The Suez Canal.

The distance saved by the Suez canal in the journey to India is nearly half that by the Cape of Good Hope. That is to say, while from the English Channel to Point de Galle in Ceylon by the latter route was 11,650, by the Suez canal it is 6,516, the only addition to the passenger fares being 8s 4d a head, and the same amount per ton for freight. The traffic through the Canal since the opening, in 1869, on which occasion 130 vessels passed through free of toll, has vastly increased. In 1870 up to July 31, 402 ships had made use of it, of which only 12 were sailing vessels, and by the end of the first year 496 ships has traversed its course, with a gross tonnage of 486,000 tons. In 1879 the number of vessels was 1,477, with 3,236,000 tons; in 1880 the number was 2,026 vessels, and 4,344,000 tons; and in 1881 the number was 2,727 vessels, and 5,794,000 tons, 79 per cent, of which flew the British flag. The result was that the net profits amounted to about 14 or 15 per cent. The official report says that last year's figures showed an increase on those of 1880 of 34 per cent. in the number of vessels and the tonnage, and of 28½ per cent. in the amount of the receipts. Seven new permanent services for the canal were inaugurated last year—the British India, the German, the Thames and Mersey, a French one to Mauritius and Reunion, a Dutch one to Java, an English one for the same destination, and a Chinese line, the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company. Besides this the permanent lines, such as the Peninsular and Oriental, have added 46 new steamers to those already existing. The vessels bound direct for Australia numbered 98, as against 51 in the year 1880. This steady increase has been maintained in spite of the fact that freights to India and the East has been so low as hardly to yield the barest profit to the shippers. The Canal, in fact, tended to become the sole international highway between the East and the West as well as between Europe and Australasia. England's stake in the Canal, besides its importance to her as a route to India and Australasia, is no small one., when it is remembered that on November 25, 1875, Mr. Disraeli, on the part of the Government, acquired by purchase shares to the amount of £4,000,000.

There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. b225.

Another director of the Glasgow Bank has been sentenced to imprisonment for connection with its failure.

Never Be Without It.

Tourists and all who are subjected to a change of climate, water, diet &c., should never be without Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, the infallible remedy for all Summer complaints.—b225.

A rebellion has broken out against the Imaum of Muscat, and a British man-of-war has gone to Muscat to protect British subjects.

The well known drug firm of N. C. Polson & Co., of Kingston, writes that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has long been considered the best remedy for summer complaints in the market, and adds that their customers speak in the highest terms of its merits. Wild Strawberry is the best known remedy for Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and all Bowel Complaints.—b225.

Eight hundred English immigrants, under the charge of Lord Frederick Douglas, have arrived at Montreal They intend settling in Manitoba and Ontario.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. y207

POETRY

IN MEMORIUM.

LINES ON THE DEATH OF MILLIE MCCLOCKLIN.

Dear Millie has gone, and bedimmed is the gladness
That beamed with the light of her spirits sweet bloom,
All silent her voice; she has left us in sadness
And friends, bathed in sorrow, cast flowers on her tomb;
But not without hope, e'en tho' Death now retaineth
Her "temple of clay" neath its storm-beaten sod,
Enshrined in our hearts, her dear mem'ry remaineth
While she has returned to her Savior and God.

Dear Millie has gone, in her life's early morning,
In the spring of her youth and June's summer hush:
And the joy of her life, tho' so brief, is adorning
Its exquisite beauty in Death's pallid flush;
But the Pale Horse's Rider of Death ne'er appalled her,
(The "loved of the Savior" are free from all fear)
She knew 'twas the Master whose loving voice called Her
Away from the dangers surrounding her here.

Dear Millie has gone; but her mem'ry still lingers
Encircling her name with a halo of light,
Her loving example, like bright angel-fingers,
Shall point to those regions whose day knows no night;
Oh! mourn not for Millie, tho' much you must miss her—
Her bright winning smile and her greetings of love;
Your loss is her gain, for the glad angels kiss her,
And crown her a Princess in mansions above!

Dear Millie has gone, and the tempests wild story
May echo full long o'er the place of her rest,
Yet we know, full well, that the angels in glory
Behold her embosomed on Jesus' dear breast;
Oh! may this sweet knowledge assuage the deep sorrow
We feel for the loved one who's "gone on before,"
And who, in the kingdom, awaits the bright morrow
To dawn when we meet on Eternity's shore!
