Poetry.

THIS LIFE IS NOT ALL SORROW.

This life is not all sorrow !
Some bright spots cheer our way :
And often a smiling morrow
Will follow a tearful day.

There is both joy and sorrow
In this fair world of ours ;
And Hope points each to-morrow
As bright as fairy bowers.

If in this earth we borrow
A joy from every thing,
'Twill take the sting from sorrow,
And new-born pleasures bring.

Though we should nurse our sorrow,
And try to feel forlorn,
It will fade away to-morrow
Like rainbow tints of morn.

If we would have to-morrow
Exempt from much alloy,
We must try to check our sorrow,
And learn to curb our joy ;
For too much sorrow will our peace destroy
And joys, too oft repeated, only cloy.

Miscellaneous.

The poor fellow "who couldn't hold his own, has got himself into a worse difficulty by trying to hold another's.

There is a thriving friendly society in Manchester England, under the somewhat forbidding title of "Antediluvian Buffaloes.'

The darkest scene I ever saw was a darkey in a dark cellar, with an extinguished candle, looking for a black cat that wasn't there.

A man recently tried soft soap to smooth the harshness of his wife's tongue. It took off a little of the roughness, but made it run faster.

"That's my impression, as the printer said to a pretty girl, when he had kissed her. "And that a token of my regard,' replied the lady, boxing his ears.

Foote, being scolded by a lady, said, "I have heard of tartar and brimstone: you are the cream of the one and the flower of the other.'

"Sam, does your mother ever give you any rewards of merit?'
"I spose she does, she gives me a licking regularly every day, and says I merit two.'

An Inference.—A country editor speaking of a steamboat says: "She had twelve berths in her ladies' cabin.'
"Oh, life of me!' exclaimed an old lady upon reading the above, "what a squalling there must have been!'

Young ladies should never object to being kissed by a printer, they should make every allowance for the 'freedom of the press.'

A Nursery Chime.—Be still you naughty childrens! pulling poore mommy's capens off her poor headens, if eu doneus be stillens, I'll whippens youse little bottens for yousens, top now I tellens, if eu dosens I'll call the old black sweepeens to take childrens offens!'

Quite Resigned.—"My dear Julia,' said one pretty girl to another, "can you make up your mind to marry Mr. Snuff?'—"Why my dear Mary,' replied Julia, "I believe I could take him at a pinch.

An editor, describing the effects of a squall upon a canal boat, says, "when the gale was at its highest, the unfortunate craft keeled to the larboard, and the captain and another cask of whiskey rolled overboard.

A New Drink.—Parson Brownlow, of the Knoxville Whig, gives the following description of a new drink he discovered during a recent visit to Washington: "They have a new drink now in that city, called "tangle leg ingredients of which are diluted alcohol, nitric acid, boot leg and tobacco, and which, it is said, will upset a man at distance of a mile from the demijohn.

Friend Meek had a very good horse, and a very poor one. When seen riding the latter, it turned out that his better had had taken the good one. "What,' said a bantering bachelor, "how comes it that you let your wife ride the better horse?' The only reply was—"Friend, when the beest married thee'll know.'

"May it please the honorable court and gentlemen of the jury, the defendant in this case wilfully and maliciously, with all the fury of a fiend, emerged from the wild wilderness, with all the terrible frenzy of a roaring lion, and with his gigantic strength did then and there seize my inoffensive client by the collar and—tore his shirt!"

Suett, used to tell a story of a woman with whom he lodged. who was rather fond of gin. She would order her servant to get the supplies after the following fashion:—"Betty, go and get a quarten loaf and half a quarten of gin.' Off started Betty. She was speedily recalled. "Betty, make it half a quarten loaf and a quarten of gin.' But Betty had never got fairly over the threshold on the mission ere the voice was again heard, "Betty, on second thoughts, we may as well make it all gin.'

"Papa, can't I go to the zoological rooms to see the camomile fight the ri-no-sir-hoss?' "Satitin, my son, but don't get your trowsers torn. Strange, my dear, what a taste that boy has got for nat'ral history. No longer than yesterday he had eight tom-cats hanging by their narratives to the clothes line.'

Power in a Woman's Eye.—A lady when the conversation turned on dynamics, asked the late George Stephenson, the celebrated engineer, "What do you consider the most powerful force in nature?' 'I will soon answer that question,' said he; "It is the eye of a woman (to the man that loves her); for if a woman looks with affection on a man, should he go to the uttermost ends of the earth, the recollection of that look will bring him back."

A Good One.—Three young ladies of Philadelphia were lately spending the summer in north-eastern New York. On one occasion, as they had been travelling some distance, and the day was warm, and as a trough of water stood by the road side, they concluded to give the poney a drink. One of the city ladies got out to arrange matters for this purpose. The others, remaining in the carriage, and deeply engaged in conversation, for some time paid no attention to the proceedings of their companion. When at last, suprised at the long delay, they turned to ascertain the cause, they discovered her endeavouring to unbuckle the crupper. In amazement they inquired, "what in the world are you doing that for?' To which she replied, "Why I am unbuckling this strap to let the horse's head down so that he may drink!'

Antidote for Alcohol.—The following paragraph we cut from the New York Herald of Saturday last; and commended it to the attention of all parties interested:—

Dr. Marcet, of Westminister Hospital, announces that oxide of zinc is an excellent remedy against the disastrous effects of alcohol on the system, such as hallucinations, delirium tremens, etc. He administers the oxide in power, in doses of two grains, twice a day, an hour after each meal, and generally increases the dose by two grains every third day, until the patient takes between six and eight grains a day. A cure is generally effected in the course of six weeks,

We know a far better "Antidote to Alcohol" that the foregoing—and one that can be summed up in fewer words, It is simply this,—Drink no Alcohol—and you will have no need of antidotes.

I hereby bear testimony that I have tried SANDERSON'S ROTATING HARROWS, on my summer fallow, last Saturday, and Monday, and have found them up to all that Mr. Sanderson represents them to be. They are NOT of any heavier draft than the common harrow, and do the work to my utmost satisfaction. I confidently recommend them to all who require implements of the kind.

HUNDRED SHOT DEAD.
DR. M'KENZIE'S
DEAD SHOT
WORM CANDY,
IS working Miracles beyond conception. The Medical Faculty of Scotland, as well as England and Ireland, have pronounced this Worm Candy to do more good than all Worm Medicines combined. It has stood the test since A D., 1765, nearly one hundred years, which, almost every son and daughter of Old Scotia can testify.
It has always borne the name of
'Old Dr. M'Kenzie's Worm Candy Stick.'
As it resembles a candy-stick in taste and appearance, and a child eating it is wholly unconcious of taking medicine, and where worms exist, the results are beyond description.
A child ten years of age, of the Rev. J. McDougall, Pundee, passed over 500 WORMS in three days, which he testifies, that he believed, by God's blessing, it saved the child's life. Thousands of similar testimonials are given (without solicitation) to the present proprietor.
General Symptoms of Worms !
Restless, Sudden Starting and Grinding the Teeth in Sleep, Convulsions, Ravenous Appetite, (sometimes no Appetite) Paleness, Picking the Nose, Bowel Complaints, Fever, Fretfulness, Emaciation, Looseness of the Flesh, Dry Cough, Sour Breath, &c. &c,
All of the above symptoms will immediately cease to exist by using this Medicine once or twice. It always gives health, even if no worms exist. It is perfectly harmless even to the most tender infant.
Warranted Purely Vegetable
in its combination.
Full directions with each package.
Sold at retail by all Druggists and Medicine Dealers in Europe and America, at 7½ pence sterling, [15 cents] per package, or 2 shillings, [50 cents] for four packages. Be sure that each package has the signature of H. E. McKenzie, M.D. Glasgow, on the wrapper.
