THE CANADIAN CHAMPION

MILTON, SEPT. 29, 1888

THE return of Mr. John Waldie as Member for Halton was gazetted only last Saturday. What was the cause of the delay?

THE schedule of convictions for barley-growing, anti-prohibition Peel for the quarter just ended appeared in the Brampton Banner last week and was as small as usual. There were only nine convictions altogether, and there was not one under the head of drunkenness. Peel has not been demoralized by the Scott Act, from the effects of which Halton still suffers, though she is improving.

THE unfermented wine theory which has been so constantly kept before the public for some time past by ignorant prohibitionist cranks has been dealt a heavy blow by the Pan-Anglican conference of bishops from all part of the world recently held at Lambeth Palace, England, one of the most important religious gatherings of the century. The learned bishops also, while upholding Christian temperance and total abstinence, refused to condemn the moderate use of wine. The following resolutions were passed by the conference after discussing reports from committees appointed to procure certain information on the bible wine and temperance questions:

Temperance—Noble and self-denying efforts have been made for many years within and without the church for the suppression of intemperance, and it is our earnest hope that these efforts will be increased manifold. The evil effects of this sin on the life of the church and the nation can scarcely be exaggerated. But we are constrained to utter a caution against a false principle which threatens to creep in and vitiate much useful work. Highly valuable as we believe total abstinence to be as a means to an end, we desire to discountenance the language which condemns the use of wine as wrong in itself, independently of its effects on ourselves or on others, and have expressed our disapproval of a reported practice (which seems to be due to some extent to the tacit assumption of this principle) of substituting some other liquid in the celebration of holy communion.

"Resolution—1. That this conference, without pledging itself to all the statements and opinions embodied in the report of the committee on intemperance, commends the report to the consideration of the church.

"2. That the bishops assembled in this conference declare that the use of unfermented juice of the grape, or any other liquid than true wine diluted or undiluted as the element in the administration of the cup in holy communion is unwarranted by the example of our Lord, and is an unauthorized departure from the custom of the Catholic church."

Retaliation Hangs Fire.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A change seems to have come over the spirit of the dreams of those Congressmen who were in such haste to rush through the Retaliation Bill. Although the measure passed the House more than a week ago it has not been reported from the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, to which it was referred as soon as it was sent over to that branch of the Government. To-day Senator Sherman introduced a resolution directing the Committee on Foreign Relations to inquire into and report at the next session of Congress as to the relations existing between the United States, Great Britain and the Dominion of Canada, together with measures expedient to promote friendly relations and friendly intercourse, the committee to have leave to sit during the recess of Congress. Mr. Sherman asked that the resolution lie over until to-morrow, and he would address the Senate briefly upon it. It is understood that the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations will have this resolution before it on Wednesday, and also the Retaliation Bill. One or the other will be indefinitely laid aside. While it cannot be ascertained with anything like certainty just what the Foreign Relations Committee will do, the fact that Senator Sherman has offered the above quoted resolution and that he is chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations seems to be a pretty good indication that the committee will think twice before making a favorable report upon the Retaliation Bill. The fact that the President's recommendation seem to have fallen flat and that its political effect is already worn out gives ground for the belief that the Senate will have none of it. In the House, Mr. Dingley (Maine) offered a resolution calling on the President for information as to whether the rights of American fishermen have been violated by the Canadian authorities within the past year, and if so whether he has retaliated as he had authority to do under the Act of March 3rd, 1887. Referred.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 23.

DEATH AND BURIAL OF MOSES.—DEUT. XXXIV, 1-12.

NOTES.—"Plains of Moab."—Where the Israelites' camp was. The plains were between the mountains of Moab and the Jordan.——"Mount Nebo."—This was the chief elevation of the Abarim bluffs in the mountains of Moab, of which Pisgah was the outlaying spur.——"And the Lord showed him."—The difficulty of seeing this marvelous vision has been greatly exaggerated. That Eastern atmosphere is capable of a transparency that is marvelous; so there is no need of thinking a miracle necessary.——"Gilead unto Dan," etc.—There is no need of describing their inherited territory here. Let every Bible student who is unacquainted with this region search it out and find in on the map for himself.——"In the valley in the land of Moab over against Beth-peor."—In some ravine on Mt. Nebo opposite a town named from a Moabite idol, Beth-peor—House of Poor.——"No man knoweth of his sepulchre."—Perhaps because God changed the earthly into a glorified body. Elijah and Christ were preceded by Moses; yet all three met in the Mount of Transfiguration.—"Thirty days."—The time of mourning for a person of high rank.

Instruction.—The VISION OF MOSES occupies the first four verses of the lesson. That his sight was quickened cannot be doubted. How? Was it not through a character thoroughly in harmony with the plans of his leader? What God pointed out he could see, because he had trained his eye to look where God directed. So visions of a higher spiritual life, as an ideal far beyond ourselves in its perfection, are granted in increasing clearness and breadth to those who in humility accept a less extended outlook first.

But such visions depend not so much on past experiences as on present faith. It is well that we do some dreaming of a state of perfect holiness. We believe that no such longings are beyond the possibility of ultimate accomplishment.

Such high ideals present a living motive for holy life on earth. They are an excellent means of determining, in the scales of life, how far we are lacking in all that goes to make the perfect man.

God fulfils his promises. That is our sheet anchor in life, our hope in life and death. Let us look toward the fulfillment of all those spiritual promises, but let us remember that we must make good the conditions or lose the reward.

The next four verses treat of the DEATH OF MOSES. It seems rather a token of the Lord's affection than a means of punishment. The Lord kissed him and he died.

"Visited by the hand of God" seems a great affliction. It is when the life has been mispent and away from God. But sweet beyond measure it must be for those whose life has been Godward and manward—a life like Moses's, for others and for God.

And so God buried him. Enough honor one would think. Can we not share the hope also and be buried in the arms of Jesus?

The ninth verse tells of the NEW LEADER. Moses's successor inherited not only his position but his spiritual qualities. It is hard to believe nowadays the peculiar transference of such gifts. A man must win for himself all these, we think; yet who can tell? Some such magnetic current must exist between Christ and ourselves. Otherwise how much viler we would be.

The last three verses are MOSES'S EPITAPH. None was ever more simple or sublime—all this became true. Moses was a complete man—none more so until Christ came. He was a type of Christ. He knew God face to face. He organized a new religious movement. He had power over men. He was an undefeated general. He was a scrupulous and inspired writer. He was a man of humility, of consecration, and of prayer.

The Old Testament has its creme de la creme. It is the life of Moses. Michael Angelo conceived of its mighty power. Let each teacher and scholar get into its symmetry and beauty.

"The path of the just is as a shining light that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

Chas. A. Percy went down the Niagara in a life boat from above the Suspension Bridge to Lewiston on Saturday. His craft was wrecked in the lower rapids and he had a narrow escape. He was picked up more dead than alive by a fisherman.

Wheat is an uncertain, while barley is a safe crop in Manitoba. The barley grown there is undoubtedly the best in the world. But the only market for it is the United States, and the American duty is ten cents per bushel, or about 20 per cent. of the value of the crop.

The writ for Cardwell, just issued, fixes the nominations for the 26th inst., and the polling on October 3rd. It is evident that the Ottawa managers are afraid that further delay would result in renewed squabbling. Mr. White spent Sunday in Ottawa arranging for the campaign.

The Methodists have obtained, it is said, sufficient money to support a denominational college in Manitoba for its first year, and it is expected that the projected Wesley College will soon be an accomplished fact. The change will be welcomed by all who hate red tape and unnecessary bother.

Mr. Douglas, Assistant Engineer of the Public Works Department, has completed his report to the Government in regard to the St. Clair Flats Canal. The Tara Leader tells of the death of a little child in Bruce County the other day under peculiar circumstances. Coming in from the field the father, of the child picked a couple of burrs off his clothes and threw them on the floor. The little one picked up one of them and put it in its mouth and it slipped down into his windpipe. It could not be dislodged, and from the effects of it the child died the next morning.

The Guelph Ministerial Association met the other day and condemned, among other "attractions" provided for the Central Fair at that place, what do our readers suppose? The playing of the bagpipes! Commenting on this remarkable action the Stratford Beacon pertinently remarks: "are these benighted rev. gentry—the thumpers of the drum ecclesiastic—oblivious of the well understood fact that the melodious and thrilling strains of the bagpipes was the first music heard in Eden."

In Nova Scotia during August 2,237 tons of gold quartz was crushed, producing 1,077 ounces of gold, valued at $20 per ounce. Much of the quartz yielded over an ounce to the ton. Lady Macdonald, who is reported as having just reached Victoria, B.C., was accompanied on her trip by Mrs. Allan, wife of the Speaker of the Senate, and Miss Macdonald, of Toronto. Lady Macdonald has achieved the unusual feat of paying visits to each extremity of our widely sundered Dominion this season. It is not much over two weeks since she returned from a visit to the Maritime Provinces. Her travels this summer will in all probability not fall much short of six or seven thousand miles. Miss Macdonald has even exceeded this record, as she accompanied her father on his trip to Newfoundland.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—An official inquiry is to be made into the official career of Deputy Sheriff Sherwood, of the County of Carleton. Mr. Sherwood, who is an ardent Tory, was accused by the petitioners of unfair conduct in regard to his relations with jurors, suitors and county officials. Some specific charges were also cited in the petition.
