Drainage Demonstrations for South Grey.

Mr O. C. White, of the Ontario Agricultural College, will hold drainage meetings as follows:

Geo Stokes, Dandalk John A. Scott	about June 14th
N. Fowler—about June 16th.
J W Christie, Hopeville Jas Black, Hopeville G Ostrander, Hopeville J Dingwall, Hopeville	about June 24th
Wm H Arnett, Wareham John A Arnett, " S J Arnett, "	about June 26th
Geo Burk, Maxwell—about June 30th
Wm G Shannon, Nandeleur T S Sproule, Markdale	about July 5th
W H Sewell, Blantyre—about July 7th
F J Eaton, Oxmead Stuart Hovey, Clarksburg	about July 12th
A McGowan, Ravenna—about July 14th

The present wet season has shewn the value of underdrainage more forcibly than anything else in recent years. Drained land has been dry enough that in spite of the wet weather seeding might be done, while on undrained land in the same localities seeding was much delayed. Many who see its value are deterred from underdraining by uncertainty as to whether they have sufficient fall, the best system to adopt, the size of tile to use, how deep they will have to go for an outlet, how to determine the grades and depths for their drains, etc. The Department of Physics at the Ontario Agricultural College is endeavoring to help farmers solve these difficulties by describing simple methods and simple instruments, and also demonstrating these methods and instruments in actual use. Mr White, of the Department of Physics, O. A. C., is about to spend three or four weeks in Grey County making drainage surveys, beginning about June 10th, and during the time he will hold meetings on the farms mentioned above and demonstrate methods of drainage surveying, determining fall of the land, working out the grade of the ditch, digging the ditch true to grade, etc. Drainage matters in general will be discussed. All who are interested in drainage are cordially invited to attend.
