THE CANADIAN CHAMPION
MILTON, MARCH 24, 1887

PROTECTION WANTED.

The people of Milton had another warning on Friday night of the great necessity for providing some more efficient protection from fires than the water buckets which are all that are available at present. The town council should delay no longer about setting on a scheme for providing the necessary protection and submitting a by-law to to raise the required funds to be voted on by the people. The water works scheme appears to be as popular as any. Why not take a vote on it?

A TIME FOR ACTION.

When, some time after the Scott Act went into force in this county nearly five years ago, the CHAMPION ventured to assert that the wonderful results prophesied by the advocates of that measure had not come to pass, this journal was reviled as a "whiskey shiet," and "a dirty bird that fouled its own nest." Its statements were denounced as slanders invented to serve the ends of the "liquor party," and it was insisted that, notwithstanding the wicked opposition of anti-prohibitionists, the Scott Act had done what had been promised for it. Halton was held up as a model, dubbed "the banner temperance county," the wildest assertions were made in support of that title, and statistics were garbled and misquoted to induce the people of other less favored and progressive communities to follow the example set here and adopt the Scott Act. Partizan officials, appointed for their partizanship, assisted by vigilance committees and hired informers, sought by hook or by crook to obtain convictions of alleged liquor sellers, and when evidence could not be obtained to warrant these, they were made without it, as they are still. All who dared to condemn the methods of the prohibition party and its tools, however abstemious in their habits, and whatever their character, were accused of opposing the cause of righteousness and christianity and doing the devil's work.

The result of all this is a most lamentable state of affairs. Illwill has been stirred up among the people, and despite the extraordinary efforts made to enforce the prohibitory law, it is not only a signal failure; but it has brought all law into contempt. Drunkenness and perjury are more common than ever before, and there appears to be no prospect of a change for the better until the obnoxious Act is either wiped from the statute book or repealed.

Here in Milton, where particularly determined efforts have been made to enforce the Act, against the hotel keepers, at least, matters are perhaps worse than in any other part of the county. Shebeens, unknown until the advent of prohibition, have sprung into existence, and the effects of the vile intoxicants sold in these dens are seen and heard daily and nightly on the streets. The rough and criminal classes appear to have everything their own way, so that it is hardly safe to even discuss the crimes that are committed from time to time almost with impunity.

The diabolical attempt made last Friday night to burn the business establishments of a number of our leading citizens, is an example of this. Whether the incendiaries were residents of the town or outsiders, and whether their motive was spite or plunder, are questions that are debated, if debated at all, only with the greatest caution, and if there are any who have suspicions as to the identity of the fire bugs, they are careful not to express them openly lest the torch should next be applied to their own premises. In short, Milton is under a reign of terror.

An end must be put to this. Let Scottites and Anti-Scotts combine to put an end to it, leaving the enforcement of the Scott Act to the officers appointed for that work, and the question as to whether the Act is or is not responsible for the demoralization of the town for future settlement. Let no expense be spared, in the first place, to ferret out and punish the perpetrators of Friday night's crime. Next, let the Chief Constable be given assistance, as the CHAMPION recommended long ago, to do the work which appears to be too much for him to attend to single handed. If he is incompetent, and the salary at present attached to his position is not large enough to pay an efficient man to do his work, let it be increased and a first class officer engaged whatever it may cost.

This is no time for cheese paring and wrangling over the salary question. It is a time for prompt action. Let us hear from the town council.

BARLEY AND WHEAT.

At a meeting of the Grain Section of the Board of Trade of the City of Toronto the following resolutions were adopted.

BARLEY.

WHEREAS: Owing to the superior quality of this Barley grown in Canada, our farmers have been enabled to compete successfully with American growers in the markets of the United States, even with a duty of 10 cents per bushel against the Canadian grain;

AND WHEREAS: An attempt during the last two years has been made to introduce new seed, and of a variety that does not find favor with American Malsters and Brewers;

AND WHEREAS: It is essentially necessary in order to maintain our present reputation of growing, in Canada, the best Barley on this continent, that only the most desirable matured seed, properly cleaned, should be sown.

Resolved, that this Grain Section of the Board of Trade of the City of Toronto urge upon the dealers throughout the country, and farmers generally, to discontinue the growth of Mensury, Russian, or Imperial varieties of Barley.

RED WINTER WHEAT.

Resolved, that the attention of dealers and farmers be called to the necessity of more care being exercised in the selection of the Red Winter Wheat seed used, that it be well matured, and not mixed with White Winter Wheat, as the mixture, although producing a sound healthy grain, makes it unfit for grading as Red Winter Wheat, and consequently deteriorates its value.

Condition of the Winter Wheat.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Reports from correspondent in 25 counties of Illinois this week are of a uniformly favorably tenor, in reference to winter wheat. The condition throughout the State is up to the full average for the past five years. In Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin it continues favorable, and in Missouri it is more so than at any time during the preceding seven years. The general situation in Kansas is slightly improved. The crop in the lowlands throughout Michigan exhibits damage, but looks well in the uplands.

Important Scott Act Decision.

QUEEN vs. WALKER.

Canada Temperance Act, 1878, Sections 108, 109, 111, 119—Search warrant, when proper to be used—Certiorari, when taken away—Presumption that liquor kept for sale, when created by the finding of appearance for sale—Municipal by-law under the Act—Search warrant and conviction quashed with costs.

(Canada Law Journal, March 16th).

An information charging defendant with having sold intoxicating liquor was laid before two justices of peace, and immediately afterwards a further information to obtain a search warrant was sworn by the same complainant before the same two justices. Thereupon a warrant to search the premises of defendant was issued, under the hand and seal of one only of the two justices: upon the search being made three bottles were found, each containing intoxicating liquor, and it was sworn that there were also found in defendant's house other bottles, some decanters and glasses, and a bar or counter.

On the day following the search, the complainant laid a new information before the same two justices of the peace, charging defendant with keeping intoxicating liquor for sale. Upon the hearing, the constables who executed the search warrant were the only witnesses examined, and on their evidence the defendant was convicted.

Upon motion to quash search warrant and conviction,

Held, that Sections 108 and 109 of the Act were intended to provide process in rem for the confiscation and destruction of liquor in respect of which a use prohibited by the statute was being made, and not to provide a means of obtaining evidence on which to found a prosecution or support one already begun.

Held, also, that this search warrant in this case was illegal because issued by one justice of the peace only.

Held, that the operation of Section 111 of the Act in taking away the right to certiorari, is confined to the case of convictions made by the special officials named in the Section.

Held, further, that the presumption of keeping liquor for sale created by Section 119 of the Act, arises only where the appliances for the sale of liquor mentioned in the section, together with the liquor, are found in municipalities in which a prohibitory by-law, passed under the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act, is in force.

As it appeared that in this case the search warrant had been issued, and the defendant's premises searched, for the mere purpose of possibly securing evidence upon which to bring a prosecution, the justices of the peace and the informant were ordered to pay the defendant's costs.

The Water Works.

To the Editor of the Champion:

As all our townspeople are aware that two desperate attempts at incendiarism were made on Friday evening last, and that if the fires had not been seen and suppressed we would, no doubt, have had the main part of our stores in ashes, I write this to ask why our town council, after having gone to the expense of obtaining estimates from an engineer as to the supply of water, have not submitted a by-law to raise the necessary funds to proceed with the work. If these fires had not been seen, the loss, in my estimation, to the town would have been greater than the cost of the water supply. I was formerly against the expense, but am now convinced that we cannot have a water supply any too soon.

Yours,
RATEPAYER.

A Reminder to Farmers.

To the Editor of the Champion:

SIR,—I trust I shall not annoy our farming by reminding them of a letter addressed to them last autumn, on the subject of the value that their farms, and the country at large, would obtain if sheltered by rows of evergreens. These, both in pines and cedar, can be found growing in many pastures, and also scattered over borders of woods. Both of these species I have known planted in wind-breaks, now thirty or forty years old, and giving excellent shelter.

I have mentioned the subject again to describe a very easy and effective way in which I have seen these planted in early spring. When the ground was thawed, a morning was chosen when the ground had frozen again about an inch. Circles about nine inches from the stem were then cut round pine saplings of about five feet high, and the roots lifted by thrusting a spade under. The earth and roots clung together in an easily handled mass nearly four inches deep, and the trees were then carried and planted in their desired positions. Out of many hundreds thus planted but few died. It may be remarked that evergreens should never be pruned from the trunk. If desired to check a branch, an inch or two of the new growth taken off will accomplish that.

Of course, if this early opportunity be not used, about the last of May is still an excellent time, but there being no frost to aid, the roots will not hold the earth. At that time all that can be done is to move them quickly, and keep sun and air altogether off the roots. Very little of either will kill them. I trust we shall soon see a good deal of such planting. In a few years a farm so protected will sell for half as much again as another, if our woods go as they are going.

Yours, etc.,
R. W. PHIPPS.

To the Editor of the Champion:

In a recent issue of the Standard, Timothy Tuzzle takes on himself the task of accounting for the defeat of Mr. Henderson and most uncharitably indulges in a tissue of vituperation and censure that is not creditable to the writer. A contributor with less vanity than Tuzzle seems to possess would scarcely have ventured to use the word "I" more than thirty times within the limits of a brief article, especially if his influence began and ended, as Tuzzle's did, with marking his ballot. Tuzzle's identity is not difficult to trace, as he informs his readers with unnecessary circumlocution and inordinate verbosity that he once had the honor of occupying the position of Secretary of the Halton Conservative Association. The association is to be congratulated that Tuzzle's name no longer figures on its list of officers, and that a less ostentatious official now performs the duties at one time performed by the egotistical Tuzzle. Truly the mists of Valley City must have befogged his once versatile intellect! The reader is startled by the astounding prophecy, that had Mr. Henderson been elected he would not have spoken to a dozen electors in the constituency. Apart from political considerations, what a loss this county has sustained in the departure of the pragmatical Tuzzle; such a celebrity at the hub of Halton would have been invaluable!

Whatever may have caused the defeat of Mr. Henderson, the following facts are undeniable: that he was the choice of a convention composed of representative men sent by the different wards in the county; that during his canvass he made hosts of friends who had no reason to complain of his lack of cordiality; that he polled the party vote in all the polling divisions of the county, and that his defeat might be attributed to other and more powerful influences than a want of personal popularity, as Tuzzle may possibly discover before the matter is finally disposed of.

According to Tuzzle, a candidate must first manufacture a voters' list favorable to himself before he can reasonably expect to be elected; but Tuzzle is too fast; the Acton list, I have been informed by electors in a position to know all about the voters in Acton, was properly attended to through the efforts of Mr. Henderson; but of course Tuzzle always deals in facts. The odium of defeat must rest somewhere, and Tuzzle, with envenomed bitterness, singles out the defeated candidate and assails him with a torrent of invective altogether too reproachful to emanate from a respectable journalist. Tuzzle's list of candidates who would have saved the county to the Conservatives looks well on paper; but he has lost sight of a fact that he might profitably ponder. At least two of Tuzzle's strong candidates have already tried twice and if he will take the trouble to examine the results he will find that they were farther from success than the man upon whom he heaps so much abuse.

Mr. Henderson during his canvass pursued a straightforward, manly course; he proved himself a good speaker; but he did not pander to the avaricious appetites of a horde of claquers, who, unfortunately for Canadian politics, stick tenaciously to candidates of both political parties during election contests. He also secured the support of those electors, who, on account of his Scott Act views, were at first opposed to his candidature, and it will require something more than Tuzzle's unsupported assertion to convince the electors that Mr. Henderson acted hypocritically to secure the temperance vote. This malevolent attempt to crush a defeated candidate has the appearance of petty spite, unworthy of the narrow-minded Tuzzle, that will have the effect of estranging the few Conservative friends he left in this county.—JUSTICE.

Godey as Attractive as Ever.

The April number of GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK is even better than the previous issues for 1887, hard as it is for the ladies to imagine such a thing possible. The fashions for Easter letters are superb; no lady can fail to look attractive who adopts them. The literary matter is by the best authors in the country, among which are Harriet Prescott Spofford, Lucy Larcom, M. Beatrice Emily Lennox, John A. Peters, Emil Ludekens, George Birdseye, Jenny June, and others. It is not too late to subscribe for the cheapest lady's magazine in America. W. E. "More trouble May Be Expected."

If you do not heed the warnings of nature and at once pay attention to the maintainance of your health. How often we see a person put off from day to day the purchase of a medicine which if procured at the outstart of a disease would have remedied it almost immediately. Now if Johnson's Tonic Liver Pills had been taken when the first uneasiness made its appearance the illness would have been "nipped in the bud." Johnson's Tonic Bitters and Liver Pills are decidedly the best medicine on the market for general tonic and invigorating properties. Pills 25c. per bottle. Bitters 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold by H. Watson, druggist, Milton.

The discovery of rich gold deposits in British Columbia, close to the imaginary boundary line between that Province and Alaska, may, it is feared, lead to serious trouble if the actual boundary is not defined before any attempt is made to develop these valuable finds. In view of the discovery of gold in the Pacific Province the Dominion Government have decided on sending out a party to make a geological survey of that part of the country in which minerals have been found and to ascertain as nearly as possible to whom they belong—whether to the United States or the Dominion. The party will it is expected, have here for the Yukon district in April. Dr. Bell, assistant chief of the Geological Survey, says that he believes the valuable mining lands between the head waters of the Lewes River and Mount St. Elias will become a source of dispute between the United States and Canada on account of the indefinite boundary line. Referring to the country between the head waters of the Lewes River and Mount St. Elias, which lies directly west of it, which abounds in silver, copper, lead and ore, Dr. Bell says that as the Americans have got ahead of Canada in every territorial dealthe Dominion must look forward to being done out of this valuable territory, which he maintains, properly belongs to Canada. An effort will be made during the coming session of Parliament to secure an appropriation to commence a survey of the British Columbia boundary in the hope that the United States Government will co-operate and definitely fix the boundary line and thus remove all possibility of dispute.

"They have a larger sale in my district," says a well known druggist, "than any other pills on the market, and give the best satisfaction for sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, etc., and when combined with Johnson's Tonic Bitters, Johnson's Tonic Liver Pills will perform what no other medicine has done before for suffering humanity." Pills 25 cents per bottle. Bitters 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold by H. Watson, druggist, Milton.
