In the death of Mr. William Johns, which occurred on Thursday, Oshawa loses one of its most respected citizens. Some three years ago while travelling for a large New York furnace firm, he was stricken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and since that time suffered greatly till death released him. He was conscious up till the last, choosing his pall bearers and making all necessary arrangements for his funeral. He leaves three sons to mourn his loss, his wife having died with the same disease some years ago. His funeral on Saturday was largely attended, the Masonic and United Workman orders turning out in a body.

The dance held at the Queen's hotel last Friday night was a very enjoyable affair, about 30 couples being present. In O'Brien's & Stedham's photo gallery the town has a studio that its citizens ought to be proud of, and we believe they are, judging by the patronage that is being extended to this firm. They were the first to introduce life size photography in this town and already have made exceedingly fine likenesses of several of our leading citizens They would be pleased at all times to show anyone through their gallery. Samples of their work may be seen in their window, one door north of the post office.

To the readers of the CHRONICLE I want to say that I have just commenced the greatest, most gigantic, clearing sale every conducted in South Ontario. The Wightman stock was composed largely of fall and winter fabrics, and as I bought it late in the spring a large portion of it had to be carried over until this fall trade opened. I am now closing it out at any sacrifice. If I cannot make the price of any article in my store satisfactory to any customer who calls I will make that customer a handsome present before they leave the place. Now come and see and hold me to my advertisement. A

The town board of education met on Monday night and spent almost the whole evening in discussing the salary question in regard to teachers. Mr. Scott brought up the old question by way of a motion to instruct the school management committee to make out a schedule cutting down salaries. Finding that this would not go he changed it to an instruction to the committee to consider the question. There was considerable discussion, winding up with a vote which resulted in a tie and killed the motion. Nothing else was done at the board except the discussion of some matters of promotion.

The Vindicator has come out this week in seven column form, and has adopted the boiler-plate inside. The public appears to favor a big sheet, no matter how it is made, and will listen with eager ear to the solicitation to subscribe for a patent sheet, if it be bigger. It stands to reason that a foundry made newspaper, which appears in the same type in about fifty towns will be cheapest, and this enables the boiler platers to offer a larger sheet. The indifference of the public to the merits of a newspaper, provided it is large, is certainly discouraging, and it assists the patent foundry made sheets in their fight to squeeze the honest home print with its home news out of existence. As it is whenever a paper is low in subscriptions it adopts a big patent form, and sends out a big sheet of old reading matter printed in Toronto. The public casts merit aside in newspapers and takes the biggest one in sight, with the result that a paper which had a small circulation for a first class local paper, booms with a patent fake. The Vindicator is but going where the public drives. People want a big sheet, good or bad, and whatever the public demands must be had.

Attacking Teachers' Salaries

The board of education has again taken up the matter of reducing teachers' salaries. While no doubt the rate of town taxation is high, and cash somewhat hard to obtain, we think it would be false economy to attempt to cut our teachers' salaries, and have them resign, as no doubt some of them would do. Through the efficiency of our high school teachers that institution has secured a reputation second to none in the province, and, after the hard work these teachers have done, to offer them a lower salary ought not for one moment to be thought of. True, there are a great many teachers, but still we venture to say that good ones are as scarce as they ever were. If we offer second rate pay we must be content to accept second rate teachers, which means a second rate school. Whitby has a collegiate institute and has to employ five specialists. For reasons of economy the salaries of the science and classics masters there have been kept down, and as a result none but inexperienced teachers could be had. Whenever one of them had acquired a year or two's experience he immediately secured a good salary elsewhere, and as a result Whitby has become a training school for teachers in these branches. It will prove the same here. Oshawa can easily secure cheap teachers, but no town can make a good teacher accept a low salary. He may do so for the time being, but he slips away the first chance that offers Let the salaries of the teachers be cut down and we predict that before a year all the best ones will have flown, leaving only the culls—and the culls from other schools, who would accept the low salaries which the present staff would decline. Every man's business experience enables him to know that a

The Vindicator appears this week in larger form. Quite an improvement.

Messrs. Henry & Putney have opened their photographing business in the gallery recently vacated by Mr. W. E. O'Brien.

We are free to say never in this county was such sacrifices made in prices of goods as are being made at A. Mackey's, Oshawa.

The Misses Pedlar, Hanson and Whiteman, of Oshawa, came down on their wheels on Tuesday afternoon, and while here they were the guests of Mr. Malcolm Galbraith.—Bowmanville news.

Daily Journal, Fort Williams says:—Mr. G. H. Pedlar, sr., general manager of the Pedlar Metal Roofing Company, is in town at the Algoma. The company has been disposing of its goods in large quantities all through the west to Vancouver. Mr. Pedlar is a very old friend of Coun. Geo. Hodder.

Last Saturday a very painful accident happened to Charlie Carr, an employee of Pedlar Metal Roofing Company. One of the heavy dies descended on his hand before he was prepared for it, and smashing three of his fingers so badly they had to be amputated.

The Vindicator is bound to argue that boys must be "trounced" for perpetrating mischief around town. People have been brought up to this flogging of youth, and a large majority look upon it as a virtue to maltreat helpless children, and we know we have the unpopular side of the argument. They all ask: "What would you do with a boy who would do this or that?" feeling that there was no answer to the question but a recommendation to apply the rod. There are a thousand and one ways of regulating a boy, but kindness is the best of all, and flogging is the worst. No person dares to flog a big boy or a man. Why? Because he would slay the monster who would attempt it. Shall a boy be threshed because he is weak? That is the only reason why it is done. If one only had a schedule of the cruelties perpetrated upon children yearly because they are wayward and helpless, the record would be appalling. And, somehow, the higher form our christianity takes the more cruel people become in this respect. There is neither law nor gospel to back it. By a glaring misinterpretation of law it is permitted, and some people appear to fancy that men can perpetrate all sorts of immorality and wrong, so long as the boys get a bleaching regularly.

Thornton's Corners

We regret to state that Albert Beckett's health is not improving.

Young Colby, who works for O Pascoe, also Mr John Bailey, are down with fever.

Our present teacher. W W McLaren, has been engaged for 1897 at an increased salary.

Messrs Orton and Beckett each sold a horse the other day to Mr Harkness, buyer, at, we understand, fair prices.

Mr John Bartlett is one of the most progressive farmers in this county, he having experimented with the different breeds of hogs until he discovered the best. This fall he is sowing eight different varieties of fall wheat. The result of his experiment will be watched with interest.

Our beef ring has closed operations for the year. Just think, Mr. Editor, of the families of twenty farmers consuming upwards of ten thousand pounds of beef in twenty weeks. It has been reorganized for 1897. T B Mothersill has done the killing and cutting up for the past two years and has given entire satisfaction.

This section now rightfully claims the honor of having the finest school house and grounds of any rural school section in the county. This summer, during the holidays, the trustees have laid out $200 on the school house and outbuildings, having them reshingled and otherwise repaired by Mr Isaac Huggins, and kalsomined and painted by Mr Andrew Dewar. We believe that Messrs Huggins and Dewar deserve the highest commendation for the manner in which their work has been performed. Now, Mr. Editor, the pride of our section is not centered entirely in our fine school premises, but in the intelligent pupils who, to the number of about sixty, occupy them, and the able and gentlemanly teacher, W. W. McLaren, who, we believe, has the respect and good will of every resident in the section.

Thornton's Corners ranks as one of the oldest sections in the county, and is so named after the Rev Dr Thornton, the first presbyterian minister in Oshawa and East Whitby. Dr. Thornton was also the first superintendent of education for the old township of Whitby, now Whitby and East Whitby, and the, at that time, village of Oshawa. The first presbyterian church stood on land now used for the Union cemetery and as there was no other presbyterian church in Oshawa or East Whitby, people, I am informed, came from as far north as the township of Reach to listen to the rev. doctor and learn the way of life. On account of the beautiful cemetery which now adorns the hill, Thornton's Corners are connected to thousands of hearts, for as far back as 1842 people were interred here, and to-day it is the largest cemetery in the county, as it comprises some twenty-five acres of land, and we hope to soon see the day when it will be purchased from its present owners, Union Cemetery Co., and owned by the townships of Whitby and East Whitby and the towns of Oshawa and Whitby, as then it would be kept in something like a decent condition.
