The strawberry crop was abundant, but so few have any vines that the supply was somewhat short of the demand. The raspberry yield will be enormous from present appearances, they being very favorable. Cherries are in greater supply than for some years past, but are only in meagre supply. There will be plenty of some kinds of plums.

A O U W Annual Excursion.

Will take place on Monday, the 26th inst on the fine steamer Garden City to St. Catherines. "Cut this out and put it in your hat."

Distressing Mower Accident.

Mr. Peter McDermott, a well known Pickering farmer who resides north of Pickering village, was killed in his field on Tuesday whilst mowing hay. Any particulars that are given are largely guesswork. The deceased appears to have lost control of his team whilst driving the mower, and in the runaway that ensued he got underneath it somehow and was dreadfully mangled. It is stated that all ribs were broken from his back bone. He only lived a few minutes after the accident. He was a man of about 60 years of age, and stood in the highest respect. A wife and two sons survive him, the sons being residents of Indian Head, N. W.T. Deceased was well known in this town.

A Coasting Exploit.

Mr Sam Kempthorn is one of the best wheelmen in town, and has accomplished himself in every form of riding that can be done on top of the wheel. He can take a chalk line for a mile with his eyes shut, can jump over a dog, or climb a toboggan slide. He can make it dance a hornpipe, or stand at ease without touching the ground. What can't he do? Well, on Sunday last he took a trip with some others to Toronto to see the boys of the brigade, and, feeling pretty well after he got there, he set out to give his admiring chums a taste of speed, followed by a sensation or two. He started to coast down a long and steep hill, and when half way down had attained a speed of about four miles a minute. He was going so fast that those alongside the road could only see a streak of man and wheel which appeared to be about fifty feet long and transparent. At this juncture he decided to give an acrobatic performance. Placing his right foot on his front tire just behind the forks he pressed heavily upon it, forcing the wheel to slide. The force of his weight in motion caused the hind wheel to take a curve over the front one, and Sammy was soon on his back with the wheels shading him from the sun. Then commenced a series of somersaults—Sammy over the wheel and the wheel over Sammy—lasting about forty roods. Here Sammy and the bicycle parted company for the remainder of the game. Once free from encumbrance the wheel commenced jumping about, here and there and all over, until it finally threw a double somersault and hung itself on a neighboring telegraph wire. Meanwhile Sammy was as busy as a bee. What with turning cartwheels, rolling over, wiping up dirt, and skinning his points, our young townsman had not time to listen for either applause or encore. Finally he slid halfway through a culvert at a crossing and become squeezed in so tight that it took a team of horses to haul him out. It was a most exhausting performance, and upon completion of the programme Sammy was conveyed into camp on a shutter and retired from active service until next morning, when he braced up to face the ride home.

The following is a description of the burglar "Jack" McLean who escaped from police headquarters in Toronto in broad daylight, after being cleverly captured by Detective Davis, and who is still at large, it is believed somewhere in Ontario. Aged 48, height 5 ft. 4¾ inches, weight 162 lbs. Medium stout, light chestnut hair, slate blue eyes, fair complexion.

Mr T G Jackson writes us that the management of the Garden City was not responsible for the misunderstanding which induced a lot of people to go on the last moonlight excursion, when they were kept out until nearly six o'clock next morning. This may be true, but whoever made the contract on behalf of the Garden City must have known that the people would not get back here until 5.30 a m, and must also have felt that if the people knew this they would not go. As one of those who went expecting to get back at a reasonable hour, we are able to know how much the excursionists had to complain of. If the 34th battalion band knew their patrons were to be kept out all night, whilst advertising to run only to Port Hope and Cobourg, the management of the band was highly to blame.

A Whitby Boy an Advertising Expert.

The leading article in the last issue of "Printer's Ink," the Little Schoolmaster in the Art of Advertising, is by Mr F James Gibson, advertising manager for A A Vantine & Co., New York. The subject treated is that of "Position," That Mr Gibson, who is a well known Whitby boy, is competent to speak with authority upon such a state may be admitted when it is stated that he has for several years had charge of the Vantine advertising amounting to over $100,000 annually. The Vantine's is the largest oriental goods house in the world.

Baby Carriages and Their Joys.

Did you ever notice how strong a desire a matrimonial fruit basket has to get into a crowd? Just have a new pair of light trousers on, and go away some place on a holiday, where mothers take their precious children to enjoy a day's outing. While you are squeezing your way through the mass of people, suddenly you feel your leg rubbed against, and on looking down, you find a beautiful mark of mother earth and castor oil from the hub left on those pants which you thought looked so well If it is not earth that is left on them, it is likely to be grease or something worse. If you are a saint you may say nothing, but you think an awful lot. If you are like the rest of us, you will rain blessings of an evil nature upon baby, mother, carriage and all in connection.

Stupid Reporting

Thsse who heard young Wilson's trial before Judge Dartnell on Saturday for obtaining goods under false pretences, or who knew the facts of the case, must have been amused at the Gazette's report. Only three things were given correctly. viz: Wilson's name, the date of the taial, and the sentence of the court. All the facts as alleged by the Gazette were flagrantly wrong. The Gazette had no reporter in court and picked up its report as usual from hearsay on the street. It is a common remark among members of the town council and board of education that when the editor of the Gazette does attend public meetings his head is so thick that he always gets the reports wrong. When a paper is all filled up with readymade news from a Toronto foundry but a couple of columns on one page, one would expect to see that little corner filled in correctly.

The Veterans of '66.

On Friday last the veterans of '66, under command of Major Farewell held an excursion from Toronto to Queenston Heights. There was a great gathering of the old soggers and their friends, and it became plainly evident that if the force who went to the front to fight had all been all killed, this country would never have known how many leading citizens it had lost. The men who have the pluck to face the bullets of the enemy are usually the ones to achieve commercial success. When the excursionists had lunched on the lawn in front of Brock's monument, Major Farewell, president, called the company to order and gave a short address. Col. Currie, St. Catherines, who was born at Queenston, gave a description of the battle, and being possessed of all the traditions of the fight, his address was highly interesting. Alex. Muir, author of The Maple Leaf, made a very fine patriotic address. Then to carry out proper pic-nic form a baseball match was perpetrated between nines from Toronto and St. Catherines. No person was allowed to play who had ever done the like previously. No pitcher was eligible who could throw a ball straight enough to hit anybody, even by accident; while any player who knocked a ball off the height had to scramble down the side of the mountain and hunt it up. The umpire was a blind man from Hamilton. Everybody ran so much that the base-runners could not be followed, but it is supposed the St. Catherines won by about 150 runs. Next a tug of war was participated in by representative pullers from the same cities, in which the our gallant Major Farewell was the anchor for Toronto, and in which some ladies grabbed the rope behind to assist his side and nearly hung him. Toronto won this match. Lastly, the president and past president had a walking contest, in which Major Farewell won a gold cup turned out of wood in a lathe, but had to throw off his boots and go unshod in order to conquer his competitors. Dr. May assisted by Mrs Farewell, distributed the prizes, declaring that no further punishment would be inflicted upon the winners if they refrained from athletic exhibitions in future, and confined themselves to fighting dead enemies by tradition.

It is many a year since so great a hay crop was saved, and the quality will be excellent. The grain crops at present are as promising as any person could wish. All the grain crop is headed and partly filled, and nothing but storms, blight or rust could possibly ruin the chances of a splendid yield.

Markham and Stouffville lacrosse teams played at Markham on Saturday a scheduled game in the York district lacrosse league, resulting in a victory for Markham by a score of 8 goals to 1. Stouffville, since holding the Tecumsehs to a draw, 5-5, at Stouffville the previous Saturday, felt confident of winning, and were followed to Markham by about 250 rooters, who lost their money and their confidence in their team. All the players of the Markham team played a star game, while every man of Stouffville was off color excepting Mike O'Connor, H James, Tom Graham and E Pennock.

Season of Faith Cures and Suicides.

This is the season for faith cures. We notice a grand excursion to St Anne, Que., where, when the orthodox Catholic arrives at the shrine of noted antiquity, he can be cured of all the ills to which poor human nature is prone. This cure is effected by touching ancient relics and looking upon old images. Then another cure effected by faith is accomplished by simply taking an excursion to Niagara Falls where all-comers are received. Suicides are numerous and the ill-fated man has faith that all his sorrows will be forgotten in the rolling waters below. Another class of people go to Chicago, where simply by prayer and the laying on of hands all their aches and pains become joyful thrills of ecstasy. One is sure he is a new man and feels much better than if he had taken innumerable bottles of sarsaparilla and other never-failing cures. If this faith-cure tendency continues all the patent medicine companies will surely become bankrupt, for the new cure is so simple and certain. It sometimes fails, but then it is the fault of the patient whose faith is not strong enough to cause a recovery.

Convicted of False Pretences

A young fellow named Fred Wilson was tried before His Honor Judge Dartnell in the county judge's criminal court on Saturday, on a charge of obtaining property under false pretences. He has been working for J W Stevenson, Kinsale, since last spring, and has had some horse deals with him, E O McCrohan and others. As a result Wilson got to think he was smart at horse dealing, and on July 2nd he secured a substitute to work for Stevenson in his place for a day or two whilst he would go off and have a horse-trading tournament. He had purchased an animal from Stevenson, for which he gave a lien note which would come due the same time as Wilson's wages, and thus one would square the other. Wilson took the horse he bought of Stevenson on the day mentioned and started north, arriving at Myrtle in due time. There he bought a horse from David Ashton, livery man, for $15, and when Ashton refused to be stood off for the money, Wilson informed him that he owned a hundred acre farm at Haliburton, and was tenant of another hundred acre farm west of Brooklin. On the strength of this Ashton let the horse go, and Wilson went on to Port Perry, where he made his team fly up and down, and looked like a man who was in the trading business. Ashton learned that his chances of getting the $15 were bad so he induced Wilson to come to Myrtle by strategy, and tried to take the horse from him; but Wilson threatened to shoot him at first, and when that did not work plugged him with stones until he desisted from efforts to take back the animal. Ashton then had Wilson arrested, after a big chase. Before the judge Wilson claimed that he owned the farm at Haliburton, and denied having said that he rented the farm west of Brooklin, but would not give any testimony on oath. As a result, he was convicted, but was allowed until Monday to restore the horse to Ashton. When the case was again called on Monday it came to light that Wilson had been taking advantage of several people by pretending to have property, so the judge sentenced him to four months in the central prison at Toronto. This young man's whole trouble arises out of an ambition to become a horse-trader and a determination to stick at nothing in the line of lying that would gain him any advantage.

Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

571 ST. PATRICK ST., OTTAWA, JULY 31, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

Gentleman, — On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,
