Unusually Late Navigation.

The great lakes are still open to commerce, as the winter thus far has been quite mild. The Lehigh Valley line has just sent ten cargoes of coal by way of the lakes to Chicago. Two propellers passed the straits Friday night and will reach Chicago in safety. Such lake navigation has never before been attempted.—Hamilton Times Dec 20.

Eighth Wonder of the World.

It is demonstrated by history that the ancients in many of the arts, notably architecture, far excelled the present age, but it is reserved for the present decade to produce the eighth wonder of the world, i.e., West's World Wonder of Family Liniment, which is infallible for Rheumatism, Sprains Cuts, Bruises, Sores and all diseases requiring external application. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. H. McCollum.

Pianofortes.

Song Journal: Here is something about pianos worth remembering. Mozart's pianoforte had five octaves, F to F, and Clementi's had no more till about 1793, when five and a half octaves were gained by going up to the next C. In 1795 appeared the first piano with six octaves, from C. to C, and this compass was that the grand pianoforte given by Messrs. Broadwood, the great London house, to Beethoven in 1817, the one he used to play for the rest of his life. The general introduction of a six octave compass, whether from C to C or F to F, was not until 1812, when the six and a half octave compass also came in. The gradual extention of seven octaves by G and then A, upward and to the lowest A, downward, was not everywhere completed until 1851.

COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES.

Is Very Palatable and Agrees with the Stomach.

Mr. J. Worbing, of Newark, Ohio, says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in comparison with the plain oil and acid emulsions and and find it to agree much better with the stomach, and give better results in the diseases in which Cod Liver Oil is useful.

Death of one of the Kennedy Family.

Scotsmen throughout Canada will learn with regret of the death of Mr. David Kennedy, jun., eldest son of the celebrated Scottish vocalist. The sad event took place at Pietermaritzburg, South Africa. Mr. Kennedy was born at Perth in 1859, and made his first appearance as a vocalist with his father in 1870. With the rest of the family he travelled through Australia New Zealand and Canada. He wrote a graphic account of that journey, under the title of "Kennedy's Colonial Travels," which evinced considerable power of observation and real literary merit. He also travelled with the family in South Africa, in 1879 and 1880, and published the accounts of each of those tours on returning to Scotland. With the exception of a brief interval "at home" his remaining years were spent in South Africa, where, at the time of his death, he held the appointment of Secretary of the Council of Education in Natal.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis Catarrah, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers, in thousands of cases has felt it his duty to make it known to his fellow sufferers. Actuated by this motive and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 149 Powers Block, Rochester N. Y.

An Old Sport Under a New Name.

It now seems to be settled that the craze which is destined to follow roller skating is sliding down hill under an exotic and fashionable name. The fact that the joys of coasting has been known to boyhood—and some of the frisky grown people for generations, did not commend it to the fashionable world. It was necessary to have the custom introduced from abroad, to start it by making trips to Montreal, to call it tobogganing; and to surround it with numerous social pills, before it attained the popularity which now bids fair to set all the population of the United States, that can command snow or natural or artificial declivity, at the sport of tobogganing before the winter season is ended. However, the fact that tobogganing is only coasting and that coasting a good, healthy, old fashioned amusement, makes its growing popularity a good thing. It is a misfortune to have an honest a sport developed into a craze by a change in nomenclature; but that is the habit of Americans.—Pittsburg Despatch.

A Hydrophobia Remedy.

To the Editor of The New York Sun.—Sir,—I give you the formula and treatment for the prevention of hydrophobia on condition that you insert it for thirty days. It is an internal remedy that is within the reach of every doctor and druggist in every civilized country. In one case the injection of the drug cured a terrible case of hydrophobia. I seek no reward except the honor of being the discoverer of a medicine that is a fine blood purifier and an antidote to rabies. Very respectfully yours,

D. D. TOAZ, M. D.

Wound to be cauterized with strong nitric acid and then dressed with 1 drachm of halla lonna ointment and 7½ drachms of resin.

In the case of an adult the following internal remedy is to be taken:—

℞ Kali iodid 3ss
Tinct. Cinchona . . . 2oz
Syrup Simplex 3oz

One teaspoonful after each meal.

For children from one to seven years old half a table is a sufficient dose, and for children from seven to twelve years old, from one to two teaspoonfuls. Putting it in other words, two to five grains for a child under seven, and five grains for one under twelve years. This treatment is to be followed for one week even when the dog is not mad, as the virus of an angry dog produces hydrophobia.

When rabies is manifest, the treatment is to be continued for three weeks. In such a case the fluid can be injected with good effect in doses from fifteen to thirty grains every two hours.

Since the Stead-Armstrong business it has been a common practice for girls and women in England to accuse doctors attending them of impropriety. In most instances the jury have promptly acquitted, but a Dr. Bradley was sent to prison. On Dec. 11th he was entertained at a dinner and presented with an address and 400 guineas by the members of the profession as a mark of their esteem and belief in his innocence. Sir William Jenner, physician to the Queen, was one of the first promoters of the fund, and the address was signed by him and the leading medical men throughout the country.

General Booth is taking a stand on the ecclesiastic side of Christmas. He issues a decree to his Salvation Army, and demands $150,000 for the year 1885. He describes the past year as a protracted struggle with persecution and poverty. He complains, "Liberty in the United States is more worshipped in the abstract than observed in reality," because in eleven states arms are used for suppressing Salvation meetings. Then, whether as a revengeful threat or a supposed pleasantry, he says an expedition is about to visit the Southern States, "to take salvation to the doors of our colored brethern.

The British Parliament, the elections being completed, is found to be divided as follows, according to The London Daily News:—

Liberals	333
Conservatives	249
Independents	2
Parnellites	86
Total	670

Giving a combined Tory, Independent, and Parnellite majority of four. The London Times's classification differs from the News by giving 331 as the number of the Liberals and giving four as Independents. According to The Times's count the Liberals are in a minority of eight against all other parties combined.

Dr. Hunter, the discoverer of Hunter's Hot Springs in Montana, was in St Paul the other day. During his early residence on the frontier he had many encounters with the Indians, and the Pioneer-Press gives the substance of an interview with him on the subject, as follows: "He said he would not mind fighting the Indians if they would only keep quiet. They scare a white man half to death, he said, by uttering the most unearthly yells all the while they are engaged in the attack. Their bullets were generally harmless, as they were not provided with the best of rifles for long range, but their shouts unnerved the white forces so that their shots were not so effective as would be the case under ordinary circumstances. He said you could always tell when the Indians had enough fighting, as they gave their lungs and voices a recess. When the Indians became quiet an experienced frontiersman knew that the attack was over and that the Indians were preparing to retreat."

It is not true that "Sir Thomas Macdonald," as the Prince of Wales called him, is the only Canadian public man known outside of the Dominion. The Auburn, N. Y., Advertiser professes to have knowledge of the whole of Sir Thomas' Cabinet. It announces that the Minister of Finance is Sir Leonard Tilley that J. H. Pope is Minister of Agriculture, Sir John Proctor Langevin, Minister of Public Works, and Sir A. P. Arron, Minister of Military. The following remarkable sentence also appears in the Advertiser's article: "Minister of Ireland, Revenue John Costigan.' This may be taken to be a signal evidence of imperfect knowledge of the facts, bad spelling and bad punctuation, or as a covert drive at the gift of a house to Mr. Costigan by the Civil Service. "J. H. Hope," "Sir John Proctor Langevin," and Thomas White are quite as much entitled to be termed "Revenue" members of the Cabinet as Mr. Costigan, and the friends of the "Minister of Ireland" should protest against his being made the subject of unfair discrimination.—Globe.

The Library Magazine for January contains: "The Dawn of Creation and of Worship," W. E. Gladstone; "Free Cities of the Middle Ages," L. R. Kleeum; "Some Habits of Ants, Bees and Wasps," Sir John Lubbock; The Wolves at Epworth," Rev. J. H. Overton; "The General Election in France, 1885," Jules Simon; "The Anglo-Saxon Alliance," John Redpath Dougall; "With the Hungarian Gypsies," Temple Bar; "Macaulay and Sir Elijah Impey," Macmillan's Magazine; "A Greek View of the Present Crisis," by Frederick W. H. Myers; "The Eastern Question as Viewed in Paris," S. W. G. Benjamin; "The Future of the Fellaft," Lieut. Col. H. H. Kitchener; "Provincialism in Literature," Christian Union; "Culture and Science," Macmillan's Magazine; "Yankee Doodle," George H. Moore; and "Our Latest British Critic," Macmillan's Magazine. Published by John B. Alden, 393 Pearl Street, New York, at $1.50 a year.

The January number of LIPPINCOTT'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE appears in an entirely new dress. A handsome cover has been designed for it by Mr. George Fletcher Babb, whose white parchment-like surface, printed in red and black, presents a very attractive appearance. The typography is entirely remodelled, the double columns have been done away with, and large, clear bold-faced type is used.

One of the most noticable articles is contributed by Gail Hamilton, who criticizes Civil Service Reform with her usual wit, vigor, and pungency. Her prominent position as a political writer will attract general attention to the article. It is announced that an answer from the pen of Hon. Dorman B. Eaton will appear in February. Another feature of this number is a collection of criticisms, by George Eliot, upon Dickens, Carlyle, Kingsley, Browning, and others of her great contemporaries, newly resuscitated from the pages of the Westminster Review. These criticisms have never before been identified with any of her editorial. In this pungent, easily readable, and artistic style of presenting a subject, the whole situation is revealed at a glance. The success of Gaspe shows how well this is appreciated—its Cartoons on the passing political events of the country, being ever more eagerly sought after than the chaste and humorous little Punch of the paper,—though the latter is equal to that of any similar publication on the continent.

For 1886 Gaspe is to be considerably improved. The old cover is to be discarded; the paper is to comprise 12 pages; while a handsome design for the title page, a re-arrangement of the matter, and improved facilities for the artistic production of the Cartoons will materially improve the typographical appearance of the paper.

☞ THE PRICE STILL NOT BE INCREASED.

Gaspe is now the cheapest paper of its class in America; and these improvements must decidedly enhance its value. No one who takes any interest in the political and social study of this country should be without Gaspe. It presents a graphic and entertaining pictorial record of the momentous moves.
