POETRY

For the Review:

THE WAR CLOUD.

Again the war cloud lowers above!
Again the British fleet are on the wave,
And England's noble sons to battle move—
Some to victory, others to the grave.

O'er Egypt's sandy plain we hear
The peal of canon and the clash of arms;
The smoke of battle doth again appear
Where late the peasants tilled their farms.

Where peace and order have been cast aside,
England steps in to quell the strife,
With men who've roamed the ocean wide,
And for their country freely risked their life.

While other nations idly stand aloof,
Afraid to raise their voice or hand,
Britain puts the matter to the proof
And boldly goes to meet the rebel band.

"The war's commenced," flies o'er the wire,
And anxious millions waiting stand,
Nor'ew at night do they retire,
But wait the news from distant land.

The news comes in of victory gained—
Of boasted forts in ruins laid—
Of ancient prestige well sustained—
The part of soldiers nobly played.

But next we hear of compacts planned,
To rob the victors of their right—
To drive the British from a land,
For which they waged a desperate fight.

Canada, fair daughter of a worthy sire,
Be true unto thy well earned fame.
If Fatherland should aid require,
Make for thyself a nobler name.

Come forth with all thy stalwart youth,
And train them ready for the fray,
So when to battle they go forth,
They'll dauntless fight and win the day.

When peace comes down o'er all the land,
And martial sounds no more we hear,
All parts of Britain, hand in hand,
Will hold each other still more dear.

And joined in life and joined in death,
In one great compact we shall be
First Empire of the solid earth,
And mistress of the foaming sea.

Latest despatches indicate that Mr. O'Brien, Tory, has been elected in Muskoka. Mr. Valin, Tory, returned in Montmorenci, has been protested for corruption. In North Wellington, Mr. McMullen, has been declared elected on a recount, and news of Mr. Plumb's failure to secure the seat will be received with a sensation of relief not only by the Reform members but also by the great majority of members on the Ministerial side of the House. Having failed to secure the verdict of the people in Nova Scotia the Local Tory Government are making desperate efforts to buy off Liberal members, and, bearing in mind the eminent record which the Minister of railways has earned for himself in ways that are dark, have called that honorable gentleman to their assistance. It is not probable, however, that even the High Priest of Corruption will succeed in the attempt to defeat the expressed wish of the people of the Province.—Globe.

The decision of the Privy Council sustaining the Scott Act has caused a good deal of stir in New Brunswick, where in several municipalities appears to be some informality in the manner of voting on the Act, and liquor dealers declare that it is not legally in force and that they will continue to sell. They have combined, and have employed counsel, declaring that they will fight the question out to the last. In Fredericton, whence the appeal decided by the Privy Council was taken, the temperance people have been thoroughly aroused by the delays caused by the litigation, and declare that now the matter is settled they will have every place where liquor is sold closed within a month. Chatham liquor dealers have been notified to stop selling, and it is said the majority of them have done so, though some continue to sell clandestinely. A movement is on foot to secure the repeal of the Act in York County, but public opinion seems to favour giving the Act, now that its constitutionality cannot be doubted, a fair trial.

The editor of the Canada Presbyterian Record was passing through Rimouski on the nomination day for the general election. Father Chiniquy was with him in his native country, where in former years he had been well known as parish priest. There was a huge crowd, and several persons recognizing him, one after another came upon the door of the railway car and shook his hand so warmly as to leave no room to doubt their sincere friendship. By-and-bye the news spread among the crowd, and all faces turned in this direction as the old "Père" began to address a few words to them. He had not proceeded far, however, when some turbulent spirits, under the influence of liquor, discharged a volley of anathemas. From this they proceeded to make use of stones, thrown at the old man's head, but which fortunately missed their mark. It is very pleasing to notice that the number of these rowdies was very small, and that they received no countenance from the body of the people, but rather, were restrained by them from their rude attacks upon the venerable father who had given them no cause of offence. The Rev. Messrs. Coussirat, Cruchet, Amaron Doudiet, and Allard, all commissioners to the General Assembly, freely mingled with the crowd and conversed with them.

Enjoy Health.

The Rejuvenating Bitters' world known name,
No others have obtained such fame;
From North to South from East to West
The people say they are the best.
Let sufferers from dyspepsia fly
And Churchill's Blood Bitters try;
They will sell in every city, town,
No others have such wide renown.
Let all who would enjoy good health;
It is more than houses, acres, wealth,
Remember how they can obtain
Relief from all their woes and pain.
