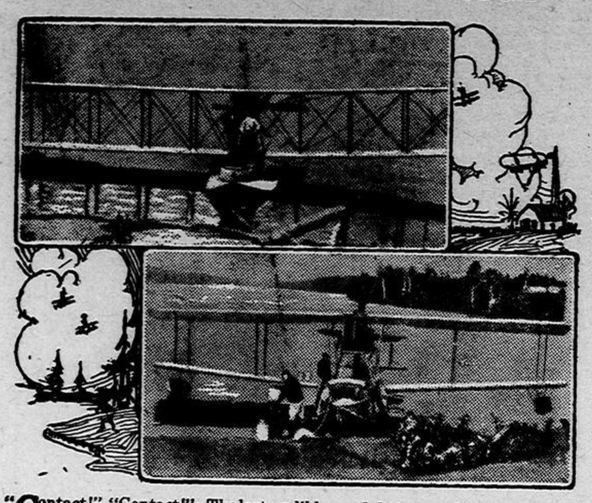
One Flies to the North



"Contact!" "Contact!" The last audible words between pilot and mechanic are spoken, and with stentorian roar of engine and propellor the giant, human and baggage freighted plane, glides swiftly over the surface of the Quinze. One feels the churning waters tumping at the bottom of the boat until momentum has increased to such extent that a touch of the "stick" causes the Vickers Viking to slowly rise.

Two turns in as many minutes and the passenger, having adjusted his goggles and seated himself more comfortably, peers, at first cautiously, over the side of the pit, and far below him lies the little town of Angliers, the head of the Canadian Pacific steel which twists and turns in and out of the forest to the south like a living thing. The earth is as a map below, lakes and rivers shining in the distance and beneath, and ragged patches of bush and arable land smudged here and there like a child's attempt to depict relief.

Turning east the plane heads down Lake Quinze, following the water course to Lake Expanse, — one sees from the air how appropriate is its name, — thence north for some fifteen miles up the Ottawa River and further north over one of its tributaries to Lake Fortune and Rouyn, upon nearing which the plane leaves the glorious rolling clouds and gradually sinks until once more the water tumps the bottom of the hull, checking it with sudden jerks which tend to slow the boat until it stops within a few feet of tie-up. One wonders how the pilot could, at such a speed, have judged his distance so well. But then he does the same thing more than once each day bringing to the new Gold Fields of Quebec, in fifty minutes, passengers and supplies which, before the air service was started took two days at the least to arrive.

Commencing May 18th the Air Service to the Gold Fields will be regular on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, large flying boats capable of carrying five people being scheduled to meet all Canadian Pacific trains at Angliers. This service, which will eliminate the hardships of the past and enable prospectors and tourists to travel to the Rouyn Mining District in less than an hour will include regular stops where they are required and accommodation is available.

(Our own correspondent.)

Once again Easter holidays are a thing of the past, and with the holidays most of our young folks have returned to their work.

Miss McFarlane and Miss Jelly are back again from their respective homes after holidays.

Miss Jessie Livingstone is spending a short holiday at her home here after spending the winter in the city.

Mr. Findlay McPhail spent the week-end with friends here, having motored up from the city on Saturday.

The farmers are able at last to get on the land in real earnest. The ground is probably a little dry, yet the season is rather late and they must keep at it.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland preached in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday to good houses, and evidently a very appreciative congregation, as we hear much favorable comment on his services. We hope soon to have a minister here as we have been rather long getting this charge settled.

Mr. Jack Stothart motored to Guelph on Friday to attend the funeral of one of his relatives there.

Miss Louise Jones continues to improve after her somewhat lengthy illness.

Mrs. M. Hincks is still confined to bed. With the careful attention given her by her granddaughter, Miss Gladys Hincks, and Miss Hazard, we hope to hear of her speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Watson of Durham visited friends here on Sunday.

Mr. D. G. McLean is improving slowly and no doubt we shall see him around again very soon.

Mrs. A. B. McDonald is able to be around again after a few weeks confined to bed. We are glad to know that Mrs. McDonald's condition is so much improved.

Mrs. Archie McLean, Gravel Road West, returned from visiting with friends at the Soo.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Kennedy returned home from Mimico, where they have spent the winter with Mrs. Sharpin, daughter of Mrs. Kennedy.

Glenroadin.

(Our own correspondent.)

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McLean spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Banks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillen Boyd spent a day this week with Mr. and Mrs. John Laughlin.

Mr. Alex. Vaughan sold a nice bunch of cattle to Mr. Albert Livingstone.

Mr. James Ellison had the misfortune to lose one of his prize horses.

After spending the Easter holidays at her home here, Miss Marion Boyd returned to Toronto, where she is attending the Normal school.

Mrs. Hugh Vaughan, Jr., spent a few days with her grandmother, Mrs. McDonald of Riversdale, who is very sick.

Mr. Joe Kenny left for Detroit, where he intends spending the summer.

STREET PAVING

(Blyth Standard)

County Engineer Patterson completed, last week, the survey of the streets which will be taken in under the paving project this year and it is expected that the blue prints will be ready and tenders asked for next week.

It is the intention that tenders designate separately the cost of each of the four sections of street as follows:-

1. Queen Street from McConnell north to the railway tracks and Dinsley from Queen east to the C. N. R. tracks.

2. Dinsley street west from Queen to Wilson Street.

3. Queen Street north of C. P. R. tracks to the village limits.

4. Dinsley Street east from the C. N. R. tracks to the village limits.

In asking for tenders in this way, it will permit ratepayers to ascertain the amount that each section of the road will cost, and further determine the outlay on those sections of the road that were first considered by Council.

The very fact that so many municipalities are this year, launching into street paving is evidence that the present is the opportune time for Blyth to begin. With no provincial highways under construction this year, there is abundance of cement and other material required in road making to be had at a much lower price than in past years and Harriston, Teeswater, Parkhill, Clinton and many other places are taking advantage of the conditions.

A. I. Henry, a former resident of Grey County, near Owen Sound, died at his home at Grand View, Man., on the 9th inst. He was born in this county in 1854 and went West to Griswold, Man., in 1889.

LOCAL C. N. R. STAFF WENT TO THE MOVIES

Attended Movie and Lecture at Palmerston Tuesday Afternoon.

The local staff of the Canadian National Railways, including everyone from town ticket agent to section men, were at Palmerston yesterday afternoon on invitation of the company to view a motion picture show and listen to a lecture delivered by one of the advertising staff of the C.N.R. The entertainment consisted of lantern slide views of the principal cities throughout Canada, and the itinerary took the audience on a trip from Halifax to Prince Rupert and Vancouver over the C.N.R. system. En route many stops were made and slides shown of many points of interest in nearly all the important cities of Canada.

It was the motion pictures, however, that were the more interesting of the two. These reels showed views of moose hunts in New Brunswick, fishing scenes in Algonquin Park and in the Nipegon district, with a movie of activities as they would be viewed by the tourist in passing through Jasper Park, Alberta.

The lecturer, whose name we do not know, gave a most interesting address, and as he was with the party that filmed the pictures, he was able to give his hearers first-hand information. The pictures are propaganda pure and simple for the Canadian National Railways, and have been exhibited extensively in the United States in that railroad's campaign for the tourist trade. The staff from here who attended were well pleased with the entertainment afforded and with the informative and intelligent address given by the lecturer.

LOCAL MACHINIST INSTALS LATEST TYPE MOWER GRINDER

Mr. F. W. Moon, proprietor of the Durham Machine Shop is nothing, if not progressive, and last week had installed in his premises a modern, up-to-date lawn mower grinder. This machine should prove a popular bit of machinery and should be a matter of considerable income to Mr. Moon and a saving to the residents of the town and vicinity. Almost anyone knows what a nuisance it is to try to sharpen a lawn mower the old way, with emery powder or paste. At the best, it was only a makeshift, and the new edge lasted for only a short time.

This new machine of Mr. Moon's will make old lawn mowers practically as good as new, and as the knives and cutting bar are about the only part of the machine that goes wrong, it will be very little trouble or expense to have any old, wornout mower put in good shape, that might otherwise be thrown away.

Mr. Moon has, as well, made considerable improvement in his plant here and is now better prepared than ever to cater to the wants of the public in his line. He is a good machinist, and we have no doubt that before long he will enjoy a much larger trade. Besides being a repair machinist, Mr. Moon also sells farm implements and dairy and other machinery. He is a firm believer in printer's ink and carries a steady advertisement in The Chronicle to tell of his wares.

AYTON CARRIED BY-LAW FOR ELECTRIC LIGHT SERVICE

The voting in the village of Ayton on Tuesday on the proposal to have the village lighted with electricity, resulted in a vote of 51 to 28 in favor of the proposal.

Some time ago the village authorities interviewed the hydro commission on the possibility of getting the system placed there, but the figures submitted by the commission did not suit the villagers. Later, the present proposal of having a local lighting system was brought forward and the vote on Tuesday resulted in the ratepayers deciding to try electric lighting.

There is one thing certain, almost any electric system is better than none at all, and while it is likely that the one now adopted will be nothing more than a night service, it will be a big improvement on the coal oil lamps now in use. With no particularly large call for electric energy in the daytime, the village will get along quite nicely with a night service which, providing that the citizens turn off all lights that are not being used, should give good service.

HAND-MADE CLOCK MAY STILL KEEP GOOD TIME

Interesting Antique With Wooden Wheels and Fine Hand-carving At Town's Jewelry Store.

We had the pleasure of looking at an antique clock on Tuesday morning in Mr. D. C. Town's jewelry store that is a decided novelty in this age. The clock in question is a wooden one, all the wheels, with the exception of one, having been cut out by hand, even the dial being hand-made and nicely decorated by the maker.

On being questioned, Mr. Town said that the clock was the property of Mrs. (Dr.) Jamieson, who picked it up in an antique shop in Toronto. It is one of the best pieces of hand-work we heve ever had the privilege of viewing, and the man who made it was a real artist with the knife and chisel.
