in his budget speech to-morrow. When he goes into his financial politics before he introduces his railway resolutions he is not acting fairly towards the House. He believed the Government had no railway policy, and that the Hon. Treasurer was going from member to member feeling their pulses and endeavoring to find how each member felt toward the Government. He did not think it fair on the part of the Hon Treasurer.

Hon. Mr. ROBERTSON said that so far as the budget was concerned, there was no mention of railway estimates in it, and never had been. He denied the imputation that he had been from member to member to ascertain their views. It was his intention if the election bill was passed that night to bring down the budget to-morrow; (Hear, hear) and in the course of two or three days he would bring down the railway resolutions. He had no intention of springing a trap on the House, and he would take care they should have plenty of time to discuss his railway policy before the items of the budget were disposed of. He pledged himself, if his colleagues persisted in asking for more money than the House would give, he would be obliged to withdraw from the Government.

Mr. JOLY rejoined if the House lasted three or four weeks longer he should blame the Government, and especially the Hon. Treasurer, for the delay. The railway policy was the most important of all that the House would have to discuss, and he persisted that he should have brought it down long ago. It had been on the notice paper since the 18th of December, and yet the Government still kept it back. They were still telling the member for Argenteuil that they would meet his resolutions, and yet they were totally unprepared. They were at that moment ready to change their views to suit members.

Hon. Mr. MALHIOT said the Government thought there was yet plenty of time to bring down these resolutions without unnecessarily prolonging the session.

Mr. MARCHAND said the Government were afraid to bring down the resolutions for fear of their being too closely examined. The subject was then dropped.

On the motion to adopt the report on Hon. Mr. Church's election bill, Mr. LANGELIER moved in amendment:

That the bill be amended by substituting the following clause in place of clauses 132 to 144: "No qualification will be required in future from candidates for election to the Legislative Assembly, nor from members of said Assembly."

In support of his amendment he stated that the qualification for members of the Federal Parliament had been abolished during last spring and also in England. He called on the House to follow the example of the mother country as soon as possible. Far from having any deleterious result he felt sure that the abolition of the qualification would have the most beneficial effects on the whole Province.

Hon. Mr. CHURCH said he thought it was unwise on the part of the Dominion Parliament to abolish the qualification of members. In England the expenses of polling booths, &c., was born by the candidates and not by the Government, and he was sure that these expenses were at least one half of the amount required to qualify members for this Province. He considered it a wise measure to exact a qualification for members of that House and that such a qualification was a necessary preliminary to all who wished to become members of that House.

After a rather desultory discussion,

Mr. LYNCH suggested that the sections of the act relating to qualification should be amended by adding the words:

"No person shall be qualified for election who holds any situation of emolument in any Railway Company subsidized by Government."

After a private colloquy between Messrs. Bellerose and Lynch on the motion of Mr. Bellerose, the House again went into Committee on the bill. The Committee reported the bill with further amendments.

Hon. Mr. IRVINE remarked that far from improving the qualification of members the Government had rather gone back on it. Not only was qualification necessary, but it was now necessary to continue the qualification the whole time one sat in the House. A rather singular amendment had also been made, namely, that any person who took his seat in the House without the necessary qualification should be fined $2,000 a day for every day he sat there without the necessary qualification. He said the Hon. Treasurer would raise himself considerably in his (Irvine's) estimation if he could collect that money.

Hon. Mr. OUIMET moved that the report be not adopted, but that the bill be again referred to the Committee of the Whole to amend the said bill by striking out the clauses relating to voting by ballot, and substituting clauses for open voting. He said he understood the Government had declared they would stand or fall in the question of the ballot, but he strongly objected to the system and believed a large number of members of the House were of the same opinion.

The Hon. ATTORNEY GENERAL said an object they had was to secure so far as possible a uniformity throughout the Dominion, and it was with that idea that the ballot had been introduced into the bill; but not only with that idea but because the Government deemed it the best system for the Province. He considered it superior to the old system, and even to that now in use in the Province of Ontario. He declared that it was with the intention to deal fairly with members on both sides of the House that the Government had framed the bill.

Mr. JOLY declared himself against the motion. He said the Liberal party throughout the Dominion of Canada had been working for voting by ballot, and although he would be supporting the Government in opposing the motion of the hon. member for Two Mountains, yet he must support the principle his party had been working for for so long a time.

Hon. Mr. BELLEROSE said he was strongly opposed to the system of the ballot, but he considered it his duty to vote against his inclinations and to support the Government against the motion of Mr. Ouimet.

After a few remarks from Mr. Ouimet the amendment was put and lost.

The report of the Committee on the bill was adopted, and the bill was read a third time and passed.

The House adjourned at 10 p. m.
