ARCHBISHOP DECLARES WAR ON CATERPILLAR.

A Montreal despatch says: From time to time various uses have been found for the church The latest is the decision of Archbishop Bruchesi to enlist the members of the Catholic church of the Provonce in a crusade against the tent caterpillar. Owing to the prevalence of wet weather this year there are an unusually large number of these pests in the fruit trees throughout the province. The Archbishop is greatly interested in fruit culture, and when his attention was drawn to the presence of the caterpillars he issued instructions to the clergy to have their parishioners take immediate steps to destroy the nests. Attention to the matter now will mean the saving of the fruit crop.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

A cloth dipped in ammonia will often remove stains from the collar of an overcoat.

Use warm water to sprinkle starched clothes, and the effect will be twice as satisfactory.

Whip cream in a pitcher instead of a bowl to do it in half the time and without spattering.

Diluted oxalic or tartaric acid will remove ink stains from books without injuring the print.

Warts and corns may be removed by touching them with a feather dipped in tincture of iodine.

Squeaking doors may be quieted by brushing the hinges with a feather that has been dipped in oil.

If the hair is very oily and hard to cleanse, add a tablespoonful of alcohol to a large basin of water.

Keep the wax coated boxes in which crackers are packed, for they make excellent polishers for irons.

Steamed fish is better than boiled fish, as the flavor and moisture are retained and not lost in water.

Orange fritters are as delicious an accompaniment to broiled or fried ham as apple sauce to spare ribs.

When one dislikes the taste of bought salad dressing it can often be improved by adding sour cream.

Add just a little powdered sugar to the horseradish after covering the freshly grated root with vinegar.

To remove stains of blood, soak them in cold salt water, then wash in warm soapy water and finish by boiling.

A towel dipped in hot water, wrung out and applied to the back of the neck, will cure the severest of headaches.

A few drops of molasses added to the bacon in frying, is a favorite culinary wrinkle in a Southern family.

Grass stains may be eradicated by saturating the stain with kerosene, then putting the garments in the wash tub.

One of the best cures for indigestion and biliousness is a series of exercises that bring the abdominal muscles into play.

When baking a dry fish it is a good plan to place a thin slice of fat pork over it to impart richness. Baste the fish with drippings.

In making tomato puree, it will not curdle easily if the tomato is poured into the milk. Do it slowly and pour just a little at a time.

All cooking utensils should be washed with soda immediately after they have been used, which will remove every trace of grease.

To put a new wick in any lamp burner quickly, thread a needle first run the thread across the wick, and pass needle through burner.

Borax should always be found on the toilet table. A small quantity added to the water will greatly soften it, Too much will dry the skin.

Do not forget to gather the rose leaves for filling the couch and porch pillows. Save them from bouquets. Their delicate perfume is delightful.

Tomatoes and watercress make a delicious accompaniment to fried fish, and boiled noodles sprinkled with parsley are good with baked fish and tomato sauce.

When sharpening a lead pencil first stick the knife blade through a slip of paper. The paper acts as a guard on the knife and prevents the lead dust from soiling the fingers.

Sew a loop to the inside of your apron band; then it may be hung up by the loop instead of by the band. When hung up by the band an unsightly bulge is the result.

One of the new fish broilers is provided with a drip pan so that the fish may be set under the flame of the gas stove, or in the gas oven above, and cook easily and thoroughly.

While washing the dishes from the evening meals put the cereal on and cook it. All that need be done to it the following morning is to add a little water to it and heat it.

Oil of peppermint will be found more satisfactory to use in making peppermint cream than the essence: four drops of oil of pappermint to the white of an egg is the usual proportion.

An excellent way of removing candle grease from the carpet or any other fabric is to cover the spot with blotting paper, moisten the paper with alcohol, and then press at once with a hot iron.

When laying new floorcloth it is an excellent plan to varnish the surface with hard oak varnish. This adds to the appearance of the floorcloth, helps to preserve the pattern, and makes it last twice as long.

Children's dresses of brown Holland or linen may be kept from fading in this manner: Add a little strong cold tea to the starch whenever the dresses are laundered. They will never become "washed out" and faded.

If the table is not used for other purposes set it when you are drying the dishes. It is then ready for the next meal, and, as most girls with the housekeeping instinct are artistic, this gives a hospitable touch to the room.

After using canned fish of any kind be sure to bend the cover of the can back into place again before throwing it away. Cats have often been badly hurt by forcing their heads into empty cans in search of a morsel of fish.

Fish skins, trimmings and bones which are usually thrown away should be put with a slice of onion and a bay leaf into cold water in a kettle on the back of the stove and allowed to simmer till a stock is formed that may serve as a foundation for soup.

BATTLESHIP SURVIVES BLOW

A despatch from Washington says: While undergoing builders' trials off the coast of Maine, near the entrance to Penobscot Bay, the new Dreadnought Arkansas scraped her bottom, and suffered considerable damage.

A despatch to this effect was received at the navy department from Capt. A.F Fechteller, president of the naval board of inspection and survey, who is aboard the Arkansas.

The Arkansas is now floating free while examinations are being made of her bottom to see whether the trials can be continued. Examaminations already made reveal that eight compartments are involved in the damage, which is on the port side. The outside plating of the bottom has been shoved up about nine inches, and the framing of the double bottom considerably damaged. A few small leaks have been discovered in the seams and butts.

The value of the naval system of subdivision of the hull into a large number of small compartments is believed to have been demonstrated by the accident, for the blow to the Arkansas is thought to be just such a clip as the heel of the iceberg inflicted upon the bottom of the ill-fated Titanic.

At the point where the Titanic was struck, there were no inner compartments, not even the coal bunkers, but only the thin skin of the ship. Naval constructors today said that, had the Arkansas not been sub-divided, she would have gone to the bottom also. The Arkansas was able to go out again to-day to finish her trial trip, with the eight compartments probably full of water, leaving the damage to be repaired later on, unless it is discovered later that the ship's lines have been so distorted as to reduce her speed below the point of acceptance.

The Arkansas has not been turned over to the Government by the New York Shipbuilding Company of Camden, whose employees were in charge of the vessel when she struck. Therefore the Company Company will make good the damage, and the repairs will probably consume about a month.

AMAZON SUICIDES WHEN BARRED FROM WORK.

Mrs. Christiana Hommer, 76, of North Adams, Mass., a woman noted throughout this section for her Amazonian strength, suicided last week because her son would not allow her to do work that would have taxed the strength of young and able-bodied men.

Mrs Hommer was six feet tall, and delighted in the heaviest sort of manual labor. She worked in a woodyard in Germany, and after coming to this country, continued to work in that of her son. He told her some time ago that he did not think this proper.

HE WANTED HIS HAT.

A prisoner was being tried in an English court for murder; evidence against him purely circumstantial; part of it a hat found near the scene of the crime—an ordinary, round, black hat, but sworn to as the prisoner's. Counsel for the defence, of course, made much of the commonness of the hat. "You, gentlemen, no doubt each of you possess such a hat, of the most ordinary make and shape. Beware how you condemn a fellow-creature to a shameful death on such a piece of evidence," and so on. So the man was acquitted. Just as he was leaving the dock, with the most touching humility and simplicity, he said, "If you please, my Lord, may I 'ave my 'at ?"

POINTERS ON PUBLICITY.

Stopping an ad. to save money is like stopping a clock to save time.

The time to advertise is all the time. The man who fishes the longest has the largest basket of fish.

Advertising is an insurance policy against forgetfulness. It compels people to think of you.

The unprofitableness of advertising is not in doing too much of it,—it is in not doing it correctly.

Like eating, advertising should be continuous When to-day's breakfast will answer for tomorrow's, you can advertise on the same principle.

If advertising is not a profitable investment, why do so many successful houses in all lines of trade keep continuously at it? Are they in error, or are you?

Remember, no one lies awake thinking of your business; out of print, out of mind.

Advertising deos three things—informs the public who you are, and what you sell

PORTER GETS THIRTY DAYS IN THE WALKERTON GAOL.

Stanley Porter, who was wanted by the authorities for stealing grass seed from Reginald Crawford, of the 9th concession of Arran, and who skipped to the United States to avoid being arrested, returned to town on Tuesday of last week and gave himself up to P. C. Briggs. Porter was given a hearing at Wiarton before Magistrate B.B. Miller the same day, and sentenced to thirty days in the Walkerton gaol.—Tara Leader.

JERUSALEM WILL SOON HAVE ITS OWN TRAMWAY SERVICE.

Jerusalem will soon have its own tramway service, a concession having been granted to a French firm, which will begin laying the lines during the coming summer. An English firm has been asked to submit tenders for lighting the city with electric light and a German syndicate is to improve the water supply by the erection of large reservoirs at springs located about twelve and eighteen miles from the city.

THE ENERGY OF RADIUM.

Suppose that the energy of a ton of radium could be utilized in thirty years, instead of being evolved at its invariable slow rate of 1760 years for half-disintegration, it would suffice to propel a ship of 15,000 tons, with engines of 15,000 horse power, at the rate of fifteen knots an hour for thirty years—practically the life-time of the ship. To do this actually requires 1,500,000 tons of coal.—Sir William Ramsay, in London address.

"Ninety years old, eh?"

"Yep; pop's close to 90."

"Iss his health good?"

"Taint much now; He's been complainin' for a few months back?"

"What's the matter with him?

"I dunno; sometimes I think farmin' don't agree with him!"—Saturday Evening Post.

MURPHY HOUSE, MARKDALE LOSES ITS LICENSE.

Rather significant, perhaps, was the scene depicted on Markdale main street on Monday, when Mr. Wm. Murphy, proprietor of the Murphy House, was seen with a wheelbarrow busily engaged in conveying several heavy boxes filled with bottles to the cellars of one of the local licensed hotels. For the fact of the matter is—William's license for selling that which befuddles the brain and maketh the nose red expired on June 1st, and he was disposing of his surplus stock to those more fortunate in retaining their license. The bar is closed tight, and now a rather uncanny stillness seems to hover around the place. We understand that the property and chattels will be placed on the market for sale at an early date, and that Mr. Murphy intends taking a trip to California to look after some real estate interests.—Markdale Standard.
