Cheap Harvest Excursions.

The Northern Pacific R.R. announces a series of five special Harvest Excursions from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to principal points in Minnesota, Dakota and Montana during August, September and October. Parties contemplating a trip for pleasure, business, or with a view of selecting a new home can avail themselves of rates lower than ever before announced to visit the wonderful country tributary to the Northern Pacific R. R.

Tickets will be on sale at St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland on August 21st, September 11th and 25th, and October 9th and 23rd, limited to thirty days from date of sale, and good for stop-over on going passage. These rates to Montana points are about one cent per mile each way, and in some cases about half of the one way fare for the round trip.

Connecting lines east and south of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth will sell tickets in connection with these excursions at one fare for the round trip.

The dates named will be a very opportune time to visit the wheat fields of Minnesota and North Dakota; also to see the cattle ranges of Montana. Everybody should bear in mind that the Northern Pacific R R. is the short and direct line to principal points in Montana, and the only line running either dinning cars, Pullman sleeping cars, or colonist sleeping cars to Fargo, Grand Forks, Fergus Falls, Wahpeton, Jamestown, Helena, and principal points in Northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana.

For rates and other information apply to CHAS. S. FEE, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, St. Paul, Minn., or nearest Ticket Agent. 10-8t.

A few months ago we were solemnly assured, on behalf of the Government, that Canadian manufacturers of binding twine produce so cheaply that they can sell in the United States, despite the adverse duty, at a lower price than that prevailing on the other side of the line. Recently the people of Port Hope, in the desire to promote manufacturing in their midst, had under consideration the question of bonusing a twine factory. One would have thought that in view of the cheapness of production here and the alleged possibilities in the American market, the Government, through its press, would have encouraged the enterprise. But the expectations were not realized. The business men of Port Hope were officially informed that we have machinery in Canada to produce far more twine than we can use; that if a new factory succeeds it must do so at the expense of existing factories, and that if the undertaking is entered upon the Port Hopers will burn their own or somebody else's fingers. It is impossible to reconcile this later deliverance with that of a few months ago, because if we can sell so favorably in the United States there is no need to restrict production to the capacity of the home market. It is hinted that the official attempt to prevent the granting of a bonus to the Port Hope factory was prompted by a desire to injure the promoters, who were instrumental in breaking up the binding twine combine some months ago.—Mail.

The Regina papers contain lists of lands to be sold for taxes in the municipality of Wolseley. No less than 260 square miles are advertised to be disposed of, the amounts in default averaging sixteen dollars. The sale is no doubt one of the results of the boom. People rushed in and purchased at a high figure land that, in the absence of a legitimate demand for it, was of no immediate value. They have since found that the longer they hold their real estate the poorer they get, owing to the regularity with which the tax levy is made. It is remarkable with what unanimity persons who are troubled with the land fever forget to calculate the actual cost of their bargains. Interest on the investment, and taxes, make the business of holding land for a rise rather expensive.—Mail

The Government Organ on Retaliation.

(London Standard, Sept. 3rd.)

It will be well for the President and Government of the United States to remember that Canada is a dependency of the British Government, and that, if the necessity should unfortunately arise, she has behind her the guns of the English ironclads. If our American cousins fail to understand this allusion; if—in deference to the tone of coarse brutality which seems to be the distinguishing feature of their domestic politics—they invite us to reply to their insults and to their invectives in a strain that they will comprehend perhaps we may be allowed to recall to their recollection the affair of the Trent, in which the "British Lion" by no means came off second best. The indignation that has been aroused in Canada by the extraordinary proposals of President Cleveland to the United States Legislature ought surely to induce that body, before it is too late, to save the American people from one of the severest reproaches that can be addressed to a nation. If we have to deal with a nation of filibusters, let as at least know it. No greater political offence against the lex gentium can well be conceived than to sacrifice fair dealing with neighboring and friendly communities to the momentary exigencies of party conflict. But it is as manifest as the sun at noon-day that President Cleveland, in the tone he has adopted towards Canada, is animated simply by the desire to outmanœuvre his political opponents and to secure for himself and the party of which he is at present the head a renewal of the Presidential term of power. Such a proceeding would be miserable enough, even if it carried with it no worse result than to inflict on the Canadians certain financial losses, and upon England the prospect of a serious rupture, at no distant date, with the United States. American politicians are apparently prepared to risk everything in their fierce and uncompromising party struggles. They must by this time have discovered, even if they did not foresee it from the outset, that the goodwill which has been for years growing up between the people of Canada and the United States has suffered a sudden interruption. And, though we have no violent language to chronicle on the part of the Canadians against the Government that proposes to treat them so outrageously, the speeches recently delivered before immense and enthusiastic audiences by Sir Hector Langevin, the Minister of Public Works, and by Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice, both tend in the plainest manner to the determination of the Canadians not to be forced by what Mr. Cleveland calls "retaliation" into a surrender of their undoubted rights. The speeches of both those gentlemen were conceived in the most friendly spirit, and were expressed in the most becoming language, but the Americans will search them in vain for any indication of feebleness of purpose, or any omen of irresolution. Each Minister devoted himself to the task of showing that legality is entirely on the side of Canada; and no fair-minded man can deny that they were successful in their contention.

* * * * * *

We know something of party struggles, and of their demoralising influence, on this side of the Atlantic; but it is the simple truth to say that they have never been allowed to influence our conduct towards other powers in so monstrous a manner as that which is now being exhibited in the United States. England made, not very long ago, great sacrifices of her amour propre in what she conceived to be her duty towards the United States. But we will tell our American cousins frankly, that we have not advanced so far towards the ideal of Christianity that we are prepared to turn our cheek to the transatlantic smiter. The blow proposed by President Cleveland is struck ostensibly, in the first place, at the Dominion of Canada, but he is well aware, and all his countrymen are aware, that it strikes equally at Great Britain, which is bound by every consideration of honor and self-respect to stand by Canada whenever her rights are unjustly invaded and assailed.

Can Michigan Whip Canada?

The Detroit Journal wishes to ascertain what the people of Canada think of the statement made by Mr. Tarsney, Democratic representative of Michigan to Congress, who in the debate last Saturday upon the Retaliation bill, expressed his abhorrence of war and his preference for peaceful methods in the adjustment of differences, but added:

"If peaceful methods do not avail, then the State of Michigan will take care of Canada and make a couple of Democratic states out of her. The people of Michigan desire peace, but it must be peace on honorable terms. Let England and Canada distinctly understand that, though the United States desires peace, it will not under any circumstance submit to an insult."

The Detroit Journal's request is easily complied with, and we advise our readers to squander a postal card communication to that paper and thereby enlighten our belligerent cousins with their ideas of the size of the job it would be for Michigan to undertake to handle Canada "all alone by itself." It is due The Detroit Journal to add, that that enterprising newspaper is more amused than frightened over Mr. Tarsney's war programme.

Co-operative Life Insurance a Fraud.

New York Independent.

In our issue of June 28th last we published a list of 108 co-operative assessment life insurance companies which had failed since the first day of January, 1883. A large proportion of the 108 associations were New York State associations. Since the publication of that article we have noted in the daily press the failure of several more of the same class of institutions, and have recently received from the Leavenworth & Burr Publishing Co., Detroit, a list of nearly 750 collapsed co-operative concerns that have gone to pieces within the last five years. In this list Pennsylvania furnishes a larger showing than any other one state, but Ohio follows closely after. Our predictions in regard to the length of time which these assessment associations would live is being verified every day.

MAGAZINE NOTES.—The excellence of Harper's Magazine for October is apparent even from a hasty glance through its pages. There short stories and long ones, sketches, "skits," poetry, and unsurpassed illustrations. The articles most striking, perhaps, are Mr. Theodore Child's "Limoges and its Industries," and Z. L. White's description of "Western Journalism." These contain a great store of new information, and even the old facts are so presented that they strike the reader with new force. The portraits of Western editors will be scanned by the public with interest.

Mr. Sol. White as an Annexationist.

WINDSOR, Sept. 18.—Mr. Sol. White, of Windsor, ex-member of the Provincial Parliament from North Essex and one of the most aggressive party workers in the Province, has declared in favor of political union of Canada with the United States, and said to-day he would have no hesitation in going upon a platform as a public man and advocating such a policy. He pronounces against Commercial Union in emphatic terms, and says Canada's only hope of being a great country is in union with the United States. He says:—"The several Provinces could be placed on equal footing with the States in the national legislature, and as part of the United States they would wield greater influence in the world than they could expect to wield as an independent nation for many years. I am not in favor of the country going over body and soul to the United States, and I do not think many political unionists are, but it could be a union where the Canadians would enjoy all the privileges they now have. Canadians would not tolerate for a day the system of electing legislatures for a fixed term, as is done in the United States. Our system of legislation we believe the best in the world, and we will maintain it at all hazards. As soon as our legislators fail to represent the will of the people, out they go, and the people elect another legislature that will represent popular opinion. Political union would draw immigration to Canada, develop the almost inexhaustible mineral timber wealth of the country and tend to open up the vast farming region of the Northwest."—Globe.

More Trouble in Cardwell.

The late convention at Mono Mills was said to have been "unanimous," but since then very portentous mutterings are heard on all sides, and but for the prompt appearance of Mr. White on his canvass an open emeute was inevitable. Many influential and live members of the Liberal Conservative party in that constituency feel the position they are in. A revulsion of feeling has set in, and there is more than ever an earnest longing to be represented by a local man. An important meetings of Reformers will be held about the end of the present week and a proposition will be made for Mr. Bracken's withdrawal, and a coalition formed to place a local Conservative in the field, the Reformers promising a solid support. N. C. Wallace convoyed Mr. White into the riding Tuesday morningr.—World.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 18.—This has been the most terrible day in the fever history of this State, and the record of new cases is 156 for the 24 hours ending at 6 p. m.—many more than have occurred in any one day since the fever commenced. The day was bright and sunny, and the hot sunshine on the soaked earth is very favorable to the development of yellow fever. A large increase of the disease is expected for the remainder of the week. The medical bureau reported about 60 cases. The death-roll to-day was fearful for a city like this, more than half depopulated. The number to-day was twenty. The total cases to date are 1,203; total number of deaths, 153. All the nurses here have been put to work, but no more nurses will be received except those who have had the fever.

The Scotch Block and Milton teams played a five-innings match on the agricultural grounds on Saturday afternoon. Storey's pitching was the feature of the game. He struck out ten men, and in the third, innings after two runs had been made and all three bases were filled, with no one out, he retired the Block men on strikes without letting in another run. Mr. J. W. Elliott umpired the game to the satisfaction of both teams. The score:

Our otherwise quiet little town was thrown into quite an excited state on Saturday last by the base ball club. About one o'clock spectators began to swarm in from all quarters to see the base ball matches, and at 1.30 o'clock play was called by the umpire between the Omagh juniors and the back concession. The game lasted with all its excitement for an hour and a-half, when the score stood at 22 to 1 for the Omaghs.

Soon there appeared a procession preceeding from the direction of Oakville, consisting of four carriage loads, each containing about twenty persons, besides a great many single rigs, coming to the grounds for the purpose of seeing the Omagh and Oakville nines play their last scheduled league game of ball. Immediately on the appearance of the Oakville nine the Omaghs cleared the diamond and allowed the Oakvilles about a-half hour of unmolested practice. Then the umpire called play in the presence of a very large crowd of spectators, among whom were many of the fairer sex. The game was looked forward to with much interest, as the Omaghs played a game with the Stars before, resulting in a score of 12-6 in favor of the Stars, but the Omagh's were very much out of practice and therefore made some most wretched work in the field. The pitching of Moore was very good, but was batted heavily at times, although the Omaghs failed to bunch their hits. Wilson also pitched a superb game, but although well supported behind the bat, was miserably supported in the field. At the end of the nine innings the score stood 31-10 in favor of the Stars, who won the game by better fielding than that of the Omaghs. After the game the ladies of the vicinity prepared a grand repast for the playing nines, as well as for most of the visitors from Oakville. Although the game was lost by Omagh the praise and admiration of all was won by the ladies of the vicinity for their kindness, for which they are most noteworthy on all occasions of this sort.

The Maple Leaf team intends playing the Lowville nine on the grounds of the former on Saturday next.

A SPECTATOR.

The Ottawa Ministerial Association has followed the example of the clergy of Guelph and placed on record its regret that the local exhibition managers should have added to their show attractions which savour of the racecourse and the circus. The necessities of fair managers, it seems, are such that these attractions cannot be profitably omitted now. The circus part is, perhaps, not always conducive to the welfare of the public, but in neither it nor in the horse races is there anything necessarily immoral. The clergy, of course, know their own business best. All the same, St. Paul must have seen or heard of the Grecian games or he would not have been able to introduce them into his letters with such effect.—Mail.
