THE MARKET YESTERDAY.—There was unusual bustle in the By Ward Market yesterday, and great crowds of people. Hundreds of farmers had to fix their carts on York and Clarence streets, and geese and turkeys were sold which will never be sold again.

CHRISTMAS presents at Shaver's.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.—A farmer on the By Ward market had two fine geese stolen from him resterday while he was employed changing a bill. He saw a suspicious looking character turning the corner of Clarence street with something under his arm an gave chase but on overtaking him found it was a loaf of bread he carried.

TOBOGGANS at Cote & Leblanc's.

DISGRACEFUL.—At 12 o'clock last night the city was in total darkness. This is a poor compliment to pay the ratepayers now that the season is drawing to a close. The gas question is one which some of the aspirants to honours at the Council board will find ample scope for displaying their elocutionary powers upon.

IN THE WRONG BOX.—A farmer was arrested yesterday evening on the market for being outrageously drunk and noisy, and was conveyed to the station. After sleeping off the whiskey, he awoke at one o'clock this morning and appeared at the grating, communicating with the corridor, and shouted with all his might. "Ho, boys, it is time to get up and commence working." He was much surprised when he found himself in the cells.

APPROPRIATE presents at Cote & Leblanc's.

SPREADING OF CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.—A woman going along Rideau street yesterday, after leaving the By Ward Market, lost a chicken in a very strange manner. A big black dog followed her with a bone in his mouth as bare and polished as the statue of General Brock. Suddenly, he threw the bone away, and collaring a chicken by the little snout, ran off as fast as he could down Nicholas street. A pursuit was at once instituted but proved a failure.

FUR caps, manufacturers' prices—John Smith & Co.

RUNAWAY.—A jar fell from a farmer's waggon on Sussex street to-day, which contained a fluid resembling whiskey. He diamounted in time to save some of the contents, which he said was painkiller, but while he was tightening the cork in the neck his horse ran away down Clarence street, and upset several articles standing near the sidewalk. He (the horse) was captured by a butcher ultimately, but not before one of the shafts was broken.

THE CHRISTMAS MARKETS.

THE BUTCHERS' STALLS.

A GRAND DISPLAY OF CHRISTMAS CHEER.

The Markets yesterday were crowded from daylight to dark with buyers and sellers. Immense quantities of butchers' meat, poultry, game, venison and bear meat were sold. It is said by those who ought to know that Ottawa never before showed such a display of all kinds of meat, whether as regards quality or quantity. In

By Ward Market,

Satchell Brothers' splendid stall presented a beautiful appearance; the slaughtered carcase of the famous steer, "Lord Dufferin," attracted a crowd, and not without reason, as the display was a sight to see and never to be forgotten. One half of the carcase was taken in a truck to their stall at 4 o'clock drawn by a team of horses, and it took about 30 men with ropes and pulleys to get it into its proper place. When, at last, it was hung up, it looked more like the

than that of a steer. The meat of this colossus is of first-class quality, and the bones are remarkably small. It will be something in 20 years hence when the father of a family presiding over the festive Christmas board can sit down and say, "Children, you may talk about your oxen of the present day, but I ate some of the celebrated Lord Dufferin steer

TWENTY YEARS AGO."

The carcase when dressed weighed 2,500 pounds, and the animal was killed yesterday morning. The "Lord Dufferin" took about 50 different prizes in its day, and was one of the wonders of the Philadelphia Exhibition, where it took the first prize, besides many premiums, amounting to over $300. It was owned by the well known Mr. Cowan, of Guelph. The Satchell Bros. have, besides, an immense quantity of prime beef and mutton on hand, notably three carcases of Hereford cattle imported by Geo. Hood, of Guelph, and also some raised by Mr. Clarke, of Nepean. They have brought to this country from England by Mr. Whittles, of Guelph. There are in this stall, amongst other good things, three gigantic deer and three bears, one of which is so large that it took considerable difficulty to dispose of him. There were two wild geese sent to O'Meara's and the Stevens House yesterday which weighed on an average 20 pounds 7 ounces each, and another was sent to the Government House labelled

TWENTY-ONE POUNDS.

The next stall is that of Mr. John Kennedy, one of the best laid out, cleanest and most stylish it is possible to see. Mr. Kennedy's chief line is mutton, of which there is a choice selection, the carcases of over 80 sheep hang suspended in rows, tier above tier, all dressed in such a manner as to make the teeth of the gourmand water. He has, besides, a magnificent assortment of fowl, fat and plump, and game of all sorts and sizes. Right opposite is the pork stall of the most attractive of which is a row of young porkers, looking as white as snow and delicate as satin. The porkers, however, are not all small; there is one fellow there labelled 500 lbs. There is a great variety of hams in this stall, besides bologna sausages, and all the adjuncts of a first-class pork stall, which Mr. Thorbahn's undoubtedly is. The next stall is that of outside the building. Mr. Slattery's store is crowded to its utmost capacity with pork, beef, mutton, poultry, game, and everything that one can desire to purchase for a Christmas dinner. His speciality, however, is choice Western beef, mostly brought from Guelph and vicinity. Lately Mr. Slattery has imported immense herds of prime beef and mutton, which were exhibited at the surrounding county fairs, and now these fine carcases are hung around the stall in great profusion, and seem as if no end of purchases would be able to reduce the supply. This stall is tastefully decorated and lighted, and presents a very neat and warm appearance. The

in this market presents a fine show, as well as Mr. James Connolly, both of whose stalls are models of what butchers' stalls should be, and the Messrs. Tyralls are in no wise backward. In one of them are boxes upon boxes filled with the different kinds of game, and in another hundred, of white rabbits form a speciality not to be overlooked. Taking everything into consideration the By Warket market of this Christmas presents a very fine appearance and would, doubtless, look still better were it not for the market squabbles of the past season.

John Cassidy is not behindhand in providing for his customers. His stall situate at the corner of the market on York street; is well supplied with all kinds of meat and Mr. Cassidy has such an obliging manner that customers like to patronise him.

Mr. Duhamel is also to the fore with a magnificent stock at the corner of Clarence street, shop D.

Mr. Harry Crack so well known from his former connection with Messrs. Satchell Bros., occupies the first stall on William street. He has a fine steer, three years old, fed by Mr. John Ferguson of Osgoode, and in other respects Mr. Crack has a first rate stock to meet the demand of his daily increasing customers.

Wellington Ward.

Since the fire the butchers of Wellington Ward have had to look for other quarters until the temperary sheds are completed, which in all probability they will before Saturday evening. At present Mr. Bufton and Satchell Brothers are pushing their stall forward as quickly as possible, and in the meantime they have laid in their usual Christmas stock. Alfred Boufton can be found in the corner stall of Sparks and Sally street, opposite his stand, in the new market, and if finished in time his customers can be served at at either this or his stall opening on Sparks street, next to the late market. As Mr. Bufton's customers may not be aware that he is in readiness to supply them as usual this Christmas with prime beef, some of which has been fed by Mr. Robert Bain, of Nepean, specially fed for him, and some by himself, which are now ready for the first purchaser. Mr. Bufton has also a magnificent show of mutton of the primest kind, hams, pork, lamb, poultry. Among the latter are some fine turkeys, weighing from 15 to 20 pounds; sauges and all kinds of butchers stock, so that Mr. Bufton's customers can visit him and feel confident that they will be as well and better treated this Christmas than heretofore.

MR. SLATTERY

has taken the shop at the corner of Sparks and Bank streets, where he has, as usual, a very fine display of beef, mutton, and pork of splendid quality, and venison of the rarest kind; turkeys, geese sausages—everything that the greatest connoisseur could desire. It is unnecessary to praise Mr. Slattery's meat as those who have been in the habit of dealing with him know that it is of first rate quality.

SATCHELL BROTHERS

now occupy a stall at 222 Wellington street, two doors from Hall's confectionery. Here they are prepared to supply everyone with the same quality of meats that they have in their By Ward Market stall. Should the temporary market be completed in time, they will open in stall letter A, next to Sparks street, where purchasers can get every kind of meat, poultry, and pork.

LOCAL NEWS.

Chaudiere Market.

This market still holds its own for having an enterprising number of butchers occupying the various stalls. In No. 1 Mr. Kenna has a grand show of all kinds of first-class meat; and J. L. Gibson comes out unusually strong, with a large display of prime Western fed beef, mutton, lamb, pork and sausages. Mr. Gibson makes a speciality of his beef, and has one of the finest displays of turkeys and geese of any butcher in the market. Stall No. 4 is occupied by Mr. Joseph Hanrahan, formerly of Hanrahan Brothers, Richmond Road, and it is well filled with choice beef—a splendid heifer two years old being a very prime animal—mutton, and in fact, everything which the fastidious Christmas appetite can possibly desire. Our butchers have, therefore, put on an additional amount of energy after the dull season—which it is to be hoped is past—to make the display of Christmas, 1876, if anything, better than those of many years past, and we wish them a rich harvest and a merry hearth, so that they can enjoy the round of their industry and enterprise.

POLICE COURT.

Before M. O'Gara, P. M.

THURSDAY, Dec. 21.

William McGann and Theophile Lafrance were brought up on remand for stealing a buffalo robe from the sleigh of Mr. Albert Macdonald. McGann pleaded not guilty, while Lafrance pleaded guilty. Mr. Macdonald deposed to the losing of the robe, and having found it afterwards in the second-hand store of Joseph Brokenshir.

Mr. Brokenshir swore to the identity of Lafrance, and that it was he who offered the robe for sale on the 15th instant, and Detective McVeitty testified to the arrest of the two prisoners.

Several other witnesses were examined. His Worship warned McGann, and discharged him, the evidence against him not being conclusive, and sentenced Lafrance to three months' imprisonment.

Amelia Nelson and Joseph Foubier were charged with assaulting Kate Bush. Complainant, who had not quite recovered from the effects of the assault, swore that Nelson struck her on the head with a poker, and that Foubier kicked her on the stomach when she was down.

The prisoners requested a remand for a week, Foubier stating that if that time were given him, he could produce evidence to prove that he was not the person who assaulted Kate Bush. The remand was granted.

THE QUESTIONS OF "A TRUE SPIRITUALIST."

Baldwin's Reply.

Professor Baldwin, who will to-night expose Spiritualism at Gowan's Opera House, replies as follows to the queries propounded to him by "A True Spiritualist" in an evening paper of yesterday:—

To the Editor of THE TIMES.

SIR,—In reply to the somewhat arrogant correspondent of an evening paper, permit me to say, seriatum:

1st. I will materialize recognizable spirit faces and forms just as the mediums do.

2nd. I will allow any public officer or any one to handcuff me, and I will cause the handcuffs to be "materialized."

3rd. I do tell names of dead acquaintances, etc., as does Charles Foster; and finally I do the notorious Slade slate writing, which, by the way, I am astonished that you or any sane Spiritualist can claim to be produced by spirit aid since Dr. Slade's recent discomfiture in Tondon.

I defy you to bring your own handcuffs. Bring the best you can get, and you may put them upon me yourself.

And now, sir, should it happen that I do to-night upon the Opera House stage duplicate the above "fundamental phenomena of Spiritualism, by giving exhibitions which involve human agency only, and entirely shall I appeal to any unbiassed mind, may I not then be pardoned for terming you a deluded mortal, who has failed to exercise ordinary precaution from impostors, and who are therefore unworthy the confidence of your fellowmen.

S. S. BALDWIN,
Exposer of Spiritualism.

THE MOST POWERFUL REMEDY OF MODERN TIMES.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

For thirty years there has been one objection to porous plasters, and that consisted in their slow action. The invention of Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters overcomes this difficulty. They will positively cure diseases in a few hours, which other porous plasters, liniments or compounds require days and weeks of continuous wear to simply relieve.

Their action is more vigorous than electricity, and more powerful as a local remedy. They do not blister, are purely vegetable; and contain neither metallic or mineral poisons. Their celebrity is founded upon their great activity.

They are in no sense a nostrum or a patent medicine, but founded upon true medical skill; they attack diseases with astonishing vigor, and quickly restore the circulation to its normal condition.

They are a great improvement on other porous plasters. The strongest possible evidence of their great curative properties lies in the fact of their being imitated by unscrupulous individuals, who seek to palm off worthless compounds under the name of "Capsicum" or "Capsicin" as being the same as Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters. Be not deceived; they are totally unlike the genuine. To protect the consumer the word Capcine is cut in every plaster.

This remarkable remedy is endorsed as the best external medicine known by over 2,000 physicians and druggists, of excellent reputation. Price 25 cents.
