

Ford offers global SYNC update

Ford has released a new software update for more than five million SYNC-equipped vehicles dating back to the 2011 model year, adding more convenience for Apple iPhone users with Siri Eyes-Free capability.

Siri Eyes-Free allows drivers to activate Siri with a long press of the voice recognition button on the steering wheel, similar activating Siri on an iPhone.

Drivers can use just their voice to ask Siri for requests including:

- Making phone calls to contacts in their address book

- Looking up phone numbers for restaurants or other points of interest

- Setting a reminder or alarm

- Asking about the weather
- Select and play music
- Audibly send and receive text messages

- Getting directions through Apple Maps

The new software update is available for vehicles equipped with the second generation of SYNC, known as MyFord Touch in North America, ranging from model years 2011 to 2016.

The simple, downloadable update will be available through <http://owner.ford.com/>.

SYNC is the world's leading entertainment and communications system with more than 12 million vehicles on the road worldwide.
