Artist honours shooting victims

Evoked Emotions Gallery owner and artist Robert J. Hurst has completed a painting for Virginia Tech as a tribute to those who lost their lives in a shooting massacre on April 16, 2007.

It has just been accepted by the Virginia Tech university dean, said Hurst, and they will be mounting the art in the main lobby.

Hurst describes how the 30"x40" canvas, Fallen, came about:

- The background is done in a gun metal grey to remind us of how we came to this loss.
- I worked in a full moon which has always represented a time which can yield both insanity, yet still hold beauty.
- The branches are those of Virginia's state tree, the dogwood
- The 32 leaves represent the 32 victims who lost their lives in the tragedy.

- The color of the leaves are burnt orange and deep maroon—the school's colors
- Each leaf represents a life that has passed, so I have added one set of initials to each leaf representing the individual's life

Hurst also donated 50 per cent of May sales on his artworks on www.evoked-emotions.com to the Hokie Spirit Memorial Fund, which assists those with grief counselling.

"This sort of tragedy could have happened anywhere and I felt it was important to assist where I can," he said.

Evoked Emotions Gallery is located on Guelph St. in Norval.
