Local News.

Mr. James Hume sold "Halton" last week to go to one of the North-west ranches.

Mr. John Duncan, assessor, has commenced assessing. Now is the time to hide your dog.

Hon. G. C. McKindsey returned home on Thursday last from Ottawa, the Senate having adjourned.

New Store.—Messrs. McKay are digging out the cellar and foundation for a new store on the lot east of the store now occupied by them.

Voters' List.—Mr. W. J. Watson, editor and proprietor of the Sun, has kindly presented us with a copy of the new voters' list for the County of Halton.

The Omagh correspondent "Phœnix's" letter received. The items are too personal. We shall be glad to receive and publish news items, but must decline personalities.

Mr. J. E. Connigan, of Nelson, graduate Ontario College of Pharmacy, left on Tuesday for Brooklyn, where he has obtained a situation in a leading drug house.

Skating Race.—There was a large crowd at the roller rink on Tuesday evening to see the five-mile race for the championship of the county and a silver cup. Harry Bell was the winner.

Mr. Robert Brown, 1st concession, Esquesing, has purchased a fine young stallion coming three years, got by Gladstone, dam Fly, by Argyle, from Mr. M. Kirly, Guelph Township.—Acton Free Press.

Cloth Pedlar.—Mr. James Way, well known around Milton, has embarked in the cloth business and has made a number of sales in Esquesing—we have heard nothing of the quality or value of his goods.

A Miltonian Abroad.—Mr. John Duff, formerly of Milton, has removed from St. Louis, Mo., where he has been living for several years, to Portland, Oregon, where he has secured a good position with the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co. His brother, Mr. Thos. Duff, is still at St. Louis.

Burlington Canal.—An Ottawa despatch says: It is understood that the charge of the Burlington canal will be transferred from the department of railways and canals to that of the public works and delared a waterway instead of a canal. The tolls will then be abolished.

We understand that Mr. Robt. Wood, postmaster of Erin, has been called upon by the Postmaster-General to make good over $300 of the P.O. money stolen by burglars a year ago last June. This, together with the loss of the firm and repairing safe, amounts to a total loss to the firm of R. & J. Wood of over $550.—Erin Advocate.

Accident.—A painful accident happened on Thursday to George Baker, reeve of Waterdown. While in the rake factory he had the three first fingers of his right hand cut off by the jointing machine, the first one at the second joint, and the other two between the first and second joints. The accident will be regretted by all who have the pleasure of this gentleman's acquaintance.

Warning.—Last Saturday and Sunday nights were disgraced in the usual way, drunks were very numerous and the yelling and general disturbance were disgraceful. Mayor Hannant desires us to state that he has given Chief Constable Bradley orders to keep a sharp eye on the drunks in future and to arrest all whom he finds disorderly, no matter who they are. They had better look out.

Dismissed.—Mr. Rufus Reed, of Esquesing, laid a charge of assault against Mr. Lyon, teacher of school section No. 16, Esquesing. The teacher had punished a son of Mr. Warden with what the latter considered uncalled for severity, hence the charge. The case came before Messrs. Ruston and Barber at Georgetown on the 5th inst., and, the Herald says, was dismissed, each party being ordered to pay his own costs.

Accident.—On Tuesday last as Mr. John Small was drawing away the earth dug from the cellar of Messrs. McKay's new building, and was in the act of getting into his wagon, some young rascal throw a snowball which struck one of his horses and the team started suddenly, throwing Mr. Small into the cellar. He did not appear to be very much hurt at first and continued his work for some time, but finally had to go home, where he still remains unable to work and almost unable to move. It is feared that he is injured internally.

The Pirate-Printer.—The Meaford Mirror has just discovered the why and the wherefore of the Thornbury News, published by T. J. Starret. This publisher has just taken 500 copies of the Shibboleth minutes and 200 copies of the voters' list for that township for $50—about half, as far as we remember the price usually paid. The Mirror strikes the key note in the following: "The sooner the publishers of Grey organize, and put a stop to such piratical and cut throat work the better for all concerned." If the Mirror could look over the county minutes of Halton for the last ten years it would soon recognize the hopelessness of the attempt so far as the News is concerned.—Milton Sun.

A Smuggler Caught.—Brampton, March 14th.—An important customs seizure was made here yesterday by Chief Constable John Hust and R. P. Campbell, collector of customs at this port. It appears that a school teacher of Churchville, named A. McPhail, has for a number of years been peddling jewelry among his country friends after school hours and during the holidays, and it is said that his sales have been exceptionally large. Chief Hurst a few weeks ago got wind of his frequent trips to Buffalo and thought them worth while looking into, and after three weeks of patient and quiet work sprung the mine. McPhail was arrested and brought before the customs authorities in Toronto and has had goods amounting to nearly $1,000 confiscated.

The Slugger Slugged.—On Saturday morning last Jim Way, the glib cockney who has been peddling alleged "hall-wool" tweeds among the farmers of Halton for the past few weeks, hired a horse at Brownridge's livery stable for a trip to Palermo, paying in advance. He went to Palermo, and when he returned Mr. Brownridge was absent. Way then told the man who was in charge of the stable that he was to have the horse for a short trip in the evening under the bargain of the morning. He got the rig again and took another trip. When he got back Mr. Brownridge was at the stable and demanded seventy-five cents. Way refused to pay this, got very abusive, took off his coat and undertook to thresh Mr. Brownridge; but the latter, who is much the lighter man, after being aroused by a cracker on his chin, turned out to be a pretty lively light-weight and polished Way off in fine style. Mr. B. then laid an information against Way for assault but the cockney absconded by the train and has not been seen since.

Mr. T. T. Harris, dentist, will be at his Milton office all next week.

Lacrosse.—There will be a meeting of the Olympic Lacrosse Club this evening at Mr. M. E. Mitchell's office, to organize for the season.

Mr. P. MacLean has been a trifle easier for the last couple of days, but we regret to say that little or no hopes are entertained for his recovery.

He is a Brevet Major Now.—The following appeared in the Militia general orders or the 5th inst:

—Brevet.

To be Major:

Captain John Kaitting, V.B., Adjutant 20th Battalion; from 14th May, 1885.

Fire at Acton.—A fire on Tuesday night totally destroyed the large building at Acton, known as the plow factory, owned by W. H. Storey & Son, and occupied by Thomas Ebbage as a pump factory and carpenter's shop. Mr. Ebbage lost all his tools and some machinery which was put in lately. The building was insured for $1,200.

The Lomas Concert.—The concert given at the roller rink on Thursday evening by the Lomas family drew a very large crowd. Mr. Lomas and his children form an excellent orchestra, and their music was greatly admired. They sung a number of songs too, and sung them very well indeed. It is to be hoped that they will pay Milton another visit.

Tate vs. The Globe.—Tate, the Brampton man who abducted Eva Kenney and brought her to a Toronto house of ill-fame, brought an action for libel against the Globe for telling the truth about him. It was tried on Tuesday and resulted in a verdict for the defendant. The best thing Tate can do now is to abduct himself out of Canada. Such men are not wanted in this country.

Last year there were 252 committals to our county jail. This was thought to be a very large number considering the small size of Halton, but it has already been exceeded this year, the number of committals up to yesterday morning being 258. What have the prohibitionists, who said that our jails would become useless institutions and be closed up by the operation of the Scott Act, to say now?

The Lornes.—The Militia report for 1885 contains a report from Lieut-Col. R. B. Denision, Deputy General, on the volunteer regiments of No. 2 District. This is what the D.A.G. says about the 20th Lorne Rifles:

The changes made in this battalion of late enabled the commanding officer to bring his corps into camp in a much more satisfactory condition. The useless officers have been gazetted out, and others who take an interest in their commands have been appointed, and this has caused a great improvement. The commanding officer handled his battalion in a most satisfactory manner when in camp and at all brigade drills.

Sadder and Wiser.—We are informed that during the sleighing last week a young man, whose relatives are well off and keep a large livery stable in the town of Acton, got too warm. He took a horse and fancy cutter and drove all the way from Acton to this city, en route for the United States fort at Niagara, where intended to enlist in Uncle Sam's army and become a bould soger boy. He put up at an hotel here over night on his march to the lake, and, as we learn, was a jolly good fellow, with more money than good sense. When he arrived at Niagara-on-the-Lake he stabled his nag and paid a man to pilot him across the boundary to the frowning fortress, where he at once offered himself as food for powder, and a war-like hunter ready to go after redskins or coyotes on the boundless plains of the west. Although a likely looking Canuck, his chest was too small and his feet too tender; in fact Uncle Sam could get many better men, dozens of whom are now daily offering their services in Buffalo and other cities. So in a courteous manner the army doctor advised him to return to Acton and grow up with the country. With a sad heart and his hopes of glory blighted, he recrossed the sturgeon stream to Canada, only to find that during his absence a thaw had set in which used up the sleighing. He paid the hotel man for the keep of his rig and was compelled to hoof it alongside of the horse all the way through the dismal swamp road to this city, where, after refreshing, he left for home, and is now likely telling the Acton youths his exploits on the march to the frontier. This young man is but one of many who come through this section intent on becoming American soldiers, and they generally return crestfallen. It is well they do, as without any disparagement to the United States military service, those who know can testify that outside of the quiet garrison duty their work on the frontier territories is the most humdrum and mule-like which can be imagined, and in comparison with which that of the British regular, with his varied change of quarters in all parts of the world, and his well defined duties, is a princely tourist.—St. Catharine's Journal.

KILBRIDE.

The revival services held in the Methodist Church here have just been brought to a close, with an additional increase of membership of two. This speaks very favorably for the boys in this place; they are all intelligent young men and are trying to walk circumspectly.

A union service was held in the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath, between the two congregations of this place in behalf of the Bible Society, the Rev. J. G. Manly, presiding.

Farmers are generally beginning to make necessary preparations for the coming spring work.

Mr. E. G. Paige has erected a telephono wire from his residence to his shop which will be a sourse of great convenience, no doubt.

Mr. Horton, the enterprising lessee of the Lowville grist mill, suddenly disappeared from our midst last week, we understand not to return.

Matrimonial alliances are the chief topics of conversation among the young and old of this vicinity. Names withheld for a couple of weeks.

Will you, Mr. Editor, kindly inform the rate payers of the New Survey of the Township of Nelson, and especially those of the seventh Concession, why they are kept off the voters' list.

I think, Mr. Editor, that it would be wise for me to withdraw from the crook of your correspondents' list. Like your Lowville correspondent, I may be persecuted by those who know me not. I will say this much in behalf of persecuted Marcus, that I have been a careful reader of his correspondence, and I dare any one to say that he slandered them personally. The production of his ready wit has rather been invariably in every instance the reverse. It is clear in my mind that there is an unprincipled clique formed by a certain society to utterly annihilate your correspondent, but allow me to say that we have been too long in the field to be thus driven from the conflict. I challenge those who have so much bombast to dispose of to write over their own signatures, and we will do the same.
