Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, April 28.

Mr. Wallace brought up the resolutions relating to a national currency (the rag baby.) He referred to the ridicule with which his efforts had been met. All money, in his opinion, was fiat, and the epithet had no special application to paper money. Gold was only made money by the fiat of the Government. Paper could be the same. He claimed that the national currency based on the labor and public works of the Dominion had a sounder basis than the promises to pay now in circulation, only 25 per cent of which could actually be redeemed by the banks of the Dominion. If the public works could be considered as assets in borrowing money in the markets of the world, then they should be considered as assets with which to redeem a national currency. Proceeding, he claimed it was to the issue of paper money more than protection that the prosperity of the United States was due, and he continued his remarks for some length, advocating the details of his scheme.

Mr. Charlton (North Norfolk), criticised at length the arguments advocated by the mover of the resolution, and referred in detail to the history of paper money in the various countries which had made the experiment. He contended that the experiment in each instance had been a signal failure, and more especially in that country (the United States) in which the experiment had within the present generation been made on a large scale. There the people had discovered the fallacy of the proceeding, and had passed an adverse verdict on their previous action by a resumption of specie payment. The major portion of his speech was occupied in defining the nature of money, and the facilities which gold offered as a medium of exchange. He claimed that instead of Government making money, as Mr. Wallace claimed, it only placed an impress upon the money in circulation, and regulating it. In concluding his remarks he moved that the resolution be read that day six months.

Mr. Boultbee addressed the House briefly, apparently in favor of the spirit of the resolutions. His remarks were abruptly brought to a close by the Speaker declaring it six o'clock.

After recess,

A number of public Bills were read the third time or advanced a stage..

On the question of the second reading of Mr. Methot's Bill to fix the rate of interest in Canada and prohibiting usury, the Minister of Finance requesting that the Bill be withdrawn, but Mr. Methot refused.

Mr. Plumb moved the six months' hoist, which was carried by a vote of 97 Yeas, 68 Nays.

The Minister of Public Works brought down the report of the Engineer-in-Chief on the Canada Pacific Railway, and the House adjourned at 11 p. m.

Ottawa, May 1.

The Minister of Finance announced that the Government had determined not to press the life insurance scheme this session. The resolution was withdrawn.

On motion of the Minister of Public Works, sittings were authorized to be held every Saturday afternoon during the remainder of the session.

Mr. Dawson enquired as to when the papers relative to the decision of the arbitration on the Western boundaries of Ontario would be brought down.

The Premier stated that the papers had been mislaid and could not be found.

Mr. Cameron (Huron) in this connection asked if the Government intended this session to introduce a Bill confirming the award, and the Premier replied that the Government could not do so without first reading the papers.

The House resolved itself into Committee of Supply. On the resolution voting $261,210 for ocean and river services, a discussion occurred relative to the steamer Northern Light, which gave Sir Albert Smith the opportunity of announcing that Mr. Doull had probably exonerated him from any blame in connection with the purchase.

Votes of $467,433 for lighthouses and coast services and $59,700 for fisheries were granted: also resolutions voting $46,000 for scientific institutions, $69,000 for Marine Hospitals for sick and distressed seamen; $13,990 steamboat inspection; $6,000 inspection of insurance companies; $50,000 for geological survey, were passed after some discussion. On the resolution appropriating $464,823 for Indians, the Premier stated that it was intended to send farmers to settle among the Indians in the North-west, in order to teach the latter to be agriculturists. The resolutions voting $595,900 North-west Mounted Police, miscellaneous $103, and Customs 707,069 were also passed.

Ottawa, May 2.

Mr. Bergin introduced a Bill regulating the employment of women and children in factories.

Mr. Hooper introduced a Bill to enable the Court of Chancery in Ontario to annul marriages in certain cases. The Bill was defeated on its first reading.

The Bill for the relief of Mrs. Campbell was, contrary to general expectation, read a second time without a division.

In Committee of Supply, on the resolution voting $72,300 for weights and measures and gas, a debate took place relative to the administration by the late Government on this subject. The Minister of Public Works charged his predecessors with mal-administration.

Mr. Mackenzie defied any one to prove the charge made against the Administration by the Minister of Public Works.

Mr. Huntingdon criticized the conduct of the Minister of Works in condemning the late Government for enforcing a measure which he (Mr. Tupper) had enacted; and, proceeding, he warmly condemed him for referring to charges he could not prove, and threatening a committee of enquiry which he dare not appoint.

The Minister of Public Works announced that the Welland Canal would be open on Monday, and for the first time water for full navigation would be taken from Lake Erie.

The Committee rose, having passed the whole of the estimates.

Mr. Mackenzie again asked why the communication respecting the tariff sent to England by the Governor-General had not been brought down.

The Minister of Public Works replied that enquiry was being made as to what was published in England.

Ottawa, May 3.

Mr Fortin moved a resolution proposing, for the use of the western fisheries, the Halifax award. He supported his resolution in a two hours speech in which he claimed that the distribution proposed was much more equitable than to apply the fund specially to the benefit of the Maritime Provinces, which Provinces had no exclusive right to it.

Mr Macdonald (P. E. I.) claimed the right of the Island to spend its own share of the award, as, unlike the other Provinces, it was a party to the treaty.

Mr. Macdonald (Inverness) spoke earnestly from the Maritime Province point of view, and in this he was supported by Mr. Anglin, who suggested that the Maritime Provinces should combine to first procure the award for themselves, and afterwards to distribute it.

Mr. Hackett advocated the Island's claims. The debate was adjourned.

The War of Tariffs.

(London World.)

The war of tariffs, foreshadowed in these columns through many long months, has opened, and we see one of our most important colonies taking the lead in it. Canada, under the guidance of the Minister who, five years ago, was ignominiously hunted from office because proved guilty of flagrant corruption in the employment of the public funds for the promotion of partisan purposes, has reverted to the most old-world and reactionary protectionism. Our colonial fellow subjects have short memories. When Sir John A. Macdonald was hurled from the pinnacle of his power it was loudly proclaimed throughout the length and breadth of the vast Dominion that he had fallen never to rise again. Last autumn, however, the Canadians, being in trouble and sore distress from shrinking trade, declining revenue, stinted enterprise, and universal stagnation—as is precisely our case in England—turned away from the sober, prosaic, but practical Mackenzie Ministry, and "hanked back" upon Sir John, who was vociferous in declaring that he had a panacea for all the ills to which the body politic and social was heir. Listening to his witching strains, Canada was beguiled, and, unable to resist temptation, threw herself into the tempter's arms. True, she was assured, both by Sir John and his Finance Minister, Mr. Tilley, that protection was far from their thoughts. Not the raising, but merely the readjustment, of the tariff, telegraphed Sir John as the watchword to his present Minister of Finance, hard pressed in a fierce electoral struggle in New Brunswick, and Mr. Tilley was thereupon elected by a majority of seven votes. But the readjustment proves a very big increase; so big as to load the necessaries and luxuries of life—except whiskey, beer, and tobacco—with duties that will grind the faces of the poor but make richer a few who are already wealthy.

Consecration of the Bishop of Toronto.

The consecration of the Right Rev. Arthur Sweatman, M. A., as Bishop of Toronto, was performed on Thursday, the 1st, at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, with the ceremonies customary on such occasions. The edifice was about half filled at 9:30 for morning prayer, the order to the Lessons being read by Rev. Canon Stennett. The lessons were read by Rev. Canons Morgan and Brent. The Psalms and Te Deum were sung by the choir, clergy and congregation, and prayers were said by the Rev. Canon Osler to the end of the Third Collect. The clergy afterwards adjourned to the School House, where the following procession was formed, which proceeded to the Cathedral: The verger; the clergy in surplices and hoods; the Venerable the Archdeacons of York and Peterborough; the Very Rev. the Dean; the Bishop elect, attended by his chaplains; Chancellor of the Diocese, and Richard Snelling, L. L. D., Registrar of the Diocese, the Bishop, lay delegates of the Synod. The chaplains of the Bishop were Dr. Scadding Rev. Canon Stennet. When the church was entered it was found to be crowded, hundreds being unable to find seats. The clergy and lay delegates having seated themselves as prescribed in the appointed programme, the Rev. Mr. Rainsford gave out the 402nd hymn which was sung by the choir and congregation. The consecration services were then commenced, Bishop Williams, of Quebec, officiating in the absence of the Bishop of Ontario. The Bishop of Huron then delivered an appropriate sermon on the text, Rev. iii. 22. The other Bishops present were Bishops Bond, of Montreal; Fuller, of Niagara; Fauquer, of Algoma; and Hellmuth, of Huron. At the conclusion of the sermon, the Bishop-elect, vested with his rochet, was presented to the Bishop of Quebec, the consecrator, the presenting Bishops saying: "Right Rev. Father in God, we present unto you this godly and well-learned man to be ordained and consecrated Bishop." The consecrator then demanded the authority for the consecration which was produced and read by the Chancellor. After music by the choir and prayer the litany was repeated, followed by appropriate prayers. The choir sang another anthem, after which the Bishop-elect, having assumed the robe of the Episcopal habit, knelt down. The "Veni Creator Spiritus" was said over, the solemn service being concluded by the laying on of the hands of the Right Rev. the consecrator, and of the other bishops, and the delivery to the consecrated bishop of the holy bible with an exhortation. The Holy Communion was then administered. After prayer the president bishop pronounced the Absolution, following with the benediction, and the audience dispersed.

In the evening the newly consecrated Bishop was accorded a brilliant reception at Trinity College. There was a large company comprising many of the clergy and laity and a number of ladies, many of whom were presented to Bishop Sweatman.

The uneasy condition of Russian society increases. Arrests are being nightly made, and the Nihilists, to show their power, continue to post bills on the walls and circulate pamphlets despite the efforts to prevent them. Soldiers are constantly on the alert, and every precaution is taken to prevent a rebellion or sudden surprise.

The population of Guelph is 10,072. An increase during the year of 154.

Change of Time.—It will be seen by an advertisement in another column, that on and after Monday, 5th May, there will be a change in the time of trains running on the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway.

The Belleville Ontario says it cannot speak for the whole Dominion, but it can for Belleville and vicinity, and it knows that not one manufacturer, and certainly not one consumer, is satisfied with the tariff.
