The Long and Short of Thistles.

My father was a great hater of Canada thistles. He used to pull them out of the grain and burn them up. Every patch in the pastures had to be cut down close and not one was allowed to go to seed if he could help it. Sometimes he would plant corn two years in succession on the same field, so as to root out the thistles. He used to threaten to summer fallow the fields where the thistles were the thickest, but generally could not spare the lot to do it. After all his fighting and painstaking, my father did not rid the old farm of thistles. His son, when he "went for himself," did not have half a dozen (that was the number of boys) to help him, and being in debt he thought he could not afford to contend against such persistent enemies, so he let the sheep and cattle do the mowing in the pasture fields, and very few went to seed as they were very fond of the thistle blossoms, they being full of honey.

Thistley lots were avoided for corn, because there was too much hoeing to be done to keep them down, and the boy had found out that the more you cultivate Canada thistles the more roots you make, and the more roots, however small, the more sprouts and thistles. Thistles in oats and barley are a nuisance, so spring crops were put into the thistley field as seldom as possible. Well, what was done? The thistley fields were made as rich as possible and thickly seeded down with clover and timothy. At the first mowing there would be big lusty thistle stalks, large enough for walking canes, but always afterwards the remnants would be sickly and in two or three years none would be left. Manure and meadow is the remedy for Canada thistles; the more manure and the more meadow the better. If you can make a Canada thistle grow big and hollow, and cut it in hot weather, its own juice will cause fermentation and rot. This will kill it. Grass will choke them out, and cultivation will increase them. This is the long and short of thistles.—N. Y. Tribune.

Cows and what to feed them.

The coming cow for home and family use will be the Gurnsey. The improved Jerseys (I mean the large milkers) will continue to be favourites, and in some instances will equal the Gurnseys. The writer has one, imported, which has given 24½ quarts per day, on grass, and now at the age of 13 years, fresh on the first of December, gives 15 to 16 quarts.

In this neighborhood there has been a question whether feeding of cornstalks, or dried corn-fodder, does not make bitter butter. To get the experienced and reliable persons, I wrote to the Echo Farm, Litchfield, Conn., and to Mr. Crozier of Long Island, N. Y. Mr. Reed wrote he had not used any corn fodder for three years; that to cure it will cost more than its value. Mr. Crozier wrote, saying he had used it for twenty years; had supplied, for nine years a large critical consumer in New York city, and his butter had never been found fault with. He said cabbages fed to cows immediately after milking left no cabbage taste in the milk, and increased the flow of milk; that some kind of turnips would flavor the milk and butter, and the root of turnip should be cut off, as that is very bitter.

Beets are easily raised and make a good winter feed for milch cows. Placed in an earth pit, they keep until spring. Wheat bran seems to produce more milk for its cost than almost any other grain. Except for milch cows, it has not much more value than sawdust. Oil meal, or cottan seed meal, when either can be obtained in a pure state at $1 75 to $2 per 100 lbs., and fed in not too large quantities, gives quantity and quality to the milk. Carrots are very valuable, and they are more easily raised than is generally supposed. They require early weeding and thinning out.—J. W. J. Orange, N. J. in Country Gentleman.

The Household.

THIN MOLASSES GINGERBREAD.—Material needed: one cup butter scant, one cup of brown sugar, one cup molasses, one cup of sour milk, eight round cups or two heaped quarts sifted flour, one round teaspoonful salt, one round tablespoonful soda and two round teaspoonfuls yellow ginger. Mix soda and salt with flour, cream the butter, beat the sugar with it and stir in the spice mix the molasses and sour milk well together, drop butter and sugar to the middle of the flour; pour molasses and milk upon it, and mix quickly to a soft dough, add milk if needed; spread in sheet pans, or drop and spread with a teaspoon in small cake-rings set into pans; sprinkle fine brown sugar on them; bake crisp.

BOSTON TAFFY.—In a shallow vessel melt together one pound of brown sugar and one quarter pound of butter. Stir together for fifteen minutes, or until the mixture becomes brittle when dropped into cold water. Lemon or vanilla flavoring should be added before the cooking is complete. Butter a flat plate, and pour the taffy on it to cool. When partly cold mark in squares with a knife; it can then be easily broken.

CHILDREN'S APPLE BREAD.—To one quart of meal put one pint of ripe chopped apples one egg, a small piece of butter, a little salt and fresh water enough to form a stiff dough. The apples, should, of course be peeled and minced very fine. Some persons like a little sugar on the dough, but it is generally preferred without. This is a favorite with children.

HOME-MADE YEAST POWDER.—One quart of fresh buttermilk made up with cornmeal to a stiff batter, with a teacupful of yeast. Let it rise: then add enough flour to make a stiff dough; let it rise a second time; put it on dishes or boards to dry in the shade; rub it up, and keep it in a bag. To one quart of flour put one tablespoonful of yeast powder,

COCA-NUT PUDDING.—Three cups of grated coca-nut, one quart of sweet milk, two eggs and one cup of white powdered sugar. Bake in a quick oven.

FIRE IN BRUSSELS.—On Thursday morning at 4.45 o'clock a fire broke out in the store occupied by Good & Co., totally demolishing Fishleigh's block. The new steam fireengine saved the best business part of the town. The following are the losses as near as can be ascertained: Good & Co.—Loss, $10,000; insured in the Western for $1000; Scottish Imperial, $2,000; Gore, $1,500; Citizens, $1,500. Fishleigh—Loss, $3,500; insured for $2,000 in the Western. Tait—Loss, $700: insured for $325 in the Canada Fire and Marine. Buchan—Loss, $200; covered by insurance in the Northern. Wright & McCurdy—Loss, $200; no insurance. Masonic Hall—Loss, $500; no insurance. J. R. Smith—Loss covered by insurance.

NOSE BLEEDING.—It is worth while to know how to stop bleeding from the nose when it becomes excessive. If the finger is pressed firmly upon the little artery that supplies the blood to the side of the face affected, the result is accomplished. Two small arteries branching up from the main arteries on each side of the neck, and passing over the outside of the jawbone, supply the face with blood. If the nose bleeds from the right nostril, for example, pass the finger along the edge of the right jaw till beating of the artery is felt. Press hard upon it and the bleeding will cease. Continue the pressure five minutes, until the ruptured vessels in the nose have time to contract.

TARIFF CONDEMNED IN ENGLAND.—Despatches from England state that the Canadian tariff is being universally condemned there, and meetings are being held all over the country to protest against it. Resolutions are passed drawing the attention of the Colonial Secretary to the several points of the tariff injurious to the British trade.

EXPLOSION IN A COAL MINE.—By an explosion of fire-damp in Agrippe coal pit, near Mons, Belgium, on the 17th inst., the woodwork of the shaft caught fire and fell in. Two hundred and forty men are in the mine, and it is feared many have perished. There is scarcely any hope of rescuing any of the 240 miners in the Agrippe coal pit.

TO CLEAN RUSTY STOVEPIPES.—Rusty stove pipe may be made to look as good as new by simply rubbing it over with a piece of cloth moistened with sweet oil. By coating the entire pipe, joints which are unlike in appearance will be made uniform and display a nice lustre.

A tornado on Wednesday night caused great destruction of life and property in Walterbord, S. C. Three-fourths of the inhabitants are left homeless. Fifteen persons were killed and many more wounded.

A staff of engineers have commenced the survey of the Becton and Orangeville section of the Quebec, Ottawa & Lake Huron Railway and expect to reach Orangeville in a fortnight, weather permitting.

That Bar of Iron.

THE Subscriber begs to inform the people of Dundalk, and vicinity, that he is still carrying on the Trade of Blacksmithing, and is prepared to put A BAR OF IRON into any shape that Fancy or Necessity may demand

From early morn till dewy eve,
John Norval's door is ajar,
And if you want a Needle made,
He'll form it from a Bar.

For favors past, to Patrons he
Holds thankfulness at Par;
And hopes they ever will believe
He'll suit them from a Bar

When Seas were rough and days were dar
John Norval, like a Tar,
tood many a blast and held his post
And made things from a Bar.

And when the times were out of joint,
And cash as scarce as spay,
He never failed to strike a Nail,
And form things from a Bar.

But times anon began to mend
His Iron came in a Car;
Yet still without advance in price
John Norval struck the Bar.

And when Dundalk began to strive
So like the Morning Star,
He hammered with redoubled force,
Came down upon the Bar.

And now within that lively Town,
He has Declared a War;
And set the hammer, vice and file,
To fight against the Bar.

To suit all Grades and Ranks of men,
No matter who they are,
That want a job made strong with Iron,
He'll bind it with a Bar.

A Bar of Iron in Norval's hands,
Will shine to please the Czar
So if you want an anchor made,
He'll form it from a Bar.

JOHN NORVAL,
Blacksmith, DUNDALK.

CATARRH

CONSTITUTIONAL Catarrh Remedy CURES CATARRH

Thousands Attest its Wonderful Cures.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq.,
Brockville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—It is now two years since your "Constitutional Catarrh Remedy" was introduced to me. I have waited this long to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be "too good to be true."

I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward "drop" from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long, I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your Agent came to Walkerton in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, being quite cured of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head

A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper.

Yours truly,
W. TINDALL, Methodist Minister.
