Poetry.

Morning

Up on the dark-browed mountain
The glowing red sun stands,
And golden showers of sunshine
Rain down the summer lands.

The fragrant air is laden
With the bloom of mignonette,
And pearly dewdrops glisten
On the silver lilies yet.

Far off I hear the cow-bells
Clash through the drowsy air,
And the forest trees are ringing
Bird-music everywhere.

Below me, in the valley,
'Neath the vines a maiden stands,
And the lilies that she gathers
Are not white as her white hands.

Out amid the summer roses,
Blooming red as reddest wine,
With the stars above, my darling
Laid that lily hand in mine.

And down the shining pathway
That winds to Death's dark sea
My darling, with the yellow hair,
Has vowed to walk with me.

Odds and Ends

A Minnesota editor speaks of another editor as a "Senile slinger of unsavoury English.

A little girl asked her brother what was capital punishment, and he ssid he thought it was being locked up in the jam cupboard.

An old bachelor says, "It is all nonsense to pretend that love is blind. I never saw a man in love yet that did not see ten times as much in his sweetheart as I could."

Advice to Oyster-Eaters.—Never open oysters with your fingers. It is apt to tickle the oyster, and put it into convulsions. An oyster in convulsions will generally collapse, and in this condition is unfit for food.

A drunken fellow, having sold all his goods except his feather-bed at last made away with it too: and his conduct being reproved by some of his friends, "Why," said he, "I am very well, thank fortune, and why should I keep my bed?"

Emma Woods, residing in Liverpool, opened her mouth very wide in order to do something to one of her back teeth when she found that she could not close her jaws together. She was taken to the hospital, where it was found that her lower jaw was dislocated.

Letting out the Tucks.—A teacher wishing to explain to a little girl the manner in which a lobster casts its shell when it has outgrown it, said, "What do you do when you have outgrown your clothes? You throw them aside, don't you?"—"Oh no," replied the little one, "we let out the tucks."

According to a recent estimate, the population of the globe is about 1,228,000,000 souls. Of this number 552,000,000 belong to the Mongolian race; 360,000,000 to the Caucasian; 190,000,000 to the Ethopian; 176,000,000 to the Malay, and 1,000,000 to Indio-American race. The annual mortality is over 33,000,000.

M. Dubarle, a judge of the Paris Court of Appeal, has just died from an extraordinary cause. A few weeks ago he was called to make a funeral oration over the remains of the Mayor of Pomponne, and while delivering it he inhaled the emanations from the coffin of the Mayor's wife, and has now died from what is called "cadaverous poisining."

Mr. Frank Thorne, of Buffalo, has gone to Niagara Falls, where he proposes to close arrangements for a leap, a la Sam Patch, some time next August, probably right after the Buffalo horse races. His platform will be erected between the two falls, in the identical spot from which Patch made his wonderful leap. The height of the fall at this place is 165 feet.

Disciples of the "gentile Isaac" will envy the luck of two citizens of Bobcaygeon, who went down the Bobcaygeon river a couple of miles from the village, and returned in a couple of hours with 96 large bass, averaging two and a half pounds each. The waters of the two Bobs, says the Independent, are literally swarming with finny occupants, and anywhere a few feet from the shore they can be caught in abundance with scarcely any trouble.

As an example of American laudation we take the following from a Louisville paper: "When Miss Howson first appeared, her bright eyes and lovely face attracted everybody. But when her beautiful pearly teeth were disclosed, there came such a cataract of diamond drops of melody that the house seemed, as it were, deluged in a spray of harmony equal to that which one might imagine would come from a Niagara composed of Æolian harps."

A poor young man fell in love with an heiress, and the passion being returned, it only wanted the parents' consent to make them happy. At length he asked the father for the daughter's hand. "How much money can you command?" asked the millionaire, gruffly. "I cannot command much" was the reply. "What are your expectations?"—"Well, to tell you the truth, I expect to run away with your daughter, and marry her, if you don't give your consent.

The weather and the prospects of the farmers in the County of Bruce are thus referred to by the Herald:—A very heavy rain last Friday caused some of the smaller creeks to rise higher than they were during the spring freshet. There has been several showers this week which have promoted vegetation. The season is at least three weeks earlier than the previous one, and what is very unusual, there has been little or no frost. Every thing looks fresh and green, and there is abundant pasture for cattle. The buds are bursting into leaf and blossom, and give indications of a fine yield of fruit.

Beautiful May

Welcome, sweet welcome,
Oh! jubilant birds,
Singing in concert
Your songs without words.
Welcome, sweet welcome,
Fair blossoms to-day,
Crowning so gaily
The beautiful May.

Summer hath glories
On meadow and plain;
Autumn hath fullness
Of fruit and of grain;
Winter hath beauty;
Yet poets all say,
No time so sweet
As the beautiful May.

Welcome, sweet welcome,
Then south wind and dew,
Music and flowers,
And skies of bright blue.
Welcome, sweet welcome,
Oh! green earth to-day,
Crown her with laurels
On beautiful May!

No Fiction!

HEADFORD WOOLEN MILLS, 3rd concession of Markham,

John Eyer would return thanks to his customers for their liberal support during the Carding Season, and would inform them, and others, in adjoining Townships, that he will be ready to do their Fulling, Coloring, Cloth Dressing, Pressing, &c., as good, cheap, and as quick as any other establishment in the Dominion,

CARDING, SPINNING AND WEAVING.

Having also put in New Machinery, he is prepared to do Spinning and Carding by the pound, if required.

MANUFACTURING.

Will take the wool, as sheared from the sheep, and make it up into Fulleloth of any kind, or pattern, to suit parties, such as Cloths, Tweeds, Cassimeres, Satinetts, Plain or Twill Flannels, Dress Flannels, Blankets (Horse or Bed), White or Colored Stocking Yarn (2 or 3 Ply), &c.

He will have on hand Cotton Warp, of a superior quality, that persons wishing to have their yarn wove, can have it done at a Lower Rate than they possibly can buy bunch cotton.

Having spared neither time nor expense in getting good Machinery and Workmen to fulfill promises, he hopes still to receive a share of public patronage.

Justice unto all, I intend to give;
My motto shall be—to live and let live.

Gristing will be attended to all times as formerly,

JOHN EYER.
