Hospital for Sick Children

67 COLLEGE ST., TORONTO 2
(Country Branch, Thistletown)

December, 1932.

Dear Mr. Editor:

The prolonged period of hard times has created a most difficult problem for Ontario's world-famous Hospital for Sick Children, which only the benevolent public can solve. Here it is in a nutshell:

The Hospital has nursed in its cots this year 7,694 small sufferers, an increase of 687 over the total of the previous year. In addition 84,202 treatments were given in the great Out-Patient Department, an increase of 16,092. On one day 520 treatments were recorded. In the previous year there was a similar growth in the demand for the merciful ministrations of the Hospital. While all this has been going on the amounts of the donations from the kind-hearted have decreased by many thousands of dollars, creating the situation of far more to be done and far less to do it with.

The statutory grants obtained by the Hospital fall much short of being sufficient to pay for the actual cost of maintenance of the little patients and each additional patient means an added deficit. The task of bridging the gap between the cost of operation and operating income has usually been accomplished by contributions from the benevolent. While the Hospital has retained the majority of its friends who kindly donate to its work yearly, and is continually adding new ones, donations diminished to a somewhat alarming extent in the response to last year's appeal for funds and there has been little improvement in that respect throughout the year. It is unthinkable that any child needing the humane service provided by the Hospital should be refused. The Trustees are anxious and can only hope that the kind-hearted people of the province will see them through the difficulty by a most generous response to the present appeal.

Public benevolence has built the Hospital for Sick Children to the proud eminence of being the finest institution of its kind in the world. Its country branch at Thistletown is a recognized model and persons interested in child welfare come from all parts of the globe to inspect it. Any child in the Province of Ontario, deformed or diseased, is eligible for admittance to this wonderful institution, where the very finest treatment known to medical and surgical science is at once available. There is no class or creed distinction. The very best that any Hospital can give is placed within easy reach of the poorest child.

Now, more urgently than ever before, is the Hospital in need of contributions and no amount would be considered too small. Please ask the benevolent in your community to help. Tell them that the story of the Hospital, covering 57 years, is not that of merely adding cot to cot and ward to ward It is the story of a battle constantly waged against disease and deformity, with all the advancing resources of the medical and surgical sciences. It is a story of demands which have ever exceeded the financial resources, but which have always been met by generous response to appeals for aid. But for this generosity the Hospital would many times have been bankrupt. Ask your readers, please, to prevent it from becoming so now.

Faithfully yours,
DOUGLAS S. ROBERTSON,
Trustee.

Good hunting is reported from the Bates Camp, near Matagama, Ontario, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, seventy miles east of Sudbury. A number from this community attended the funeral at Knox United Church.

The annual Sunday School concert of Knox Church, Normanby, was held on Dec. 14th, with a good crowd present. As usual, it was a splendid program and much enjoyed by the audience. About eighteen of the young folks of the congregation put on two humorous dialogues, which were well done by all. Recitations were given by four of the Sunday School pupils, Irene Petty, Bruce Halliday, Ann Wilton, Harriet Wilton. Several good choruses were sung by the entire S. School. Rev Mr Honeyman, the chairman, gave an appropriate address to his audience. Lunch was served at the close and a social hour spent among the people.

This entertainment closes the S. S. for the winter months, to begin again about the 1st Sunday in May. KNOX CORNERS

Sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mrs Jas McNally (nee Agnes Marshall) who is at present in Markdale hospital. We wish for a speedy recovery.

A good many more out to the service on Sunday than a week ago. Our pastor took for his text 'There is joy among the angels in heaven over one sinner that repenteth." He spoke from the story of the lost coin or piece of silver. The Master was a friend of sinners. The Pharisees were self righteous and would not acknowledge the need of a Saviour. Not he who commendeth himself will be exalted, but whom the Lord commendeth. A good talk for the young people as usual in the form of a story as a warning to avoid the very appearance of evil, lest in time it overcome us.

Mr and Mrs Allan Wise and family, Bentinck, visited on Sunday with the Thompson family. Mr Thompson took a weak spell on Saturday but is somewhat improved again.

It is with regret that we write of the death of another neighbor, Mr. Thos. McAlister, who passed away at his home here on Sunday evening. The deceased has been in failing health for some months and the end was not unexpected, yet after all it came as a shock to the family. Mr McAlister was of bright disposition, devoted to his family, who will sorely miss him in the home. It is even more sad coming so near the Christmas season when the family were accustomed to be together. We offer our sincere sympathy to Mrs McAlister and family and all who mourn his passing.

Mrs David Marshall is recovering from an attack of grip. Mrs Wallace, Sr. is not in her usual health at present.

The children and grown ups are looking forward to the Xmas Tree and program in the school Thursday afternoon.

We wish the Review, its staff and readers a most joyous Christmas and a happy New Year.

YEOVIL

We wish for the Editor and staff, all the compliments of the season, and years of ever increasing usefulness.

Before another week passes we will be celebrating the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem. May the spirit of Peace on earth, good will to men prevail over the whole wide world. Christmas is a time of love and family gatherings and of giving and receiving gifts. Santa Claus may be all right in his place. Our task as Christians is to ask ourselves, "Is his place in the Christian church, secularizing one of our holiest festivals, deposing from His central place. God who "so loved the world that He gave." As we stand on the threshold of Christmas this year, let us resolve to regain for ourselves, and create for our children the truly Christmas spirit.

The Dundalk Herald man was told by an eye witness of the Oxford Group meetings in Toronto, which are at present making such an impression upon Ontario, that the only difference between their meetings and those of Charles Wesley, was that the former carried a white shirt front.

Passing the Buck

Two Jews were travelling in an auto when, without warnngg they were held up by a bandit ,who stepped out on the road about 50 feet in front of them with a gun in each hand. One of the Jews sensed the stuation instantly. He hurriedly pulled out a roll of bills from his pocket and turned to his friend, "Here Ikey is de fifty dollars vot I owe you!"

After four years in the high civic chair at Walkerton, Geo. S. Schwindt retires from civic life for the present in his home town. As a mark of good will and appreciation towards him, the retiring council as their first December meeting, presented him with a fountain pen. He will thus write finis to his civic career with the pen that is mightier than the sword.

Working his way to Fame

Frank Fedy, aged 22. son of Mr and Mrs Alex Fedy, Mildmay,, will be a world figure if scientific authorities confirm his claim to an invention which makes possible the transmission of electricity without the use of wires. The practical working out of Mr Fedy's theory is attracting widespread attention. In Toronto certain engineers placed their stamp of approval on his invention. What he claims to have actually put in practice would result in the revolution of modern power and industrial systems, the scrapping of millions of dollars of equipment and a new era for districts too isolated for ordinary distribution. Mr Fedy is maintaining the strictest secrecy. Only two friends know of his secret and they are not aware of the means of turning it to practical use. He will not have any difficulty in getting the capital necessary to develop his experiments.—Walkerton Telescope.
