Exchange Echoes.

Premature explosions of mines have caused the extermination of more than one individual and that Chester McDonald is walking around with the full use of his faculties is due more to to good luck than anything else. He conceived the idea of using a bottle for a cannon and a roll of paper for a fuse with a view to giving his working mate a scare. He put some powder in and touched a match to the fuse when the said mate was approaching a few yards off. He had his head turned watching to see the other jump about seventeen feet when there was a terrific report and he got a swat on the cheek which caused him to see enough stars to construct a milky way. That occurred about a week ago, and the only thing that mars Chester's enjoyment of life at present is that one cheek resembles the cheek of a colored gentleman, and will mate the other only when unwashed.—Dundalk Herald.

Mr George Binnie of Bunessan, called here on Saturday and was accompanied home by his son Thomas, who had charge of the Creamery since early spring. He has resigned this position to continue his course at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph and left Tuesday afternoon to be there for the opening. Mr Binnie did good work at the creamery and turned out an article that commanded the highest price paid in Canada throughout the entire season. His place is taken for the balance of the season by a Mr Cain who comes highly recommended as a buttermaker.—Advance.

We often wonder, says a Manitoba paper, why it is that men have not sense enough to know when they have accumulated enough property and money. Here are men by the hundreds all over the country at 50 and 60 years of age, worth from $25,000 to $50,000, owners of the best farms in the world, working and slaving year in and year out to make more money and buy more land when the very best they can make of the job is ten years or so of fret and worry, then a funeral and the probating of a will and a scattering of their earnings.

A despatch appeared in the dailies of Tuesday from Minto, N. D., detailing the confession of one Charles Hersig to the killing of a young woman in Ohio some years ago, and for which Charles Sterling of Maxwell was hanged. Sterling was hanged on circumstantial evidence alone and weak evidence at that, simply from the fact that he had been seen in the vicinity where the crime was committed. This confession will bring a certain degree of solace to Sterling's two sisters, who still reside at Maxwell and are highly respected.—Flesherton Advance.

Game Laws.

Some Changes made in the close Season.

The close season, according to the copy of the Act issued by the Ontario Game Commission for 1905 is as follows:

Deer. Nov. 15th to Nov. 1st.

For Moose. Reindeer or caribou, south of the main line C. P. R., is same season as deer, north of C. P. R. the season runs from Oct. 16 to Nov. 15, both days inclusive.

No Elk or Wapiti can be hunted at any time in Ontario.

Grouse, pheasants, prairie fowl or partridge, woodcook, black or grey squirrels, open season, Sept. 15 to Dec. 15.

Quail or wild turkeys Nov. 1st to Dec. 1st.

Swan or geese, Sept. 15 to May 1st.

Duck of all kinds, Sept. 1st to Dec. 15.

Snipe, rail, plover, Sept. 15 to Dec. 15.

Hares from Oct. 1st to Dec. 31.

Beaver and otter are prohibited until 1910.

Muskrat can not be hunted from May 1st to Jan'y 1st and can not be shot in May.

The chief change in the law relates to the season for shooting hares, which has just been moved later and opens now on the first of October instead of Sept. 15th. The hare season also closes later, on the 31st of December.

Home Athletics !

Home exercise is said to be quite as good as that obtained by sporting pursuits.

For arms, fingers and wrists, steady washing and wiping dishes will be found admirable. One is as good as the other.

Bed-making as it is still taught in the physical culture economies of the home, cannot be too highly commended.

With the folding of every counterpane, blanket and sheet, the arms are stretched as far as they will go, each hand holding one end. Then, standing perfectly erect, the chest is thrown out. Quickly the hands are brought together again, and, presto! the sheet is folded double.

Shoulders, body and limbs are developed by mattress turning. The eye and the sense of symmetry learn much from the regular arrangement of counterpane and pillows.

Sweeping gives much the same motion as golfing strokes. For the graceful perfection of arms and shoulders so much desired by every ambitious girl nothing could be better, if done in moderation.

Floor scrubbing, like lawn tennis, is rather violent, and must not be tried unless one's heart is all right. At first it will be almost as severe on the knees as rowing in a shell, but as one gets used to the occupation it will give a subtle satisfaction of its own. Running upstairs on errands for the rest of the family is first-class exercise, and running downstairs is almost as good. Interesting diversion will be found in egg-beating and ice cream freezing.

Dusting ought to have a chapter by itself. First you are down on all fours then you are on tiptoe, seeing how far the the duster will reach. You twist yourself into all sorts of positions to get at the corners of the carved furniture. First you are on one knee, then on the other. Every muscle, every tendon, is brought into service before you have finished.

Even this magnificent exercise can be overdone, but you will make no mistake if you only dust every room after you have swept it, although many housekeepers dust oftener.

Lightning and Barns.

"Why are so many barns struck by lightning these days?" was the query put to Mr L. Blake astronomical officer at the Toronto Observatory.

The impression that there are may be due to greater publicity given to the occurrences. You may have noticed that more barns than houses are burned by lightning. I think that is because the barns generally contain hay and grain, which are moist to a certain extent, and moisture attracts lightning because it is a good conductor. On the other hand, houses are dry. Lightning rods are a good protection if they are numerous enough and have good ground connections."

"Is it of any value to have trees near a barn?"

"Well lightning usually strikes a tree because it contains sap, which is moisture. The denuding of the forests, I think, may increase the danger from lightning, as it makes the air drier.

Lightning is simply an accumulation of electricity in the air seeking the other pole, and in doing so it comes down through the air to the earth through any convenient medium. The reason the country has worse thunder-storms than the city, is that in the city every iron point and pinnacle reaching up is insensibly drawing the electricty out of the air, and thus reducing the danger of an explosion."
